Another American Girl.
The Stratosphere Plane.
Strange Sign of Love.
Other Days, Other Greece.

AMELIA EARHART lands in Wales, after twenty-one hours' flight across the Atlantic.

Her courageous exploit is doubly welcome. It shows what American girls can do, and will make it unnecessary for other American girls to risk their lives, the thing having now been done.

IN Germany engineers of highest rank are engaged on a "stratosphere airplane" to climb ten miles. In that rarified air of slight resistance it is hoped to attain a speed of 400 miles an hour.

FROM Berlin to New York in five hours is the German plan. And many that read this will see it realized.

THE German Experimental Institute of Aviation, with the German government behind it and every important scientist in Germany co-operating, indorses the stratosphere plane, in which passengers will travel hermetically sealed, breathing artificially made atmosphere above the zone of natural oxygen.

AN endurance exhibition of dancing in New York, almost as bad as the cruel foot race across the continent, interests the public so mildly that the exhibition probably will not be repeated.

Dancers drop from fatigue, and one young man, who will marry his dancing partner when it is over, says "If I am able to carry her around the room night and day for a week without wanting to kick her in the face, it must be love."

There are many grades of romance. The Fijian savage used to knock out his wife's upper front teeth on the wedding day.

IN sympathy with Macedonian and Thracian tobacco growers, labor in Greece calls a general strike. Sailors have joined and taken possession of Greek warships.

This would interest Alexander, of Macedonia, and Themistocles, daughter of a Thracian woman, who persuaded the Greeks to build one important fighting fleet.

"MOSCOW is responsible," of course.

When ten men strike on the West Side of Chicago, "Moscow is responsible."

Workers in old Greek days were slaves. And in Sparta, those slaves, "helots," going to their work at sunrise, were often surprised and murdered by young Spartans as part of the latter's training for war.

NEW YORK says Chicago sent gangsters that "put over" a daring open-air murder on Sunday afternoon. E. J. Jerge, alias Edward Carter, stopped his car when the red light flashed at a busy New York corner.

Bandits that had trailed him jumped from their car, shot three bullets into his head, neck and lung, and then "made their getaway," after opening the car door and firing a few more bullets to make sure.

THE REV. THOMAS WHELPLEY, who tried driving a New York taxicab between Sunday sermons to test the city's morality, calls New York "Gotham, the Godless." He says the only commandment New York knows is "don't get caught." Even that is an improvement. In Sodom, Gomorrah and Ancient Rome, they didn't care whether they got caught or not.

Not wanting to be caught is the dawn of conscience, just as a jellyfish shrinking from the touch represents the dawn of consciousness.

OLD kings fought about territory, or some trifling "point of honor." Modern kings, of high finance, fight more usefully.

The Rockefeller Institute fights disease.

The two great electric companies, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric, are fighting lightning and its dangers, showing how to protect lives and property.

The big companies may some day harness the lightning, making it work on its way from the clouds to the earth, as the waters of Niagara work on their way from the lakes to the ocean.

STILLMAN-BACKED BERLIN FLIER READY

ternational News Service

NEW YORK, June 19.—Threatening rain, fog and low-hanging clouds today kept Thea Rasche, the "Flying Fraulein," and her Bellanca plane North Star safely grounded at Curtiss Field instead of winging its way to Old Orchard, Me., and then on to Berlin.

Accompanied by Mrs. James A. Stillman, her backer, the woman flier went to Curtiss Field before noon today and waited in vain for weather condtiions to improve. The flight then was postponed until tomorrow, when the North Star will take off.

Thea had planned to take off from Old Orchard tomorrow. The plane was put through its final test yesterday and met with the satisfaction of the fair pilot.

Thea's announcement of her intention to hop off for Old Orchard today came as suddenly and unexpectedly as did the announcement of the abandonment of her plans for the ocean flight last week when it was announced she was having difficulty in financing the flight.

MRS. STILLMAN HELPS

Mrs. Stillman, wife of the banker, sympathetic with Thea's disappointment over the cancellation of her flight, came to the woman flier's aid and purchased from A. R. Martine, the aviatrix's flight manager, his Bellanca monoplane, greatly sought by her. Mrs. Stillman, who has long been keenly interested in aviation, has undertaken to finance the venture. Out of deference to the banker's wife's interest in astrology and astronomy, the name, "The North Star," has been emblazoned on the fuselage.

Mrs. Stillman, with Martine as a passenger, will take off from Curtiss Field in a Fairchilds cabin plane a few minutes after Thea and will accompany the German flier to Old Orchard.

Necessary additional navigation instruments have been installed in the ship. The tanks have been loaded with fuel to their capacity.

Thea's flying ability is a matter of record in aviation circles. She served her flying noviate under some of the foremost German aviators, and to date has never figured in an aerial accident. She has been flying six years.

REED'S SON-IN-LAW NOW GOVERNMENT ATTORNEY

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—(AP.)—Charles S. Denby, Jr., nephew of Edwin Denby, former Secretary of the Navy, was yesterday appointed an assistant United States District Attorney, following his resignation from the staff of District Attorney John Monaghan. Denby is 27, and the youngest member on the staff of United States District Attorney Coles. He is a son-in-law of United States Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh.

WILL ARRAIGN TWO ON BOGUS CHECK CHARGE

Suspected of having passed bogus checks in about a dozen Western cities, Frank Miller, 19, of Chicago, and Charles S. Arnold, 28, of Los Angeles, will be arraigned in Central Police Court today. They were arrested last night in a downtown hotel on information received from Chicago police. The checks, detectives said, had been written on blanks of a Chicago hotel supply concern. They were charged with being suspicious persons.

Hail Girl Flier

International News Service.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, June 19.—Miss Amelia Earhart, of Boston, the first woman to span the Atlantic by airplane, and her two companions—Pilot Wilmer Stultz and Mechanic Louis Gordon—reached the goal of their daring transocean flight here this afternoon in the monoplane Friendship. The plane dropped upon the surface of the harbor shortly before 1:30 p. m., English summer time.

Stultz expressed the sentiments of the other fliers when he exclaimed: "I certainly am glad it's over. Now for a good rest."

The Friendship had hopped off at Burry Inlet, on the South Wales coast, at 11:07, convoyed by an Imperial Airways plane.

CIRCLE OVER TOWN

The Friendship arrived here at 1:17 p. m., but did not descend immediately. It began circling over the harbor while Pilot Stultz picked out a suitable spot to come down. The Friendship alighted upon the water at 1:23 o'clock and was immediately moored.

As soon as the Friendship was sighted through the channel haze, the ships in the harbor set up a din with whistles and sirens. The tumult grew as the plane circled inward and prepared to descend. Bells upon shipboard and in the city were rung in welcome. Crowds along the water front cheered continuously.

The flight from Burry Inlet was made doubly difficult by the fact that the weather was rainy and foggy and Pilot Stultz was navigating over strange country with no familiar landmarks to guide him.

As soon as the Friendship touched the surface a number of small craft put out from the shore.

The Friendship alighted about one mile from the shore. A launch that had been waiting for the plane at once took it in tow and pulled it to the Imperial Airways dock, where it was moored.

When the plane was made fast, Miss Earhart and her companions left the machine to receive a tumultuous welcome. There was a distinguished assembly upon the dock including American Consul Savage, who extended greetings in the name of the United States.

2,000 CHEER

Miss Earhart and her companions posed for the photographers. Later they were escorted between lanes of nearly 2,000 cheering men, women and children. The Lady Mayor had

Indict Church Killer

Eight murder indictments, including three against women, one of them indicted on two charges, were handed down by the grand jury today.

Heading the list is the case of Attorney F. J. Tyrrell, superintendent of the Munhall Christian Church Sunday school, who killed Philip Clark in the church on Sunday morning several weeks ago.

Mrs. Catherine Ward, recently committed to an asylum by court, because of insanity, was indicted on two charges of murder for the killing of her two small children in her East End apartment.

Mary Grant and Helen Valenszyo also were indicted for murder.

Ranson Williams, Marshall Augustine and Mike Vinosky, also were indicted for murder.

Fear Girl Kidnaped

Elsie Jane Corfee, 14, of 111 Furley street, has been kidnaped, according to her mother, Mrs. Viola Dietrich, who reported the girl's disappearance to the Missing Persons Bureau today. Police are looking for Elsie in Wellsburg, W. Va., where it is not difficult for young couples to get a marriage license.

Elsie is through school and last week found work in a West End baking concern, she told her mother. She was to go to work yesterday and left the house. Since then she has not been heard from by her mother.

Police went to the plant to get trace of the girl. Mary Gueichal, of 313 Run street, Carnegie, informed them Elsie told her on Friday that she met a man who took her for an auto ride through Millvale and then drove out into the country to a little cottage which was to be her home after marriage.

Fiend Given Limit

With a score of women, whom he had attacked or robbed, present in the courtroom, some weeping, and male spectators muttering threats, Stanley Martin, 17-year-old Negro "Terror" of old Elliott borough, was sentenced to serve from 17½ to 35 years in the Western Penitentiary by Judge Joseph M. Swearingen in Criminal Court today.

Martin, who had confessed to attacking women in all parts of the city, pleaded no defense to two attack charges, four attempted attacks, seven charges of robbery and one of felonious assault and battery.

"I am sorry I have to be so lenient," said Judge Swearingen in pronouncing sentence. "That is all I can give you under the two indictments. You are not deserving of leniency by any court."

Four women testified against the young Negro, two to having been attacked on North Side streets, a third to an attempted attack in Hazelwood and the fourth to being molested and robbed in West End. Other women victims, as well as women jurors in the courtroom at the time, shed tears as the witnesses related their experiences.

City Detective Peter Connors told the court that Martin had confessed to more attacks than the police had record of and that the loot obtained from robberies of women was greater than that identified by victims. The attacks had been going on for 18 months, Connors said.

Asked if he had anything to say, Martin was silent.

The youth was arrested May 9 following an attack upon a woman on her way to a drug store to get ice for her sick child. She identified Martin in Morals Court the following day and her aged father attacked and beat the Negro before officials could interfere.

NAB 'PEDDLER PRINCE,' WANTED IN PITTSBURGH

James Bell, "peddler prince," wanted here on warrants charging larceny is under arrest in Edmonton, Can., Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren was informed in a telegram received today from Edmonton police. Bell is alleged to have obtained phonographs, radios and other merchandise valued at $10,000 from local stores, on credit, and to have peddled the goods in Canada. Detective James McGinley was detailed to bring Bell back.

FIGHTING FOR LIFE, HE BLAMES FIANCEE

After defending his sweetheart yesterday when he entered a plea of guilty to the slaying of Nick Anderson last January 7, in the home of pretty Olga Pawlishak, 17, of Fair Oaks, Mike Popowich sprang a surprise this morning by changing his testimony, testifying today that Olga, and not he shot Anderson. Popowich was called to the stand to testify in his own defense, but upon hearing his latest version, Visiting Judge A. B. Smith, of Susquehanna county, ordered his testimony transcribed and remanded the prisoner to jail. The court called a recess until Monday, when Olga probably will go on trial.

Popowich changed his story completely. He testified Olga shot Anderson, a boarder in the Pawlishak home, when he insisted on taking the girl's mother away with him. Popowich said he went to the Pawlishak home about 1 a. m. and found Olga crying. He said she told him Anderson had been at the house about 11 o'clock, that her mother left about five minutes later, and she feared they were together.

MISS MOTHER

Popowich said he and Olga started out to hunt the mother and returned after a search of about an hour. The father came in shortly after they did, he said, and he asked for the mother. When told she was out, Popowich said, he started to hunt her and found her in the chicken coop.

He was unable to get her to return to the house with him. Popowich said the father told him, and just then Anderson entered the room.

" 'Where's your mother—she's mine and I'm going to take her with me tonight!' " Popowich says Anderson told Olga, whereupon, Popowich said, the girl came over to him and asked him for his gun.

THREE SHOTS

" 'Nick, we've had enough trouble from you! " Olga declared, walking over to Anderson and firing three shots, Popowich testified.

Anderson walked out of the house, Popowich said, and he followed, but was unable to find the wounded man. Anderson was found dead a short distance from the house the next day.

Yesterday Olga told of threats made to her and her family by Anderson and said he came to see her mother at 2 o'clock in the morning. On the night of the shooting, Olga said, Anderson rushed at her with his hands upraised. She heard a shot and fainted, she testified. What happened after that is a blank, she declared.

Both the girl and Popowich repudiated statements made by them when they were arrested. At that time Olga admitted the shooting and was declared to be shielding her sweetheart. Judge Smith asked her why she had taken the blame for the shooting and she replied that she did it to save Popowich whom she intended to marry. Popowich said he was excited at the time.

BULLET HOLES IN CAR START POLICE PROBE

Two bullet holes in an automobile which two occupants were unable to explain, caused an investigation to be started today by county detectives, after McKees Rocks police arrested Adolph Taravola, 20, and Frank Kolinsky, 30, both of Esplen. They later were released. The car was held until the sleuths can examine it.

DANCE 280 HRS. TO RECORD

Three couples, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Proic, Sonia Slovic and Buck Weaver and Isabella Spade and James Ross, who last night equaled the world's marathon dance record, today continued to establish a new record each minute.

At 2 p. m. today they had pushed the mark to 282 hours, about 20 hours past the high mark of 262 hours and 15 minutes, which three couples established last week at New Kensington. The Kensington dancers quit after they had broken the Chicago record of 260 hours.

The Academy sextet aim to put the mark so high that it will stand for all time.

When the New Kensington record was made last week the contestants at the Academy Theater announced they would break the record and establish one of at least 300 hours, and today they were well on their way to fulfill that prediction.

Eight couples in the Negro marathon at Motor Square were shuffling off 205 hours at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Two pairs dropped out during the night.

Time took a toll of five couples in the Duquesne Gardens bunion contest. Today 32 couples were still hoofing it. They had put 138 hours behind them at 2 o'clock today.

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 19.—Greensburg's dance marathon had 26 couples left at 10 o'clock this morning. Thirteen dropped out during the first 3' hours of the contest, which started Sunday midnight.

Miss Greensburg, Jr., will be selected tonight in a bathing beauty contest.

WIFE'S WILL IGNORES BELL

John A. Bell, once political power, banker and coal land broker, sentenced for wrecking the Carnegie Trust Company, was ignored in the will of his wife, Mathilda R. Bell, who died last month. Her estate consisted of $4,000 personal property.

Nowhere in the document, probated today, does she mention the name of the broken financier, who was transferred from the county jail to the Allegheny General Hospital to serve out his sentence.

The will, written after the financial crash of her husband, was dated April 8, 1927, and in it she revealed the hope that something more might come for her to dispose of. She wrote:

"I give any further dividend that I may receive from the Carnegie Trust Company to my daughter, Mary Bell Jones, and my grandsons, James and John Simpson."

The china, silverware and piano of her deceased daughter, Bessie Bell Simpson, she leaves to her grandsons, J. A. B. Simpson and James W. Simpson. Her own household effects go to her daughter, Mary Bell Jones, and her grandsons, James and John Simpson. John A. Bell, Jr., her son, and Tillie Bell Ferguson a daughter, are permitted each to select one article from the household effects. Any money left in a savings account is divided among her children and grandchildren.

FOUGHT FOG AND RAIN, GIRL FLIER SAYS

Three Couples -:- DANCERS TOPPLE "WORLD RECORD" -:- Still in Grind

'ALL DRESSED UP'

RECORD

Buck Weaver and Sonia Slovic danced together with others at Academy Theater marathon dance to break the world record, so-called, of 262 hours, 15 minutes, established last week at New Kensington.

THEY CAN SMILE

MARRIED

This married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prolc, was one of the downtown teams to weather the long endurance test. In the meanwhile, the dance goes on, to push the record as high as possible. And dancers at Motor Square and Duquesne Gardens follow.

JUNIOR CHAMPIONS!

OUT

Although Billy Titus and Marie Richmond are out of the Academy dance, they're junior champion couple of the world, 'tis said. They're both under 18 and they danced 221 hours, 55 minutes. Here, Mabel Kroman presents them with a prize. It was, they agree, a long, long grind to 221 hours, 55 minutes.

REST

James Ross and Isabella Spade hoofed along with the other two couples to break the record. Here they are in one of the "just heavenly" rest periods which come, dancers say, all too far apart. How'd you like to spend more than a week just dancin'?

AIRPLANE FLEW BLIND

BURRY POINT, Wales, June 19.—Lindbergh in his famous flight to Paris ate a few ham sandwiches but Miss Amelia Earhart ate even less in her trip from Newfoundland to Wales. Two oranges and a few malted milk tablets constituted the food consumed by the young woman, the first of her sex to cross the Atlantic. The only excess baggage carried by Miss Earhart was a tooth brush. She plans to purchase clothes in Southampton.

Miss Earhart tells the story of the flight:

"All night we faced bad weather. We climbed and climbed to get above the fog and for a good part of the way flew at a height of 1,100 feet.

"Stultz steered entirely by magnetic compass. A few hours after leaving we were able to receive on the wireless, but could not send.

"Once we were up, everything was all right. I spent most of the time in the rear cabin. It was cold there and when I got too cold I would go forward into the control cabin and sit beside Mr. Stultz. He navigated and flew the plane most of the way across, with just a little relief from Gordon.

"I was too excited to do much more than think of crossing.

"I did not eat much. Only two oranges and a few tablets of malted milk. For other provisions we had aboard hot coffee sandwiches, and pemmican.

"Stultz stuck at the controls for practically the whole journey. He steered the course entirely by magnetic compass because a few hours after leaving our wireless apparatus went wrong in part. We could receive, but could not send on it. We received messages fairly frequently about weather conditions. They were helpful, but they did not mention fog and we had fog all the way across.

"I did not bother Stultz with many questions. I was content and was never frightened for a single minute with such a pilot in such a machine.

"I would do the flight again tomorrow with the greatest confidence.

"I wish now that I had cheered when the first boat came alongside. It was a most ordinary greeting that they gave us.

"One man in the boat said:

" 'Ship ahoy.'

"He asked what we needed. Stultz leaned out of the window and told him we had just flown across the Atlantic and after that people began to gather around us.

"My plans at the moment are just to get some sleep. I feel I could sleep days. When I awake I am going with the others in the plane to Southampton. Then I am going to buy some clothes.

"I mean to stay with Mrs. Guest and see something of England, but whether we will fly to other countries depends on who wants to see us."

Kline Spurns Ministers; Will Not Fire Walsh

MUST PROVE GUILT, MAYOR DECLARES

Mayor Charles H. Kline will take no cognizance of the demand made by several hundred ministers, at a union meeting yesterday in Second Presbyterian Church, to oust Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh as head of the police bureau.

Supt. Walsh with a number of police inspectors, lieutenants and patrolmen recently were indicted by a federal grand jury investigating a rum ring here. Two police magistrates also were indicted.

Mayor Kline said today that he would not take any official action against the men indicted until after they are tried in court.

"When the indictments were returned I stated that I would await the outcome of court trials before I would ask for the resignation of any of the men," Mayor Kline said today. "I have not changed my attitude."

Director of Public Safety James M. Clark also stated that he would take no action on the demands made by the ministers.

"The law states that a man is innocent until proved guilty, I am not going to prejudge any of my subordinates," said the director. "If any of the men indicted are found guilty by trial, then, and not until then, will I take action."

CIRCULATORS MEET HERE

The annual three-day convention of the International Circulation Managers Association opened in the William Penn Hotel today with 250 delegates present from this country and Canada.

Morning and afternoon sessions were held today. Committee reports were heard at the early session and those on the speaking program for the second meeting were John M. Schmid, of the Hearst newspapers in Chicago; A. W. Davis, Commercial Appeal, Memphis, Tenn.; E. R. Hatton, Free Press, Detroit; Jack Walker, Daily Ardmoreite, Ardmore, Okla.; J. I. Erwin, Columbia (S. C.) State; James W. Brown, Editor and Publisher; M. W. Halmbacher, Oklahoman-Times, Oklahoma City. The speakers all dealt with the technical problems of circulation.

Tomorrow night the annual banquet will be held in the William Penn ballroom.

Nominate Hale in Maine

PORTLAND, Me., June 19.—(AP.)—United States Senator Frederick Hale was renominated for a third term in the Republican primary here, easily defeating Gov. Ralph O. Brewster.

Ira G. Hersey (Rep.), Houlton, who is serving his sixth term as representative from the Fourth District, was defeated for renomination by Donald W. Snow, a Bangor attorney.

In a four-cornered contest for the Republican nomination for governor, William Tudor Gardiner, wealthy resident of Gardiner, won.

CLEODRA REEVES

Selected as the typical California (that's where, you know, they make those movies) girl, Cleodra Reeves, whose photograph will be displayed in a New York exhibition, astonished an audience estimated at not smaller than 12 and not larger than 120,000,000 by announcing she wasn't interested in becoming a flicker star. There was much excitement.

Senator Hurt in Fall

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 19. — (AP.) — State Senator George T. Weingartner was probably seriously injured and David Long, a local business man, was slightly hurt today when they fell into the basement of a building being constructed here.

More than a ton of bricks, steel girders and other building material fell into the basement with them when girders on the first floor broke.

BRAVERY MEDAL FOR PHONE GIRL

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 19.—Miss Lenora McCann, young Greensboor telephone operator, was presented with a Theodore N. Vail medal today by the South Penn Telephone Company in recognition of her heroism last October 10 when she saved the village of Greensboro from destruction by fire. Miss McCann stayed at her post in a burning building and summoned outside aid. Presentation of the medal was made by F. J. Chesterman, vice president of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

GagPutOn Union's Pickets

Judge James H. Gray today granted a preliminary injunction against P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers, and others restraining them from in any way interfering with operation of the Treveskyn mine of the McClane Mining Company.

Profane language to employes of the mine, now operating non-union, picketing or assembling at or near the property of the plaintiff company, are prohibited by the court's decree.

A hard fought legal battle was waged over the company's petition for an injunction two months ago. Testimony on behalf of the company was to the effect that men working at the time were hooted, jeered and interfered with by striking union miners who threw stones and otherwise molested workers.

4 OHIOANS HURT WHEN AUTO SKIDS IN DITCH

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 19.—Four persons, all of Kent, O., were injured late yesterday when their auto, en route to this city, skidded and turned over in a ditch in the New Wilmington road, seven miles north of here. The injured are, William Gougler, his wife and daughter, and Mrs. Ross Steple, a friend. None were injured seriously.

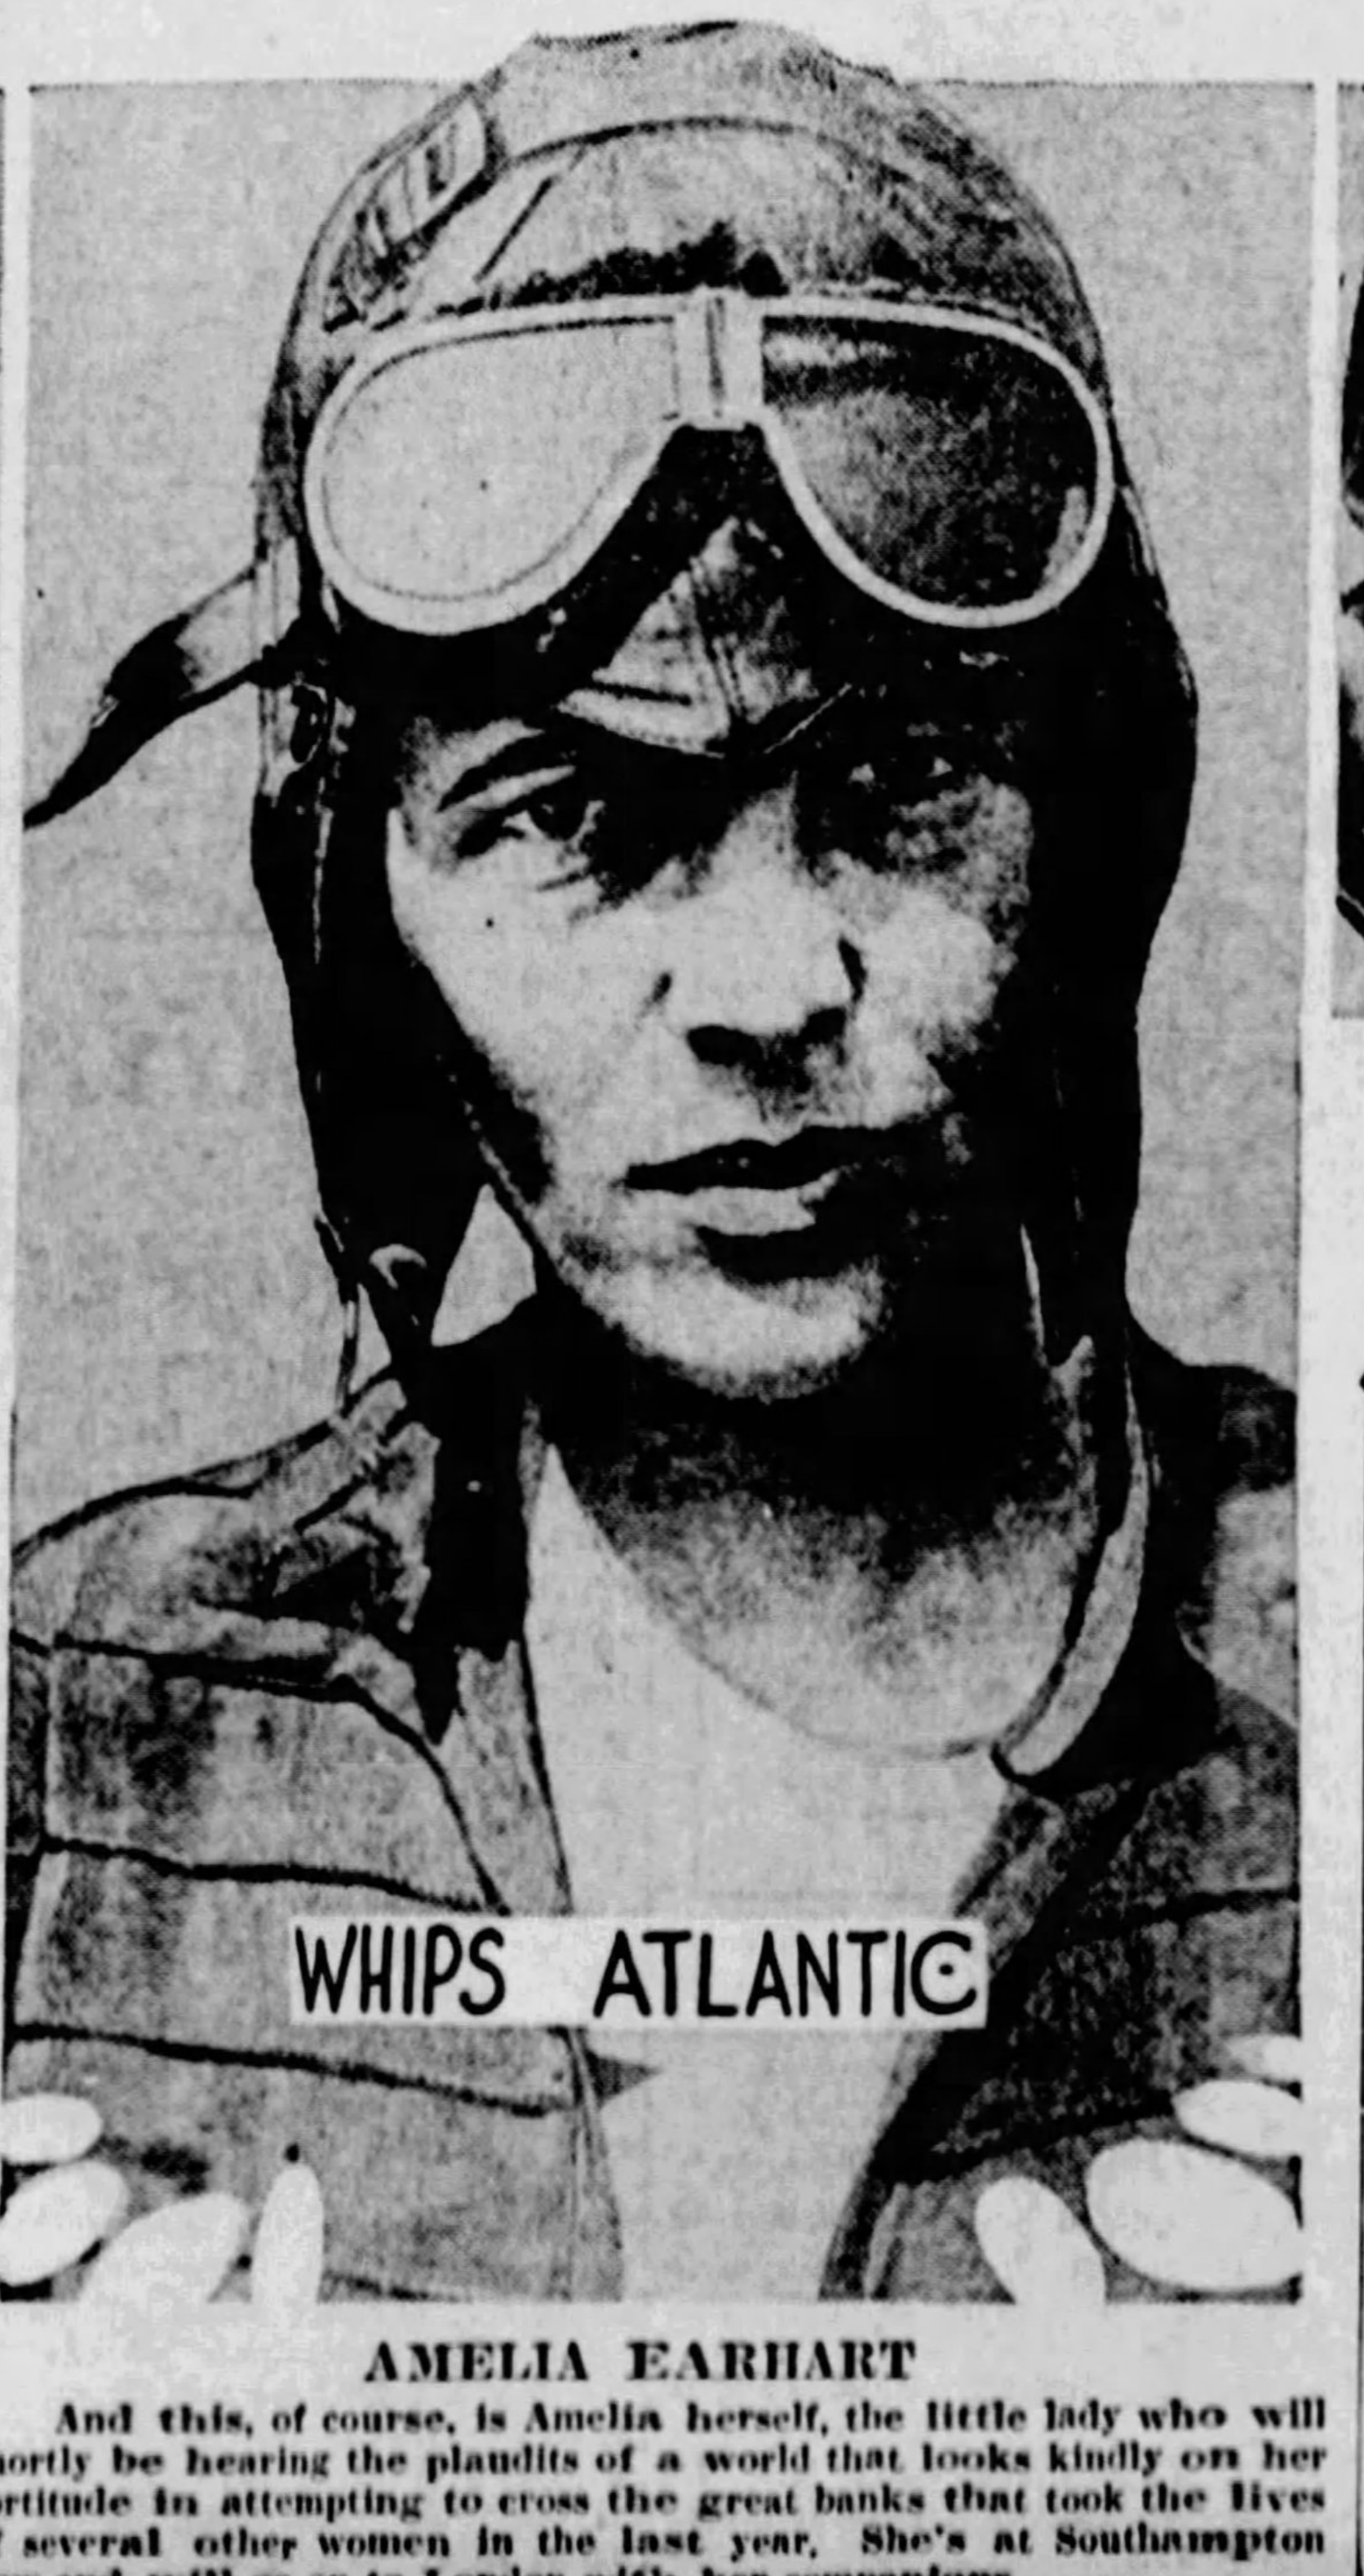
FRIENDSHIP

This is the Friendship, giant plane Commander Richard E. Byrd was to have flown to the South Pole, which carried "Lady Lindy," Amelia Earhart, Boston, over the Atlantic Ocean as the first woman to conquer that "Death Trap."

THEY'RE ALL HAPPY!

FAMILY

This is Amelia's mother, Mrs. Amy Earhart, with Amelia's sister, Muriel, a school teacher. The family's charmed.



AMELIA EARHART

And this, of course, is Amelia herself, the little lady who will shortly be hearing the plaudits of a world that looks kindly on her fortitude in attempting to cross the great banks that took the lives of several other women in the last year. She's at Southampton now and will go on to London with her companions.

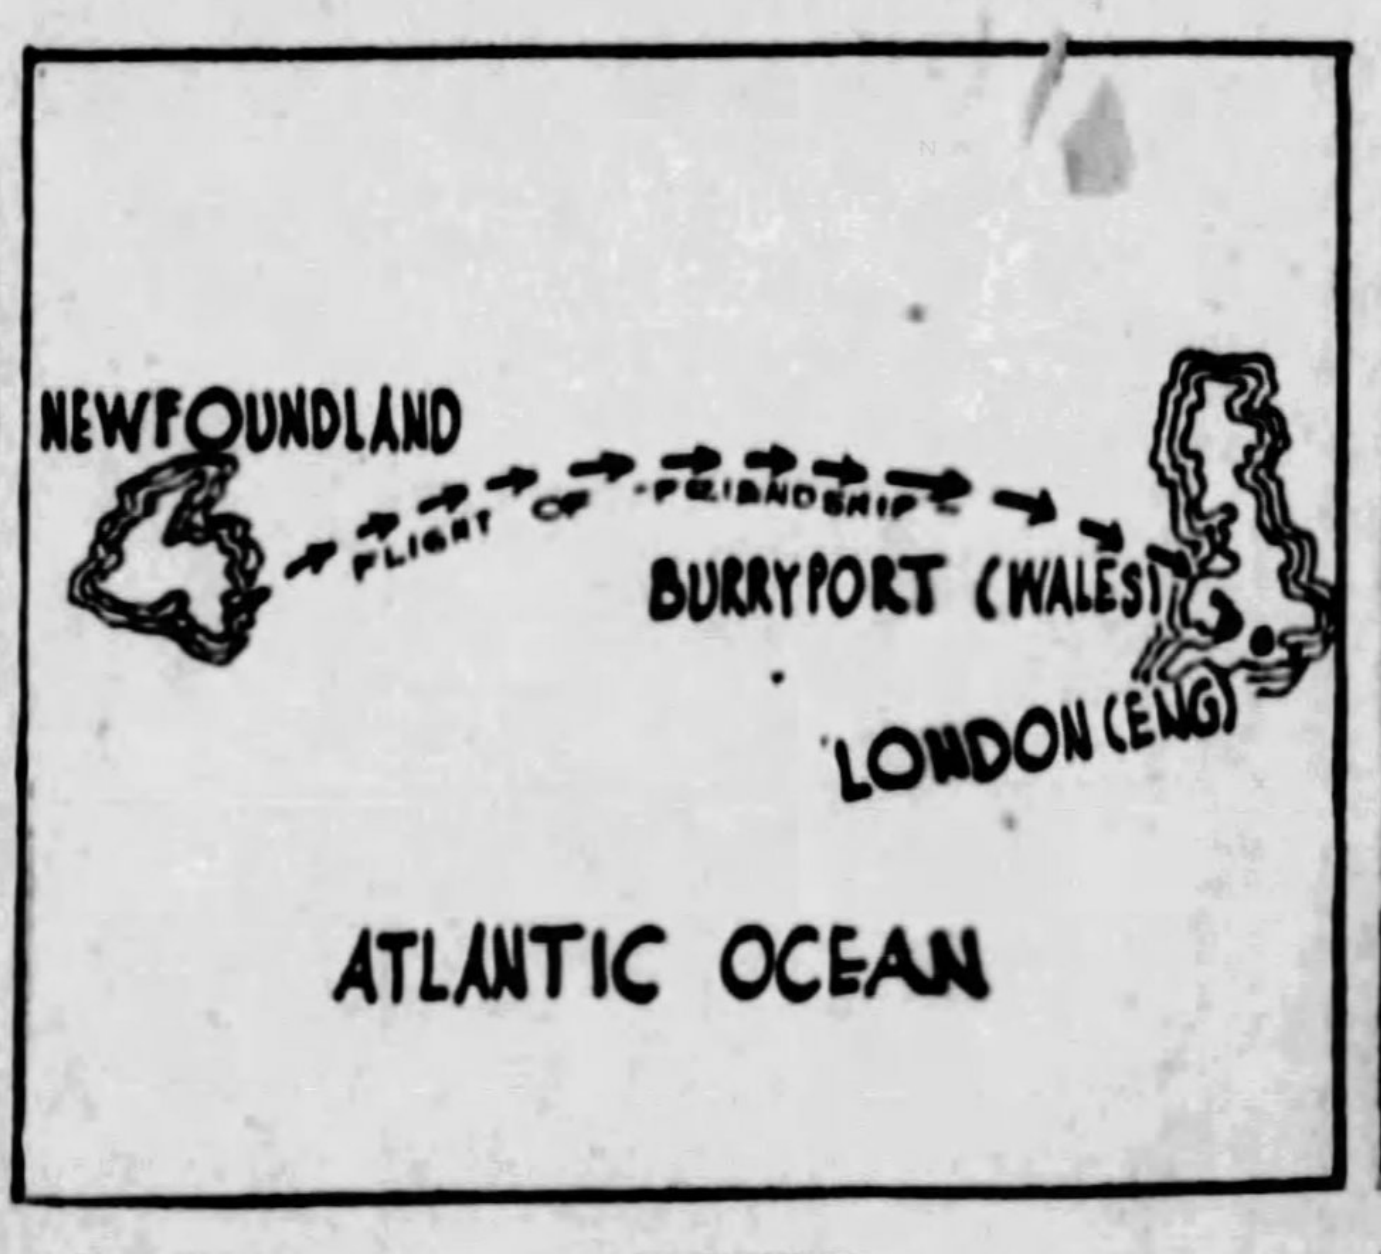
PILOT

This is her pilot, Wilmer Stultz, who was to have piloted Levine back to this country last year.



ROUTE

This is the route, in the little tale of how a society girl, social worker, flier, and college teacher—that's Amelia—crossed the Atlantic. She flew from Trepassey, N. F., to Burry Inlet, Wales, in her attempt to reach London.

MECHANIC

And this last is Lou Gordon, a "man behind the gun." He was mechanic and crossed the sea in the Friendship.

ADMISSION CLEARS UP MURDER

A Negro's confession, according to city detectives, has cleared up the murder of Fred Donatelli, 68, city employe, of 2624 Stayton street, North Side, fatally beaten and robbed in the Hill district the night of June 9, and who died Saturday in the Presbyterian Hospital.

Floyd King, 35, Negro, of 210 Schafer street, held for court in an attack on Mrs. Mary Ymin, 1702½ Cliff street, admitted at a standup, detectives say, that he was one of two Negroes who beat a white man and robbed him of cash and a street car pass at Logan and Whitcomb streets the night of June 9. Donatelli was robbed of $14 and a car pass.

placed her own motor car at the disposal of the daring sky voyagers.

Following a luncheon there was a public reception when many persons met Miss Earhart, shook hands with her and congratulated her upon her feat. It was arranged that the three fliers should have a rest of a couple of hours before leaving for London.

Miss Earhart's wealthy patroness, the Hon. Mrs. Frederick Guest, the former Amy Phipps, of Pittsburgh, was in the "official" launch which took off the crew of the trans-Atlantic plane. As soon as the young aviatrix stepped into the boat Mrs. Guest placed her arms around her young friend and exclaimed:

"I am so happy to know that you did it, but we knew you would."

After Gordon had climbed into the boat it moved the short distance to the piers while the crowds surged against the police lines in an effort to get close enough to see the daring young American woman.

Miss Earhart looked both proud and happy. She had had a good night's rest and showed no trace of the weariness entailed by the long and dangerous sky voyage over the ocean. Her face was flushed and her eyes shining.

As she stepped ashore she was handed a huge bunch of American beauty roses by Mrs. Guest.

Mrs. L. M. Welsh, the Lady Mayor of Southampton, made a little speech of welcome, saying how delighted the people of the city were to greet the first woman to accomplish a trans-Atlantic flight.

Miss Earhart, Pilot Stultz and Mechanician Gordon left Southampton for London by motor car at 3:30 o'clock.

Before leaving Southampton Miss Earhart received 100 newspaper correspondents and exploded the myth that the flight was made to get money to "pay off the mortgage upon the family homestead."

Miss Earhart said:

"I am really upset by the report that the flight was made to clear off a mortgage. I never heard of anything so ridiculous. I made the trip as part of my June vacation. There was no other object in it. I would like nothing betetr than to fly back in the same machine, but that is impossible for various reasons."

NEWT BUTLER

The Democratic party, be it warned, has just lost the only vote of the only Democrat in West Branch, Iowa, the little town that boasts of itself as the birthplace of Herbert Hoover. Newt Butler's the only Democrat and he's decided to vote for Hoover—gladly; Newt, 6 feet, 6 inches and proprieter of his own soft-drinkery, licked "Herbie" Hoover in an affair they had years and years ago. But Newt forgives "Herbie."

POOL

This creek is "Herbie" Hoover's "ol' swimmin' hole." "Herbie," even if he were much smaller, couldn't get in it now, but, you see, the dam's crumbled away with age.

REMEMBERS

Mrs. Mollie Curran "remembers" Herbert Hoover well, she says, from the day when he was a 10-year-old bare-foot boy in her little school. West Branch's been all upset since the nomination and the celebration's only dying down now.

FAMILY

Here's the Hoover family. Seated are Father and Mother Hoover, and standing are Herbert Hoover, Jr., his wife, and Alan Hoover. The family's in Washington right now.

DECORATED

When their own "Herbie" was nominated for the presidency, the folks in West Branch decorated the little house where he was born with the American flag. Appropriate, isn't it?

2 Drowned Found in River

BELLAIRE, O., June 19.—Bodies of two persons residing in the same block were taken from the Ohio River yesterday within a few hours of each other. Both were drowned a week ago.

The bodies were those of Clyde Renner, 12, drowned while bathing, and Harvey Mitchell, 61, despondent because the Carnegie mill, where he was employed, had shut down, who committed suicide.

WASHINGTON TRUCK BLAST VICTIM DIES

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 19.—Burned when fumes from gasoline used to clean the engine of an auto truck exploded Sunday, Arthur Gray, 35, of this city, died yesterday afternoon in Washington Hospital.

Katheryn H. Power, 5803 Wellesley avenue, is happy. And who wouldn't be happy if he (or she) had just been graduated from Cornell with a bachelor of arts degree?" Miss Power's sorority is Kappa Alpha Theta.

CUTS SENATOR OF PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 19.—(AP.)—Antonio Barcelo, president of the Porto Rican Senate, was stabbed and possibly seriously wounded by Jose Matos, native Porto Rican, during a celebration in his honor here yesterday.

Senator Barcelo was in a hospital last night. A carpenter's chisel was the weapon.

Matos, himself shot in the scuffle which followed his deed, was lodged in a prison, heavily guarded to protect him from an outraged populace.

ASSASSIN FAILS

MEXICO CITY, June 19.—(AP.)—An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Margarito Ramirez, governor of the state of Jalisco, was made Sunday night at the railroad station in Irapuato.

Will Is Visiting Pawnee Bill On Ranch

PAWNEE, Okla., June 19.—Having a little visit with my old friend, Pawnee Bill, here on his Buffalo ranch. Oklahoma sure looks fine, greatest wheat crop in years. If there just wasn't any new cars for sale, farmers would be out of debt this fall. Certainly glad that girl made the ocean trip. Now the rest of these other women can devote their time to steady thinking of some other way to make the front page.

FOUR KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTO

PEWAUKEE, Wis., June 19.—(AP.)—Two men and two women were killed here last night when the fishermen's special of the Milwaukee road crashed into their automobile at a crossing here. Held up by a passing freight train, the automobile started forward when the freight train cleared the crossing and was crashed by the speeding special on another track. Officers could not find the license plate of the automobile in their efforts to identify the victims.

MISSING WIFE AND CHILDREN

When a liner bearing Mrs. Germaine Cropp, war bride, and her two children, William and Marie, docked in New York, all trace of them was lost. Her husband, who lives in Washington, D. C., is distraught and police of both cities are on their trail.

DOGS HUNT NOBILE AS PLANES FAIL

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 19.—(AP.)—After two futile attempts of fliers to find Gen. Umberto Nobile and his party of survivors on the ice north of North East alnd, it was felt at Kings Bay today that rescue by air was likely to prove a difficult task. Hope for immediate relief turned to dog teams.

A fast patrol commanded by Capt. Sora of the Italian Alpine troops was making its way over the ice today toward Nobile's position. The patrol consisted of two guides, two sledges and nine dogs. It was to travel past Beverly Island, Scoresby Island, Cape Loven, Cape Platen and Dove Bay to Foyn Island, near which point Nobile is awaiting rescue.

SEEK WANDERERS

Another patrol was getting ready to start out in search of three men who have been missing since they left the Nobile party on May 30. This patrol consisted of two students of the Alpine Club and two members of the Alpine troops. It will follow the coast of Beverly Island as far as Cape Loven.

Twice Nobile's hopes have been raised on seeing the seaplanes approach him. Twice they have been dashed as the planes disappeared again in the direction from which they came without sighting the marooned men on the vast white expanse of ice and snow. Nobile apparently realized that it would be difficult for them to see him, for before the first search was made he painted red a tent, which had been saved from the Italia, to guide them.

SO NEAR—YET SO FAR

The Norwegian flyers believe the ice is too rough for landing near Nobile. The ice floes, however, were opening considerably today, although the water leads still were too narrow to permit the landing of a seaplane.

The Norwegian flyers, Capt. Riiser-Larsen and Lieut. Luetzow Holm, set out from the ice breaker Braganza yesterday in search of Nobile, determined to find him after their futile attempt of Sunday. After flying over the region they returned without sighting him.

Later Nobile informed the base ship Cittta di Milano by radio that he had seen one of the seaplanes come within two kilometers (1.24 miles) of his position.

On Sunday Nobile said he had seen both planes, although they failed to sight him.

Cool Spring Finds Clothes Not Man Missing

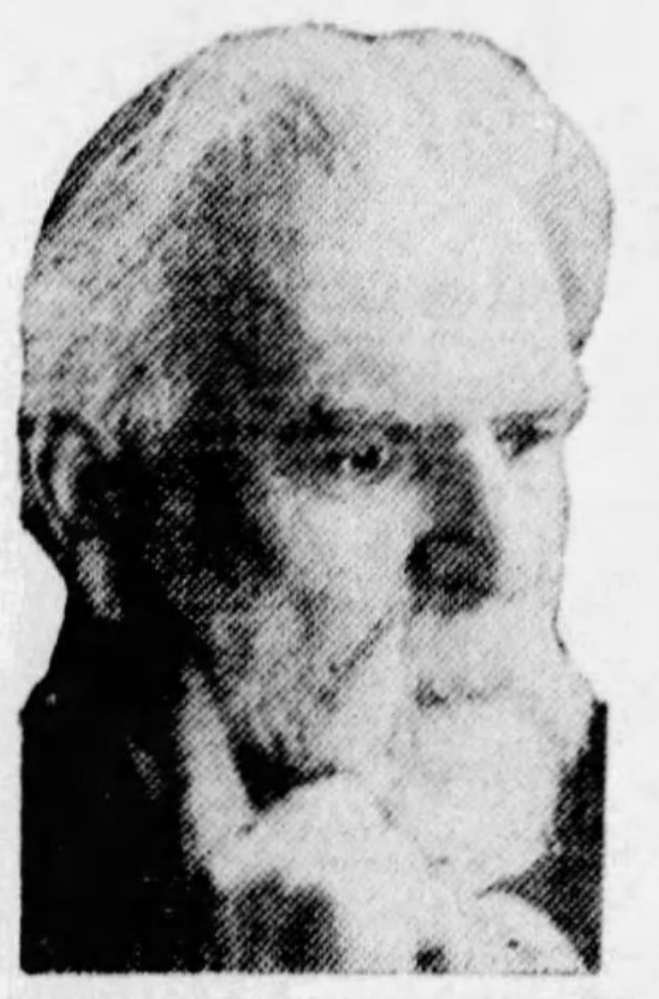
UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 19.—Excitement in Cool Spring, a nearby suburb, subsided yesterday, when its anxious population discovered that Harry Martin, a prominent villager, had not been drowned in Cool Spring, as had been supposed.

Several days ago, clothing belonging to Martin was found on the bank of the creek. Villagers dragged the creek and mourned Martin for dead until yesterday, when he appeared in their midst.

It was then revealed that Martin's clothes and not himself was missing. He said the clothing had apparently been stolen from his home.

Pittsburgh As Others See Us

"It (Pittsburgh) is a city with its own keen individuality, a city suggestive of the long history and romance of Colonial days."
—EDWIN MARKHAM.



EDWIN MARKHAM

EDWIN MARKHAM, poet and lecturer, was born in Oregon City, Ore., April 23, 1852; worked as a blacksmith and cattle herder as a boy and was educated at San Jose Normal School. Was superintendent of schools in California. Wrote "The Man With the Hoe," a poem, in 1899, which received world-wide attention. Resides in West New Brighton, N. Y.

I have dreamed many hours in this city, this city at the gate of the spacious West—at the gate where two majestic rivers meet and mingle. It is a city with its own keen individuality, a city suggestive of the long history and romance of Colonial days.

It is also a city that is in the heart of a great modern miracle—the transformation of iron into steel under the awful firebreath of the furnace. This is the steel that is directing the material destinies of the world—steel that seems to rise out of the flame and smoke of the forges to form the enduring framework of the world.

And in the midst of these grim realities, these forms of strength, Pittsburgh does not forget the beautiful. In the midst of the dumb and deadening drudgery of the mills, we see the fine arts taking form. The great museum of art stands close by the mighty forges and furnaces. And, looking down the vista of the future, I see the time when the toilers shall achieve industrial freedom and have greater leisure to enjoy the higher culture, the bread of the spirit.

VETS BACKING BEAUTIES

In addition to independent entries for the beauty pageant, which will be an important feature of the indoor mardi gras, June 25-30, in Duquesne Garden, by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, many posts are backing their particular favorites and entering them in the names of the posts.

Marne Post, Avalon, is not entering in the beauty pageant, but it has named Miss Agnes Martin as its choice to be queen of the mardi gras. The queen will be chosen about the middle of the week. Voting booths will be used in the balloting.

The ladies' auxiliaries of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are conducting a campaign to name a chaperon who will accompany the three girls on their tour of Washington, D. C., who will be named second, third and fourth in the beauty pageant. The girls will be given a five-day, all-expenses-paid tour.

RITCHIE BACKS SMITH

International News Service.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 19.—Feeling that Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, has "the best chance to win," Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, has withdrawn from the field of Democratic presidential candidates. At the same time, Gov. Ritchie pledged his unqualified support to Smith at the convention next week in Houston, Tex.

"I am profoundly convinced that no consideration of self or of personal advancement on anyone's part should be allowed to stand for one moment in the way of the success of the Democratic party, which is the natural champion of self-government and popular self rule," he said.

The Maryland executive will instruct all delegates from his state to vote for Smith, he said.

POISONING HINTED IN MEXICAN'S DEATH

A further examination will be made today on the body of Manuel Palacico, about 35, a Mexican, of 2157 Webster avenue who was found dead at his home by police of the Center Avenue station who had been summoned there late last night. A post mortem examination indicated that Palacico might have been suffering from poisoning, but it was not determined definitely if death had resulted from that cause.

ANNEXATION BID IN COUNCIL

A part of Baldwin township wants to be annexed to Pittsburgh. Yesterday a petition bearing the names of 180 residents of the township was presented to Council.

That part of the township favoring annexation is bounded on the north by city, Overbrook borough on the east, a part of Baldwin township and Castle Shannon borough on the south and Mt. Lebanon township and Castle Shannon on the west.

Attorney John J. McGrath filed the petition with council. The matter will come before Council today in committee meeting.

HILLTOP TRACKS START FUSS

Councilmen John S. Herron and W. Y. English, discussing the granting of a lease to Pittsburgh Railways Company, for extension of the street car line in Grandview avenue, Duquesne Heights, became involved in a heated argument in Council Chamber yesterday afternoon. So hot did the argument become that James Malone, council president, had to rap for order.

The ordinance was presented by Councilman Robert Alderdice. It called for a perpetual lease. Councilman Herron concurred with his colleague, maintaining that the present franchise was perpetual and that the new franchise should be the same. English argued that the franchise should be for 50 years.

When Herron started to interrogate English, the latter charged Herron with, "pulling dirty politics."

"English is throwing dust, he trying to make himself out a Savior," Councilman Herron shot back.

"As a matter of fact one should sweep in front of his own door when aspersion are cast," he added. Both councilmen were silenced when Malone rapped for order.

A special meeting was set for Wednesday afternoon.

GULDEN'S Mustard

What could be cooler than a Ginger Ale Salad!

by Mary Blake

Ginger ale salad! Isn't that a fascinating new idea in party luncheon recipes? And it is just as good as it sounds!

The recipe comes from a famous hostess in the Far West. But it is such a delicious novelty in salads that it's sure to be found before the summer is over on the menus of up-to-the-minute hostesses throughout the country.

The Mayonnaise Recipe is Particularly Good

No salad can be better than its mayonnaise. That is why I am so careful about my mayonnaise recipe. The one I am giving you—for Carnationnaise—I have found unusually satisfactory. It is smooth and rich and blends well with almost any type of salad.

You will notice that one of the important ingredients of Carnationnaise is Carnation Milk. I prefer it for several reasons. Carnation Milk can always be depended upon to be absolutely sweet, no matter how torrid the weather. It is rich with a double cream content. The cream content is broken up into very small particles, giving Carnation Milk a particularly smooth quality which is imparted to everything in which it is used. And in quality it is always uniform, so that results are not variable, as they often are with ordinary milk.

A Wonderfully Convenient Milk Supply

Carnation is not "prepared" milk; it is simply the purest of whole milk, evaporated to double richness, by the removal of about half the water content. Nothing is added. The cream is evenly distributed throughout the milk, making every drop equally rich; and the milk is sterilized for safe-keeping. That's the whole story of Carnation. Domestic science authorities agree that Carnation Milk gives better results than bottled milk. And you will find it more economical, convenient and dependable than milk in any other form. Write for the Carnation Cook Book—it is free. Address Carnation Milk Products Co., 100 Carnation Bldg., Oconomowoc, Wisconsin.

Carnation Ginger Ale Salad

Dissolve 3 tbsp. gelatine in 3 tbsp. cold water; add 1/3 cup boiling water, 2 cups golden ginger ale, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 2 tsp. sugar, pinch of salt. (Color with green or red.) Let cool and add 1 cup chopped celery, 1 cup chopped apple, 1/4 can pineapple diced, 1/2 box crystallized ginger. Put in mold and chill. Serve with Carnationnaise in center.

Carnationnaise

4 tbsp. flour, 1 tbsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. mustard, 1 tsp. salt, paprika. Mix these ingredients. Add gradually 1/4 cup salad oil, 1/4 cup cider vinegar, 1/4 cup water. Stir till smooth. Cook over slow fire till thick, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, beat into mixture 1 slightly beaten egg, 2/3 cup Carnation Milk, 1/4 cup salad oil. Add milk and oil slowly and beat very smooth. This makes 3 cups. It will keep indefinitely.

Perfect Salad Dressings

Carnation
MILK

You can make the smoothest and richest of salad dressings with Carnation Milk. It is wonderful for all cooking—completely dependable in quality and results, doubly rich in cream, economical, too. (See recipes above)

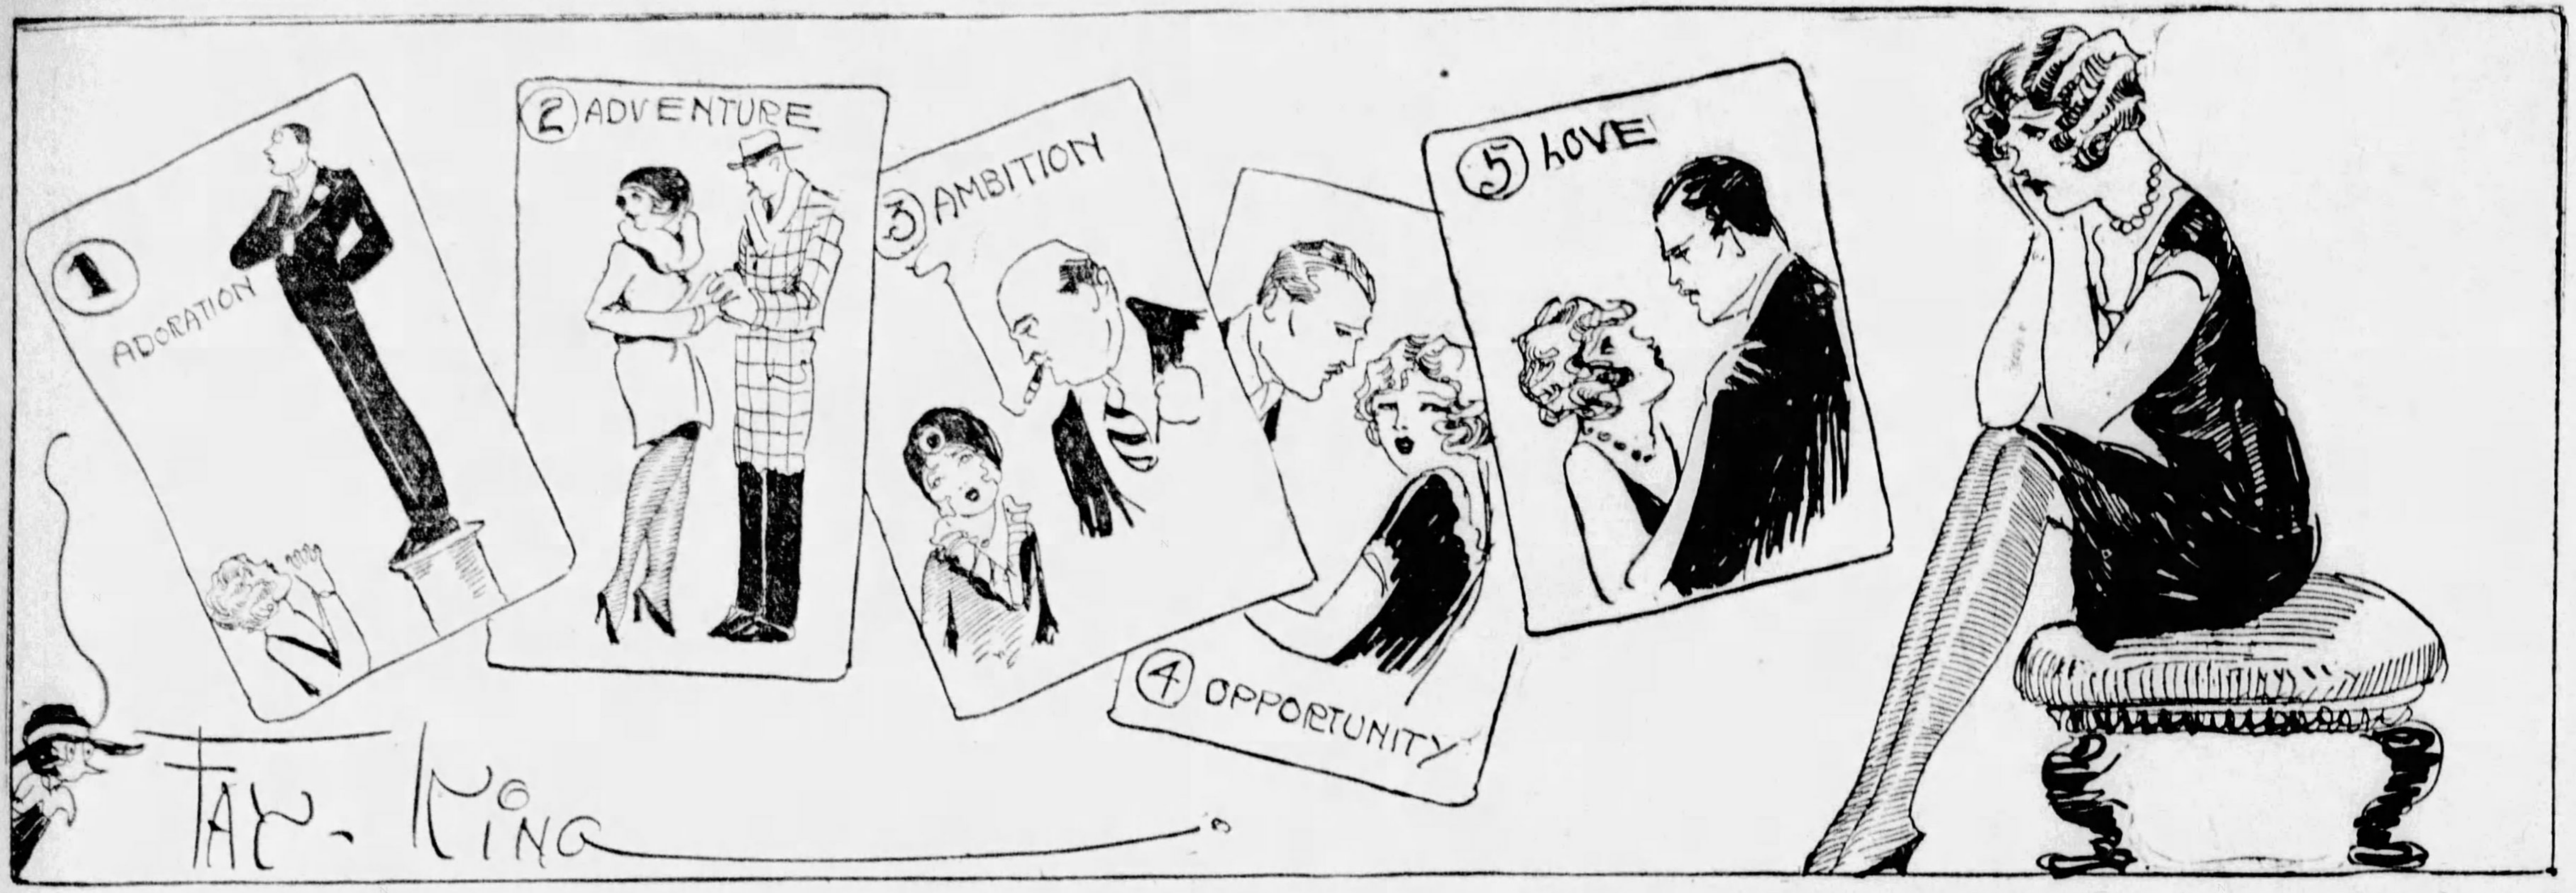
Fay King Analyzes the 5 Men in a Girl's Life



By FAY KING

IT IS SAFE to say that into the life of nearly every girl are five men.

The first man she may never meet, but he is her hero! She adores him. He is someone she reads about, sees on the stage or screen and worships from afar.

The second one personifies romantic adventure, usually someone she shouldn't know. Contrast attracts them and their romance thrives awhile on secret meetings.

The third is the older man she first makes contact with in the business world. He is her ideal of solid success and power. He is flattered by her frank admiration and offers to take a fatherly interest in her ambitions.

Fatherly interest seldom remains such!

The fourth is the young man of whom her parents approve. Everyone approves of him. Even she approves of him as a good matrimonial opportunity.

She might even marry him, just to show the other girls who are angling for him how easily she could capture the prize. But try as she will she just cannot fall really in love with him.

So, if she has safely evaded the first four, along comes the fifth, who is usually "Mr. Right." They fall in love, marry, and live happily forever after!

SPRINGDALE MAN JAILED IN KILLING

Sam Hatalski, 34, of Springdale, is being held in the county jail pending the inquest into the death of Dominic Maxinuck, 35, also of Springdale, whom he is accused of fatally stabbing during a fight Saturday midnight. Hatalski is said to have admitted killing Maxinuck, but said he had stabbed in self defense. County detectives questioned the man and also Mrs. Elizabeth Bartuska, 35, a widow, over whom the men are said to have quarreled. The woman was not arrested.

FLAT RANSACKED, SUES RAIDERS

Claiming that prohibition agents raided his home during the absence of himself and family, and without a search warrant, ransacked the rooms, cupboards and drawers, and took $80 from his trousers pocket, Tony George, 1702 Cliff street yesterday brought suit for $10,000 damages in Common Pleas court.

A constable and six United States prohibition agents were named defendants. Judge Ambrose B. Reid ordered $500 capias bail for each. Those sued are E. V. Stokes, a constable of Bellevue, and Albert H. Scales, F. E. DeHass, Paul A. Reilly, Frederick Weinheimer, Elmer J. Seignorth and Joseph E. Maxwell.

George lives on the second and third floors of the building with his wife and 9-year-old daughter. The latter was at school and the parents downtown May 25, when the agents visited downstairs and then broke two locks to enter his apartment. He claims the raid was made without warrants.

STREET VACATION PLAN BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

An ordinance authorizing the Mayor and Director of Public Works to enter into an agreement with Pennsylvania Railroad for the vacation of a number of streets and grade crossing changes in Penn avenue district, was presented to Council yesterday. The improvement will also involve the widening of Pike street from 40 feet to 60 feet.

DOUGLAS CO. REQUESTS DAMAGE SUIT RETRIAL

Attorney William J. Jordan filed a motion for a new trial on behalf of the Douglas Transfer Company, against which a verdict of $12,000 was awarded last week in favor of Andrew E. Dudas, who lives in the Second avenue district of Hazelwood. Dudas, riding a motorcycle, crashed into a truck owned by the Douglas concern in Hazelwood avenue and on which it was alleged there was no light. Dudas was confined in the hospital for a number of months with a broken leg. The plaintiff is employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Coats With Badger

A New Group for Summer Travel
Featured in the Misses' Shop at $100

Elegantes in this country and Europe, noted for their smart attire at home or when enroute, are fashionably turned out for travel in badger-trimmed coats.

Why?—Because badger is peculiarly harmonious with travel coat fabrics, it is sturdy yet softly flattering, and it is youthful.

On these coats, of imported and domestic tweeds, camel's hair and oxford cloth, badger is generously used as Paquin collars, round, face-framing collars, and long shawl collars.

With this fur so much in demand, it is an event, indeed, when one is offered such a pleasing collection of badger-trimmed coats at a hundred dollars.

AN EXPLOITATION OF MIDSUMMER SILKS

To have something newer, and smarter than has yet been presented this season, our silk buyer, accompanied by our store stylist, made a special trip to New York last week. 49 leading silk houses—manufacturers and importers—were visited in the course of their search.

Out of this trip has come a group of distinctive offerings, to be presented here tomorrow for the first time. This is a demonstration of our belief that style and beauty have a greater attraction for the smart shopper than price alone.

Midsummer Velvets, $9.75 Yard

Verifying our earlier prediction, there is scarcely a smarter fabric at the present moment for daytime as well as evening wear than transparent velvet, plain or printed, alone or in combination with silk. We have the trim, tailored prints for street, and more vivid sports designs which are most prominent in New York. 29 inches wide.

Hand Blocked Chiffon, $3.95 Yard

Imported chiffons, printed with new and original designs in glorious color effects. For charming feminine afternoon and evening gowns. On off-white grounds for the most part. 39-inch.

Imported Chiffon Squares, $12.50

Exquisite designs, hand-blocked on 45-inch squares of filmy chiffon. Suitable for making the uneven skirt of an afternoon or evening gown, for blouses, wraps, or just as they are, for evening scarfs. $12.50 the square.

Monotone "Engraved" Prints $2.25

The most exquisitely lacey and delicate prints we've seen. They look exactly as if the designs had been engraved, rather than printed, and they are at once distinctive and conservative. Especially smart for street or travel wear. 39-inch.

Sea Side Stripes, $3.45 Yard

A soft, washable crepe, with broad ombre stripes on white grounds. A classic favorite for summer that may be made up in a number of striking new ways. 36-inch.

Importance of White

—is evidenced by the fact that we have obtained more than a score of different weights and weaves in this one "color" alone. From feathery chiffons to heavy coatings, white is important — for sports, afternoon and evening. A marvelous variety for all sorts of summery dresses and wraps. 32 to 39-inch. 95c to $6.95 yard.

Lovely Cycles of Color

To enable you to carry out the new idea of combining silks of differing weights in a single frock or ensemble, we have selected midsummer crepes and midsummer georgette to match.

These come in several cycles of color, each consisting of from four to seven exquisitely graded tones of the same color.

Both weaves are 39 inches wide. $2.95 yard.

A Specially Priced Group of Women's Printed Frocks

Tailored and Dressy Ones
Of Various Silks and Chiffons

$29.50

The Women's Tailor-Type section, and the section of Finer Dresses, unite in this event, which involves the finer kind of printed frocks.

In Tailor-Types, there are dresses of superior printed silks, including crepes, radium and Mallinson's pussywillow, in patterns selected for their appropriateness to tailored styles.

In the other section, there are semi-dressy frocks of printed silks, for town wear and train travel, among them a few in striking scarf pattern; and afternoon dresses of printed chiffon in fluttering, feminine models. Also, there are a few frocks of plain-colored chiffon in light shades.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

What Travelers "Ask Mr. Foster"

"I like to swim and to dance, but I don't want to go to a "dressy" resort.

"Where would you suggest I spend my vacation?"

"I'm planning to drive to California to visit some friends this summer. I've two months to motor out.

Will you suggest an itinerary for that trip?

"Is there any sort of short ocean voyage I might take during my two - weeks' vacation?

Will you make all reservations for me, please?"

. . . Horne's, Balcony . . .

"Pinetex" Garment Bags Special

3 for $1.85

Made of a heavy paper-like composition, chemically treated to exclude moths. 27x4x57 inches in size. Side opening. 65c each.

All Wanted Types of Misses' White Frocks

In the range of $16.75 to $25.00, a young woman may have white dresses for all kinds of daytime and evening wear, in the Misses' Shop.

There are little sports-type frocks of flat crepe and georgette, one and two-piece models variously finished with tucks, smocking, and some with large silk ties.

Afternoon frocks are rather simple ones of georgette or chiffon.

Evening frocks are of georgette, georgette-with-lace, and taffeta-with-tulle.

Scarfs of Pointed Fox

Double-Pointed to Give a Silvered Effect

We have a delightful collection of pointed fox scarfs now, at $65.00 to $125.00, all of the pelts double-pointed so they have more nearly the appearance of the precious silver foxes.

Pointed fox scarfs are wanted by both young and older women, to wear with black, with the newly revived oxford, with navy and with white.

Here's the Trunk for Campers and Tourists

$8.00

Built to stand hard knocks. A practical size for fastening onto the running board or rear rack of a machine—or it can be shipped like the ordinary trunk. Made of vulcanized fiber—water can't hurt it. Has a removable tray with three compartments, to make inches count in packing. Known as an army locker, or foot locker, because it's shaped to slide under an army cot, or lay flat at the end of one. The most serviceable one we've seen at this price.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Petit Point Trimmings

Organdy bands of various widths, with strips of lovely petit point embroidery in bright colors. Especially smart for trimming summer wash frocks. $1.00 to $3.00 yd.

Pitt Audience Finds Fun In "White Collars," Comedy Given By Stock Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

HOW a millionaire who weds his stenographer overcomes the class prejudices of his wife's family, prejudices which prevent him from helping them because they think it is charity, is amusingly illustrated in "White Collars," a comedy by Edith Ellis, presented last night by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt. The familiar socialistic fetish of class consciousness is mixed up with romance in "White Collars" and the result is fun for the audience. It is mixed up with in-laws, too, and the heat of a stuffy New York apartment in the summer time. And it is all productive of more comedy than one would think could come from such a dry theme as political economy.

Very well acted, too, is this delightful little play, here on other occasions, both before and after registering success in New York. John Marsden, who was seen here in the principal male role previously, was engaged especially to play the millionaire willing to meet his wife's family half way and found the going difficult. He presented a picture of an affable give-and-take chap who adopted his own way of "arranging the course of the lives of others" and made his interpretation one that won the sympathy and the partisanship of the audience. Mr. Marsden is a good actor.

Anne Forrest made good use of her ingratiating manner in her portrayal of the young wife who leaned backward in her attempts not to appear a gold digger. John W. Moore revealed his skill at characterization again as the haranguing Cousin Henry, spouting half truths of political economy both to the distraction and admiration of the rest of the family and to the disgust of Mr. Millionaire.

Robert Fisk made a character role, that of a trucker in love with the flapper daughter of the family, a perfect mold of vacuity. One of the funniest bits of the play was his blankness ond one-word responses to the wealthy man when he tried to be sociable and engage him in friendly conversation.

Gus Forbes, Alice Ann Baker, Mabel Koroman, Miriam Kirkell and Gordon played capably as members of the families of the bride and bridegroom.

SEEN AND HEARD :-: IN CURRENT ATTRACTIONS :-: OF PLAYHOUSES

Right to left we have Colleen Moore, star of the Stanley screen, in "Happiness Ahead;" Josephine Whittell, comedienne, in "The Gold Diggers," stock attraction in the Nixon; Miss Honey of the Honey Troupe of gymnasts, Davis stage; Miriam Kirkell, Pittsburgh girl in Pitt stock cast presenting 'White Collars;" Gwen Lee, leading woman with Lon Chaney in Penn film feature, "Laugh, Clown, Laugh."

DANCE, LAUGHS IN HARRIS

In the Harris six attractive girls are featured in an act, "Dance Variations." A man in the act sings a song and also displays some stepping. Russell and Fields offer an original and smart presentation, that has a lot of talk about Eve, blondes and a missing rib, with some vulgar lines that ought to be omitted. Reed and Ray mixed bull fights and novel musical numbers in an entertaining manner. In the act of Harrison and Harrison the young man does some vocal work and makes a lariat perform. The feminine member also tosses the rope and eats fire. Doran and Soper have a snappy line of chatter and mannerisms of their own-all of which get the laughs. The photoplay is "Bachelor's Paradise," featuring Sally O'Neil. An organlogue, news pictures and a cartoon comedy complete the bill.

VARIED REVUE DAVIS HIT

A lively and varied revue, embracing travesty sketches, skillful dancing and other ingredients, calling for comedy talent on the part of Lew Seymour and Jessie Howard and their aids, was the cordially received handliner of the Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis Monday. Harold Yates and Cooper Lawley caught the fancy of the audience with their songs, most effective of which was "Laugh, Clown, Laugh." The bill also had a real comedy pantomime artist in Manuel Vega, his high spot being a funny realistic wrestling match with a dummy. Gus Stewart and Ollie Olive gave an exhibition of stepping that was high-class. The Honey Troupe's speed and skill in acrobatic work amazed. Man, woman, two girls and a boy, they offered an exceptional act of the kind. Sophisticated comedy was the basis of the chatter and song offering of Sol Gould, aided by Florence Page and Harriet Harbaugh. As a whole the bill was very good. A mediocre number being the screen feature, "Tillie's Punctured Romance," slapstick comedy with Louise Fazenda, Chester Conklin and W. C. Fields. News pictures and a short film comedy are on the bill.

MISS MOORE IN STANLEY IN "HAPPINESS AHEAD"

The trusting and faithful wife is always a good subject to play up now and then in making screen successes, just as it was a good moveback in the old days when emotion on the legitimate stage was expressed in melodrama. Colleen Moore is the star in a picture that preserves some of the best features of melodrama, in "Happiness Ahead," which is the attraction in the Stanley Theater this week. It is superbly acted and beautifully done by the camera. Supporting Colleen Moore is Edmund Lowe and other good screen players. Big audiences that filled nearly every seat at the Stanley yesterday expressed their appreciation of the stage presentation directed by Phil Spitalny, who is preparing for his vacation trip abroad. In honor of the leave-taking, his "Jazz Beaus" put a few extra frills in their work in the orchestra. The Navelle Brothers, musical acrobats; Peggie English and George Lyons, and the Six Tivoli Girls furnish good specialties.

GOLD DIGGERS WORK WELL IN NIXON

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

There's a group of feminine excavators in the Nixon this week—gold diggers, in the Avery Hopwood comedy, "The Gold Diggers." It's a smart and clever comedy. In the midst of cigaret smoke and sparkling champagne glasses you see the "gimme" campaign of a number of chorus girls in various stages of development. There is just one dissenting voice—a rather nice sort of thing, by the name of Violet, who thinks its "horrid" to always associate a gross or so of dollar marks with a man. But then she's in love with a youth who's heir to a million or so.

Enters an Uncle Steve on the scene, who forbids the boy to marry the chorus girl. But through the schemes of another girl friend, Jerry Lamar, the uncle and his attorney find themselves lured into the atmosphere of night parties and cigaret smoke. And they certainly pay for their fun—flowers here, hats there and then up the adding machine to necklaces and automobiles.

There's lots more to the plot, of course. But we're not going to spoil your fun by disclosing it.

The Nixon Players do well in their portrayals. Here's an extra applaud for the big blonde, Mabel, played by Josephine Whittell. She works on the motto that "alimony is a woman's life insurance." The leading players, Harry Bannister and Katherine Wilson, are up to their standard. The new juvenile, Clifford Dunstan, is satisfactory. All together there are about 16 in the cast.

A large audience was on hand to laugh and applaud at last night's premier.

"LAUGH, CLOWN, LAUGH," WITH CHANEY, PENN FILM

Now comes the season when the theater's refrigeration plant is scarcely less important than the quality of the films, the energy of the orchestra leader and the talent of the stage artists in the success of summer amusements. And let it be said that the iced air system in the Penn functions perfectly. This is no left-handed compliment, either. The best bill is more enjoyable when the audience is comfortable. Lon Chaney in tragedy, is the screen headliner. Its title, "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," explains its tragic scenes—in circus and theater, of course—and gives the hint of the Belasco play from which it was adopted. It is well acted and the star has first-class support. The Penn stage bill is better than usual with a lot of clever tricks in illusion that make it a good show for the youngsters. Teddy Joyce does his master-of-ceremonies business with the addition of a dance of his own that is marvelous in agility. John Maxwell, Castleton and Mack, Allan Raymond and the Sorel Girls divide the honors in a varied bill of specialties.

ARNAUT BROTHERS IN SHERIDAN SQUARE

The Arnaut Brothers are featured in the show which opened in the Sheridan Square yesterday. The Arnauts offer music and pantomime comedy. Their "Tweet Tweet," or bird conversation is novel and funny. The photoplay feature is "Walking Back," with Sue Carol, Richard Walling and Robert Edeson. It is a melodrama of modern youth. "Shamrocks and Tulips," one of the stage acts, presents song and comedy. Claudia Coleman offers "Feminine Types," a character study. Ates and Darling, in a novelty, and other attractions, including a song school organlogue, complete the bill.

GRAND FILM THEME IS MODERN YOUTH

Modern youth is the theme of Walking Back," current photoplay in the Grand. The picture gives some true glimpses of the present day boy and girl—and also some which we believe are exaggerated in good old movie style. Through a series of rapid-fire closeups at the opening, the director gets the jazz-age idea solidly set in the audience's mind—so when youth speeds things up in later sequences, it's no surprise. Sue Carol and Richard Walling head the cast. Short film entertainment, including a Harry Langdon two-reeler and jazz band selections complete the bill.

ESTELLE TAYLOR IN OLYMPIC FILM CAST

"Honor Bound," featuring Estelle Taylor and George O'Brien, is the photoplay this week in the Olympic. The story concerns a chap who is betrayed by his sweetheart and is sent to prison. Later, he is transferred—as a convict laborer—to a coal mine, where he is to serve as a chauffeur to a coal baron, who has married the betraying sweetheart. This makes for "situations." The Vitaphone program presents Billy and Elsa Newell in songs and comedy, and a revue act, the Morrissy and Miller Night Club.

NEWS PICTURE FEATURED AT LIBERTY

Stage and screen vie for honors this week at Liberty Theater, where in addition to a feature film and a snappy stage show, patrons are shown "The Making of a Newspaper," a two-reel news film.

George Bancroft, starred in "The Drag Net," supported by Evelyn Brent and William Powell, is in one of his most dramatic roles while Eddie Cooke and the Shaw Sisters give a snappy singing, dancing and melody act on stage.

The Shaw Sisters (Gladys and Dorothy) went on the vaudeville circuit after completing a long run in Ziegfeld's Follies.

"Making a Newspaper" shows how newspapers gather details of a story and follow through until it appears on the street, ready for the reader. It is considered one of the greatest educational films ever produced and in the opinion of news writers who have viewed it, is true to every detail.

ORDER PROBE BONDS POSTED

The 47 persons who have not yet posted bond following their indictment by the Federal grand jury, will be given but 24 hours in which to obtain the necessary $5,000 or they will be lodged in jail, it was said yesterday at the United States marshal's office. This notice was served on attorney's representing several of the men.

Six persons gave bail yesterday. It was announced at the United States commissioner's office that Carl Campbell, who furnished bail yesterday and E. C. Campbell, named with the 167 indicted, were the same.

SLAIN WOMAN ROBBED BY HER MURDERERS

FIND BODY IN VACANT HOUSE

Morgue attaches and members of the homicide squad of city detectives today are investigating the death of Mrs. Antonio Samulski, 70, of 2927 Mulberry way, found beaten to death in a vacant house near her home late yesterday. Police believe robbers lured the woman into the dwelling, as $250 she is known to have carried is missing.

She disappeared Saturday. She was seen by her husband when she left her home with the money. The money was in her stocking, according to Joe Samuiski, a son.

Two boys found the body late yesterday after a searching party had been started by the husband and son. Coroner's Surgeon J. M. McMeans performed an autopsy last night and he said that the woman's ribs had been crushed and she had been badly beaten. He said that it would have been impossible for her to have suffered injuries elsewhere and then wandered into the dwelling.

PITTSBURGHERS HURT IN GREENVILLE CRASH

GREENVILLE, Pa., June 19.—When their automobile collided with another machine, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dagenkold, of Pittsburgh, were cut about the face yesterday.

PNEUMONIA CURE DISCUSSED

In the homeopathic treatment of pneumonia, the death rate should not exceed 5 per cent, according to Dr. Alfred Pulford, of Toledo, O., in a discussion this morning at the second day's session of the eighty-fourth annual meeting of the American Institute of Homeopathy at the Hotel Schenley. Dr. Pulford told the delegates that it is impossible to treat pneumonia by name alone, or by a set method, and that simple single remedies covering all symptoms and conditions will restore health and leave no after-effects.

The discussion followed the reading of a paper on a statistical survey of the homeopathic treatment of pneumonia by Dr. E. Rodney Fiske, of New York City, first vice president of the institute. The convention opened with a congress of states session, Dr. Arthur H. Gordon, of Chicago, presiding.

Dr. George D. Geckeler, of Jenkintown, Pa., said many persons suffer from heart disease who do not know it, when caused by high blood pressure. Drugs that stimulate the heart's action should not be used, he said, but simple, single drugs are of unquestionable service.

Scientific papers also were read by Dr. Clarence Bartlett, Dr. C. Dudley Saul, Dr. Donald R. Ferguson and Dr. E. R. Snader, of Philadelphia; Dr. E. W. MacAdam, Dr. J. P. R. Schmahl and Dr. Milton J. Raisbeck, New York City; Dr. David Jewett, Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. Roy Upham, Brooklyn, and Dr. John G. Wurtz, Pittsburgh.

Papers of a scientific nature on nose and throat treatment and surgery were read at that bureau's session, Dr. William G. Shemeley, Philadelphia, chairman. The speakers were Dr. George J. Alexander and Dr. H. S. Weaver, Philadelphia; Dr. R. J. Vreeland, Paterson, N. J.; Dr. C. F. Warner, Washington, D. C.; Dr. George B. Rice, Boston; Dr. Stuart Bowman, Stamford, Conn., and Dr. H. B. Busler, Lansdowne, Pa.

Dr. Arthur R. Grant, of Utica, N. Y., presided at the surgical and gynecological sessions, where papers were read by Dr. W. A. Guild, Chicago; Dr. Isadore Arons, New York City; Dr. A. J. Shadman, Boston; Dr. E. F. Purcell, Trenton, N. J.; Dr. DeWitt C. Wilcox, Boston; Dr. H. L. Northrop, Philadelphia, and Dr. Horace E. Ayers, Utica, N. Y.

BRENTWOOD FIREMEN INDORSE BOND ISSUE

The $43,500,000 proposed bond issue for county improvements and a $150,000 borough bond issue for improvements in Brentwood, were indorsed last night by the Brentwood Volunteer Fire Department at a special meeting in the Brentwood Municipal Building. Both proposals will be voted on next Tuesday at the special bond issue election.

REAL ESTATE

The C. L. Saxton Company has sold for John E. Marks to Henry Getz the property located at 3701 Hiawatha avenue, North Side, lot 49x120 feet with a shingle and stucco house of eight rooms with improvements. The consideration was $8,000.

The Union Real Estate Company has sold for Mathias Neuwirth to A. Lavenson the brick building at 1735-31 Chislett street, Tenth Ward, containing a storeroom and three apartments. The lot is 55x110 feet. The consideration was $21,000.

Fred L. Bender has purchased from the Leopold Walter heirs, through the Gribbin Company, lot 20x100 feet, with an improved frame dwelling, located at 3925 Liberty avenue, for $5,750.

Sixteenth Ward—J. Lachet, fire loss, 2710 Sumner street, $2,500.

COUNTY TAX RATE LOWEST IN PA.

Allegheny county's tax rate is among the lowest of all the counties in the state, and voters have a bonding power of more than $105,000,000 on assessed valuation, County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong declared in his talk at the Dormont community meeting last night in the interest of the $43,680,000 people's bond issue.

County Controller Robert G. Woodside outlined the bond issue projects to be voted on at the special election next Tuesday, and urged support of the town hall, which, he said, should be dedicated as a memorial to the soldiers of all wars.

County Treasurer John Francies urged support of the bond issue in its entirety and declared it was a good, sound business investment for Allegheny County. William E. Best presided.

Harry S. Hershberger and J. G. Shaw urged support of the bond issue at the Ross township community meeting last night in the Quaill Avenue Public School. W. H. Marquis, president of the Ross Township Board of Trade, presided.

Councilman P. J. McArdle and James C. Chaplin, president of the Peoples' Bond Issue Association of Allegheny County, detailed the bond issue projects at the luncheon of the Congress of Women's Clubs, 408 Penn avenue, yesterday.

The Arsenal Board of Trade, Baldwin township commissioners, Crafton Business Men's Association, Oakland Board of Trade and Business Men's Association of East North Side have joined the scores of organizations which have indorsed the bond issue, officials notified the bond issue association yesterday.

Bond issue meetings tonight include Ross township, Pitcairn and Ben Avon community meetings and Oakland Board of Trade.

Bond issue speakers will outline the seven projects at the noon luncheon of the Veterans of Foreign Wars today in the Plaza restaurant.

Shut down on this waste with this amazing new motor oil

HAVE you tried the extraordinary new Atlantic Motor Oil announced last week?

Absolutely the longest-lasting oil made!

Constant driving on the hottest summer day, with the hottest-running motor, won't wear out or burn up this oil!

No waste! Repeated tests at 760 degrees of temperature have shown less than 1% evaporation loss. This means a positive saving in oil consumption, since the greatest loss is through evaporation. (Many oils under similar tests show losses up to 42%.)

PARAFFINE BASE. . . . No quick-melting, oil-thinning, character-changing substances!

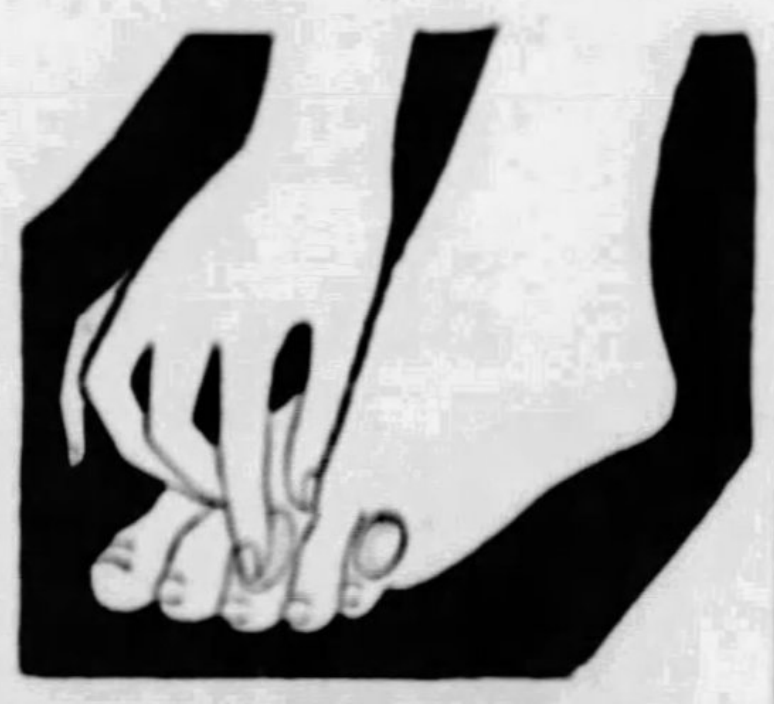
It ends oil level worries and means fewer crankcase drainings.

The surest motor protection and greatest oil economy you have ever known!

Evaporation—The greatest motor oil thief in the world.

ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL

GRADES—"Medium," "Heavy" and "Extra Heavy," to meet individual requirements. All grades have the same outstanding qualities. On sale at all Atlantic dealers and service stations.



Corns
Perfect comfort in one minute

One minute—that's how quickly Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads end corn pain. They remove the cause—friction and pressure of shoes. You keep permanently rid of corns this way if you apply Zino-pads at the first sign of irritation caused by tight shoes.

Powerful liquids or caustic plasters ignore this principle—often making the toes sore from acid burn. Zino-pads won't harm the tenderest skin. Thin, protective, healing—guaranteed safe and sure. At all drug, shoe and dept. stores. Buy a package today—35c.

VACATION WILL AID ICE FUND

School will soon be out and in their new-found freedom from books and desks, boys and girls will turn their attention, as in years gone by, to thoughts of The Sun-Tele Milk and Ice Fund and its tiny charges—the babies of the poor.

Lawn fetes always hold pre-eminence as money makers for the fund, for this particular type of benefit has in it many possibilities for dressing up and for displaying versatility. Almost endless are the varieties of entertainment and sales to be introduced in a lawn fete. And the parents lend their approval and support, too, for they know their children are learning unselfishness in taking thought for others and in giving their time and energy for less fortunate little ones. Then, too, such activity is a safe and creative outlet for that energy that needs to be expended. It keeps busy the minds and fingers that might otherwise find "mischief still to do."

Second only to lawn fetes in favor, comes the lemonade stand, and it is safe to say that more lemonade stands have contributed to Milk and Ice support than to any other cause that has ever been launched. A stand requires but little capital (easily borrowed from mother or dad), a box or two from the corner grocer and some glasses and a pitcher (also from mother), then a hunk of ice from the iceman's wagon and the stage is set. Don't you want to try it for the fun of the thing and to help buy milk for those 300 babies the Milk and Ice Association is trying to save?

The fund today stands at $127.16.

MABEL MAY HOP TODAY

WEATHER ONLY BAR TO SEA FLIGHT

International News Service.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 19.—After changing their plans several times following Miss Amelia Earhart's successful flight to Europe, Miss Mabel Boll and her two companions, Capts. Oliver Le Boutillier and Arthur Argles, have decided to take off on a flight to Rome at noon today, weather permitting.

Although it rained here last night, weather reports indicated flying conditions over the Atlantic Ocean would be good today.

Yesterday morning an announcement was made by the fliers in which they stated they would abandon their plans to fly across the ocean and ship the plane to England for a westward attempt instead.

Later, however, they decided that since everything was in readiness for the flight, they would adhere to their original plans.

BOLT SETS FIRE TO MINE BARN

Lightning, during the storm last night, struck the barn of the English mine of the Pittsburgh and Western Mining Company, near Gregg Station, and destroyed it with all its contents. All livestock was out of the barn when struck. Flames from the burning structure leaped across Noblestown road and set fire to another barn and the homes of two miners. Oakdale firemen saved the second barn and the houses. The loss is about $3,500.

TABBY SAVED THRICE BUT AUTO "GETS" HER

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 19.—"Tabby," pet police station cat, after being rescued three times in the last week from a demented man with a mania for killing cats, was run over and killed by an automobile.

URGES EXPORTS TO CHINA

Pittsburgh's, as well as the nation's, trade relations with China should increase considerably in the near future, A. Bland Calder, of the United States Department of Commerce, told the Foreign Trade Council of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon today. Just returned from his post in Shanghai, Mr. Calder said he intended to advise Pittsburgh business men on how those relations could be improved. The Pittsburgh products already in use in China, he said, include machinery, iron and steel, automotive products and hardware.

Girl Thief Gets Bible Reading Sentence

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 19.—Margaret Smith, 20, who, in police court admitted stealing a watch, silk dress and shoes from dwellings in her neighborhood, was sentenced by Mayor Joseph Cauffiel to read one chapter of the Bible daily for two and one-half years, to attend church once each week, in addition to reporting to the police every three months.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

LUCKY SEVEN

By ALAN REDGATE.

STEPHEN BEAMISH, who was 35 but looked younger, would have hooted at the idea that he was superstitious. He merely believed that it was bad luck to light three cigarets on one match, to have a black cat cross your path, to walk under a ladder, to sit 13 at a table, or to get out of bed on the wrong foot. Chiefly, though, he believed in the strong magnetic influence that the number seven exercised over his existence.

He had been born on the seventh day of the seventh month. There were seven letters in each of his names. At the age of seven he had been the only occupant of a railroad coach to escape death or permanent injury in an accident. In his not far distant crap-shooting days he had once rolled a seven for seven consecutive times, and seven days later, on his birthday, had duplicated the feat. How could one deny such evidence that seven was more than a mere numeral?

Steve was a bond salesman and for the last few months had had hard sledding. Old customers declared they had no funds available for investment and new ones simply weren't to be found. His firm, one of the largest and most substantial, appreciated the situation and had been really decent to its men during the dull period—but still, you couldn't expect a house to carry you indefinitely.

Looking over a little college publication that somebody had left on the trolley car seat, Steve noticed that a student named Tony Bissington figured prominently in its pages. Besides being an all-around athlete, the young man was taking high honors in scholarship. He was, the magazine said, the only son of B. J. Bissington, president of the Delaware and Northwestern Railway.

"Bet the old man is tickled pink," mused Steve. "So many rich men's sons aren't what you'd call shining lights. I guess they feel that the dad's success is enough for one family.

"Success—I wonder what it's made of. There's probably a lot of luck in it. S-u-c-c-e-s-s!"

The first step in selling bonds to a man like B. J. Bissington was, of course, getting the audience—a difficult, not to say almost impossible, problem. But Steve didn't hesitate. Weren't there seven letters in "success?"

The doorman asked his pleasure. Steve said he would like to see the office-manager, and mumbled something about Tony Bissington. He was ushered to a desk at which sat a little man with a rather owlish expression. "Are you Mr. Bissington, Tony's father?" inquired Steve.

The office-manager, not displeased at being mistaken for the president of a great railroad, beamed upon this young fellow who was doubtless a classmate of the big boss' son. He left his desk and personally led the way to a door marked "President," and while Steve waited without, in all probability informed Bissington that one of Tony's friends was there.

After 20 minutes of valuable time had sped by, the magnate hinted gently that perhaps there was some particular business on hand. Steve immediately looked apologetic, in the manner of a green salesman, and admitted that he was selling bonds. Mr. Bissington assumed a tolerant smile.

Probably any friend of Tony's could have sold Mr. Bissington a couple of sound bonds. It would have meant nothing more than a kindly gesture from a pleased father. Steve, however, in hastily running over a list of holdings that Mr. Bissington showed him, was actually able to point out three weak spots. The advisability of taking advantage of a conversion privilege was indicated in one case, and the others had to do with exchanges that would give a greater possibility of appreciation with no lessening of safety.

As a consequence he phoned an order into his firm that was for $24,000.

Taking up his hat, Steve congratulated Mr. Bissington upon Tony's collegiate achievements, and mentioned that he had read of them in the college magazine.

"What! You mean to tell me you aren't acquainted with my son?" roared the railroad president.

"Why, no, sir. I haven't had the pleasure of meeting your son. were you under the impression that I was a friend of his?"

"I certainly was, young man—I certainly was."

Steve's countenance fell with a thud that was almost audible. He was all contrition. "I'm sorry for that, sir. It must have been my fault. If—if—that is, I value your account very highly, but if you gave me the order because you thought I was your son's friend—then probably you'd like to have it canceled." Slowly he started toward the telephone.

"No need of that, son. No need of that," growled Mr. Bissington. "Let it stand—Keep in touch with me now and then. Goodby!"

That magic number seven! It was all due to the seven letters in "success." Sweet numeral!

A correspondence school sign on the wall of a building rudely caught his eye. With one word beneath the other the caption read, "Success or Failure?"

A sensation of weakness swept over him—the cold feeling a man might have on suddenly discovering he had been hunting lions with an empty gun. There was exactly the same number of letters in the last word as in the first.

LIKE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH FOR HIM!

Says Wife, After Ten Herbs Made Husband, 87, Look and Feel Like Man of 50.

Ten Herbs is proving a sensation not only in this city, but throughout this entire section, judging by increasing sales and the reports being received daily from men and women by the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. Every day persons are telling how Ten Herbs gave them surprising relief from disorders arising from sluggish stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Young and old—and children, too—are being restored to normal health and strength.

MRS. LUCY TREASURE

"Although my husband, Mr. E. H. Treasure, is 87 years old, Ten Herbs has proved almost a 'fountain of youth' for him," was the recent statement of Mrs. Lucy Treasure, 727 Waddell Avenue, Donora, Pa., (near Pittsburgh) to the Ten Herbs Man. "For the past eight years he was troubled with his stomach and kidneys," continued Mrs. Treasure, whose husband is a Civil War Veteran. "He suffered with indigestion, and this caused him much pain, due to gas bothering his heart. It was necessary for him to arise almost every hour of the night, on account of his kidneys; and his hands and feet were always cold from poor circulation. His bowels were so inactive he had to take a laxative every night.

"Ten Herbs has made him look and feel better. In fact, a neighbor remarked that Mr. Treasure was looking more like a man of 50 than of 87. His appetite has been greatly improved. Constipation has been relieved, and he sleeps more soundly. His kidneys have been considerably benefited, and his system seems to have been given a thorough cleansing. We both gladly give Ten Herbs a public endorsement."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

THE CONSTANT FLAME

A Fair Maid Meets Love In Strange Surroundings

by WINIFRED VAN DUZER

Emily Goes to the Play and Afterwards the Newspaper Office With King

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

Emily Day and Kitten are daughters of a worker in the Rossiter factory. Both are prevented by poverty from mingling with the socially elect of the little town. Emily has made an ideal of Kent Rossiter. Mary Nolan, whose father keeps a "speakeasy," is devoted to her. Mrs. Frances Haiden, a wealthy interior decorator, takes an interest in her and tells her the only aristocracy is that of work. She gets a job with Mrs. Haiden. Her father dies and Rossiter offers help, which her mother declines. Avis Rossiter's father threatens to disinherit her unless she changes her ways. Great preparations are being made for Avis Rossiter's marriage. Kingdon Coles invites Emily to go to the city to a show.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

HE WAITED for her at the ferry one evening and took her to the rose room of the Van Rex for dinner.

Lights all shaded and soft; the gleam of silver, the hard, white shine of napery. Coles, so very blond, so tall and handsome, suddenly became a Viking.

Color—color, oh, everywhere. In rich gowns of women, flame and vivid blue running along white shoulders; floating in fairy streamers of chiffon and tulle.

Color in the music; the orchestra played simple things that night, songs Emily could understand. The lullaby from "Jocelyn," the Kashmiri song.

Color out in the street where a million jewels seemed to blaze; color in the very roar of traffic.

"I didn't know anything could be so wonderful, King. It makes you feel all sparkle some way."

"And you make me feel so, Emily. Does that please you? That I care so much?"

"Why, of course, King. Oh, look—the woman in ermine—exquisite—"

He gave it up. She was like a child with a new toy; he could wait to make love to her.

Everyone at the theater seemed to know him. The man behind the window called him "Old King Cole," peering at her over his shoulder, and offered him a box which he declined with a fine air of hauteur. It impressed Emily greatly.

Their seats were down in front and for the first few minutes he kept bowing right and left, sometimes smiling in a weary way.

"So popular," she thought. "Why, they all seem to feel honored when he notices them. How important he must be—a power here—"

And the glamour of the evening settled upon him in her mind; all the color, the music, the lights became a part of him and dazzled her. For the first time since she had known Kent Rossiter his image grew dim.

The play perplexed Emily. Like the book by George Bernard Shaw she had tried to read, it seemed to be full of things she couldn't understand. Still everyone else seemed amused — everyone but King who kept muttering, "Stale—oh, rotten!"

And when he asked her, about the middle of the last act, if she'd had enough, she was quite ready to leave.

Still she felt a twinge of pity for a young fellow who stepped up in the lobby and said anxiously, "Hope you liked it, Coles?"

King shrugged dramatically, put out his hands, and the young fellow kept step with them to the door, arguing in a tense, excited voice.

"It's a great idea, Coles. Rough in spots, maybe, but we'll take care of that. Have a heart, will you? All we want is half a chance—"

"You'll get all that's coming and you know it."

"But Coles—"

"Good-night."

CHAPTER XXV.

HE put Emily into a taxi and they started downtown. She was shaking with eagerness.

"Who was he, King? What did he want you to do?"

"Fellow't wrote the play. You won't mind waiting while I do my review? Frightful bore. Sorry to bother."

"Of course I won't mind. How thrilling! He wrote the play? A playwright and such a kid! Well, I see now; he wants you to say pleasant things so people will like it? You'll do that, King? Such a nice young fellow and so anxious to please."

"Listen, Emily," he answered coldly, "there's no sentiment in this game. I've got my public to think of."

He repeated that; "My public." And it struck her now that there was in him a ruthlessness she hadn't suspected. The glamour which had surrounded him dulled a bit.

But she forgot this when the cab threaded the triffc cross-currents of Park Row; it was a long time before the memory of it returned with such stinging force that she told herself bitterly, "That was Kingdon Coles; that was the real King and I paid no attention. If he would be so once—arrogant and cruel—he'd always be so. And I thought—well, it doesn't matter now, I spose—"

A lumbering old elevator arose by jerks to a high floor in a tall building and Coles led Emily through corridors to an immense room where she immediately was dazed by noise.

Dozens of young men were sitting at typewriters pounding like mad; they were coatless and collarless and had their sleeves rolled up and they smoked cigarets which they didn't bother to remove from the sides of their mouths.

In a far corner was a desk where two seemed to be directing the turmoil of the place. One, gray-haired and distinguished, would look up and yell down the room, "Lead coming on that murder story, Bill. Keep it in a stick—"

And the man called Bill would dash for the phone booth where he would talk in a brusque, hurried manner, making scratchy notes on a margin of newspaper.

TORNADOES CUT TRAIL OF DEATH

COLUMBUS, O., June 19.—(AP.)—Tornadoes and wind storms that struck at three Central and Southern Ohio communities today had left a toll of one dead, more than a score of persons injured and damage estimated at $750,000.

Donald Thomas, 10, Negro, was killed by lightning when the storm struck at Columbus late yesterday. The storm then traveled eastward to the summer resort colony at Buckeye Lake, near Newark, where a tornado cut a swath about a city block wide for nearly four miles.

Nearly a score of the summer colony residents were injured when their cottages were picked up and carried from 40 to 60-feet and overturned. Approximately 100 cottages were damaged during the three minutes the storm was at the height of its fury. Loss was estimated at $250,000.

Several hours later a tornado struck at Whipple, Washington county, where residents said there was not a house left undamaged. Henry Erb, Whipple postmaster, was caught beneath a falling wall and was inured severely. At Lowell, Mabel Schwenderman, infant daughter of Cornelius Schwenderman, suffered a crushed skull from falling debris.

Washington county authorities were on guard today giving protection to those made homeless and guarding their belongings. Several points were without communication because of the destruction of telegraph and telephone lines.

AUTHOR DIES IN CRASH

International News Service.

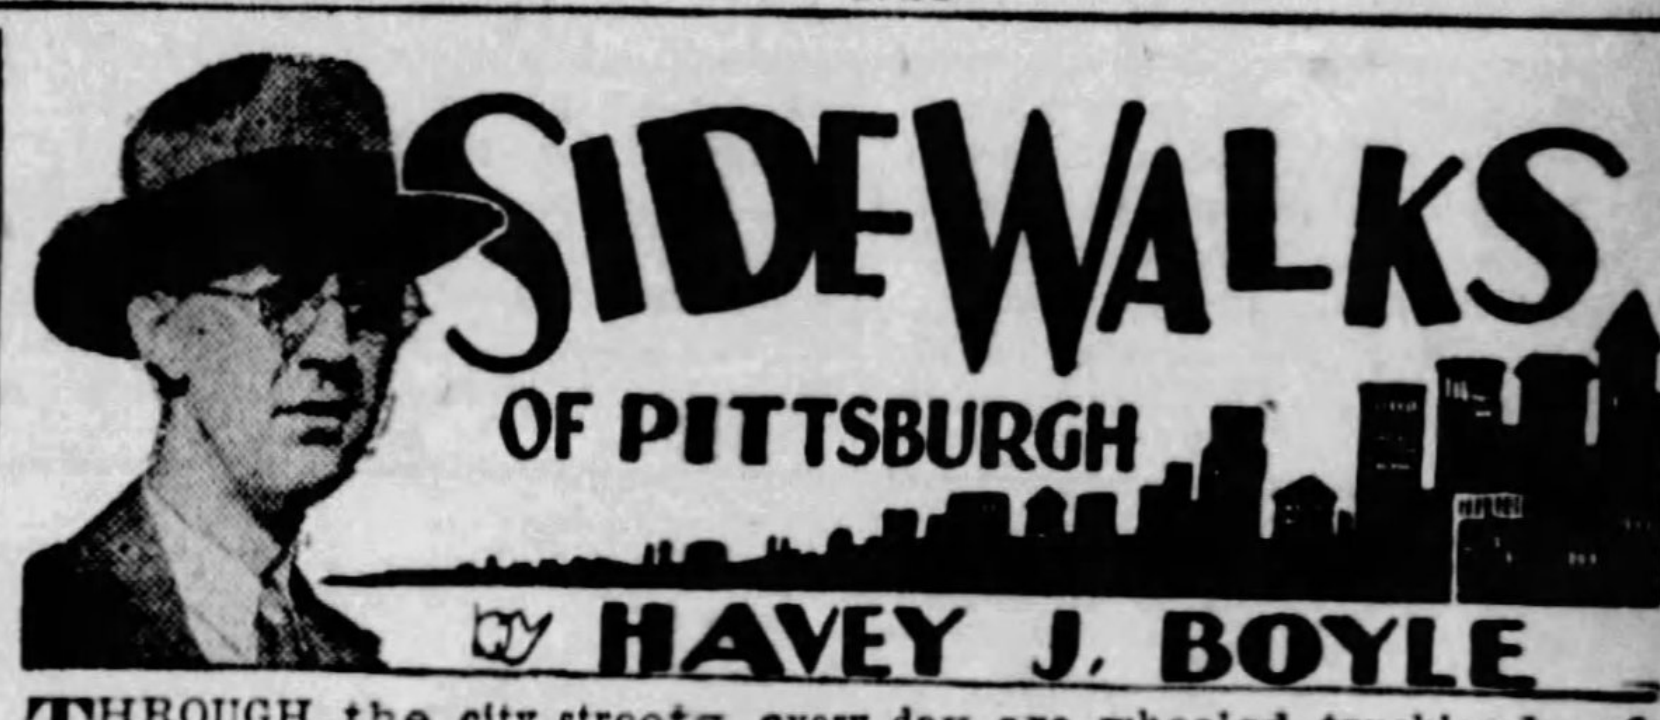
CORK, Ireland, June 19.—Donn Byrne, widely known in America and Europe as the author of Messer Marco Polo and other novels and short stories, was killed here today in an automobile accident. He was 39 years old.

Byrne had only recently purchased an automobile, and last night he went motoring alone from Coolmain Castle near Bandon. The motorcar was discovered later overturned by the seashort, the author's body beside it.

BORN IN NEW YORK

Born in New York City, Byrne was educated in Ireland, later studying English literature in Paris and Leipzig. His name was Brian Oswald Donn-Byrne, but his nom-de-plume of "Donn Byrne" was the only name he had used for a number of years.

Married in 1911 to Miss Dorothy Cadogan, of Dublin, Byrne returned to the United States the same year and engaged in newspaper work. His first book, "Stories Without Women," was published in 1915. A number of other books followed, but it was not until 1921, that he won his greatest success with "Messer Marco Polo," when he was hailed by critics as one of the world's finest literary craftsmen. Other novels followed, including "The Wind Bloweth," "Blind Rafferty," and "O'Malley of Shanganagh." Byrne's background and upbringing were entirely Irish.



THROUGH the city streets every day are wheeled truckloads of money. It is conveyed from other banks to Pittsburgh banks and expressed from Pittsburgh banks to banks in other cities. The cars are armored, with but a peep-hole in the rear, through which a guard peers and through which, if prompted, he might shoot with the gun he carries. Money has so many conveniences that gentlemen who don't want to work sometimes are tempted to steal it from gentlemen who do work.

The average man looks at these truckloads of money running along the streets. He may give a thought to the possibility of a holdup, but he seldom figures what he would do if someone a very long time ago had not invented money as a system of exchange.

* * *

WITH nothing better to do we watched a truck pass the other day and thought: "Wouldn't it be funny with no money and no banks?" Your correspondent, for one, would be in a difficult pickle. Suppose we were hungry and there was no money. We'd have to go into a restaurant downtown and say to the proprietor: "Let me have a roast beef sandwich?" He would say: "What will you give me in exchange?" We'd say: "I'll write some words for you." "But I don't want any words today." Then we'd have to spend a great part of the day finding someone willing to exchange a roast beef sandwich for a paragraph or two paragraphs or as many paragraphs as the roast beef was deemed to be worth.

The fellow who raises onions wouldn't be so bad off. He could exchange some of his onions for some roast beef and a few more onions for some bread and a few more onions for butter, if he, like us, likes butter on his sandwich. That would take him all morning, probably. Finally, he'd get his roast beef sandwich complete and then he would have to spend the rest of the afternoon looking for someone who wanted onions so he could get what he wanted for his evening meal.

* * *

THIS would give him very little time between picking onions and exchanging them to go to the movies. The movie stars themselves would have trouble giving much time to their art. What if they paid off Adolph Menjou in potatoes every month. He would find himself with a lot of potatoes, contributed by men who paid two or three potatoes to see him act, and he'd have to go around trading some of the potatoes he didn't eat for some apples. Meanwhile a lot of the potatoes might go bad and he wouldn't get any apples for the bad potatoes. In the screen magazines you would read: "Menjou's New Contract Calls For 4,000 Bushels of Potatoes a Month." "Noted Star Gets 2,000-bushel Increase."

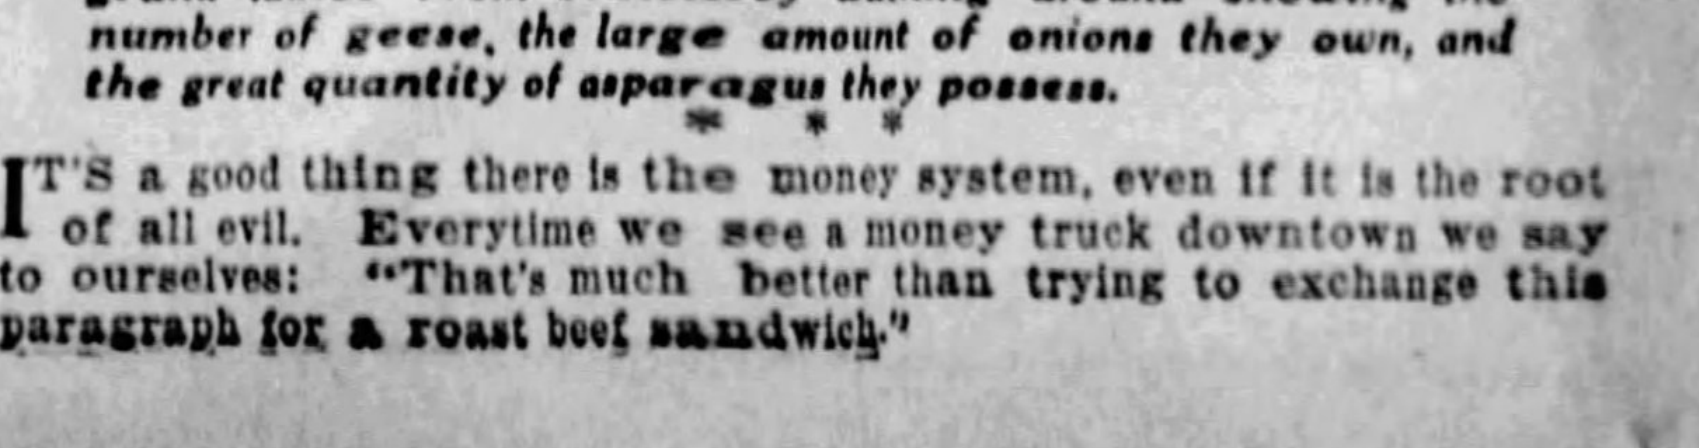
Instead of showing you a nice home, with beautiful furnishings, Menjou would take his visitors into his home and say: "See all my nice potatoes," and he'd have so many there wouldn't be any place to sit down.

* * *

INSTEAD of trucks going through the downtown section, loaded with money, and instead of men and women walking the streets with pieces of paper and pieces of silver and gold called money in their pockets you'd see a lot of people walking around with a cow, sacks of corn, a bed-stead and many other articles that would cause such a traffic jam that policemen would be angrier than usual.

* * *

Instead of wearing beautiful diamonds, expensive furs, and other things that money readily buys we would see the grand ladies from Sewickley walking around showing the number of geese, the large amount of onions they own, and the great quantity of asparagus they possess.



IT MUST BE GRAND TO BE RICH-!

IT'S a good thing there is the money system, even if it is the root of all evil. Everytime we see a money truck downtown we say to ourselves: "That's much better than trying to exchange this paragraph for a roast beef sandwich."

TWO STOLEN IDOLS
MYSTERY! THRILLS! ADVENTURE! LOVE!!! by FRANK L PACKARD

Verna Safe on Bob's Boat Calls Him Brigand And Is Hysterical

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The body of Tom Kingsley is picked up by Capt. "Scarface" Sweeney and his mate, Marlow, off Singapore. Tom's brother, Robert, also an old "sea dog," is notified of the death and receives articles found on the corpse. Among these are two small but handsomely carved Ivory Idols. Robert Kingsley has good reason to believe that Hsi Yan, an ancient enemy, has returned after 30 years to seek vengeance. The Idols are stolen and Young Bob starts out to recover them. After many adventures Bob and Verna Lyle are both prisoners at Richardson's plantation. The Malay whom Bob had rescued plans Verna's and Bob's escape. Bob, still bound, is carried to safety by the Malay.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"IT IS too far for them to go around," he said, "and long before they found a place where they could go down to the beach, we would be on the Alita. And as for scaling the cliff, look upward above your head, Tuan. See! The moonlight shows no wider than a thread. And, Tuan, that is not because the walls here lean together, but because, even from the place where we entered, the cliff rises upward to a great height."

"But they don't know anything about the lay of the land around here," Bob Kingsley jerked out. "I'd say it was even betting they'd try one plan or the other."

"Then, Tuan, we are safe," Tifu grunted complacently.

"We'll see!" Bob Kingsley said grimly. "You may be right—but we'll do our cheering from the deck of the Alita! I regret to say I am afraid that it wasn't Chenshu I hit back there—and Chenchu won't take this lying down!"

Again Kafan returned, and again the two Malays carried Bob Kingsley in the retreat down the trail—and again and still again this procedure was repeated. hTere was no sign, no sound to indicate that they were being followed, but their progress was slow nevertheless, for Nanu had in no way exaggerated the difficulties of the descent. The trail became more and more broken; at times it became no more than a narrow ledge upon which there was scarcely a foot-hold; at times again Bob Kingsley, in his semi-helpless condition with fettered hands and legs, had to be lowered down the sheer face of the rock, his body dangling and suspended, while Kafan held him above and Tifu caught him from below.

But finally they came to the level of the beach, and stepped out on the beach itself. And here in the moonlight Bob Kingsley could see the Alita lying at anchor, as Nanu had said, a quarter of a mile out from shore.

Tifu pointed across the short stretch of sand to where, already close to the water's edge, a boat was pulling rapidly in for shore.

"See, Tuan!" he said. "There is Nissan now. And now we will carry the Tuan to the boat."

Bob Kingsley rattled his leg-irons in exasperation.

"Oh, all right! Blast these things — and Richardson!" he growled.

They set him down, then, in the stern of the boat, and as it was shoved off and Nissan began to pull out to the schooner, Bob Kingsley swung around in his seat and stared curiously behind him at the cliff, whose seemingly strange peculiarities he had not at all clearly understood from either Nanu's or Tifu's somewhat crude attempts to describe them. The cliff rose, he could see now, to an amazing height; yet, with every stroke of the oars as the boat got further and farther away, its height seemed constantly to increase, as though to the original mass magical additions were being made with every second that passed. He frowned for an instant, puzzled over this—and then he smiled a little self-commiseratingly at himself. Of course! For 100 feet or so upward from the base, the cliff was almost perpendicular, but above that point the trend of it was sharply inward. It became merely a question of the angle from which it was viewed. From the base of the cliff, naturally, the actual top of it could not be seen—in fact, it was just coming into view now, and he was already a good hundred yards out from the shore! And then suddenly his eyes caught something quite other than the now exposed topmost edge of the cliff itself. Silhouetted there against the skyline in the moonlight was the figure of a man. He touched Tifu on the arm.

"Look!" he said. "They seem to have managed it after all!"

Tifu stared at the upper face of the cliff for an instant.

"True," he answered. "But it has taken time. And the Tuan can see now why the beach could not be fired upon from above, for they could not come down the smoothness of the cliff, and the distance out here when at last we we can be seen is too great to cause fear."

"True," echoed Bob Kingsley laconically.

The figure on the skyline was joined by another, and from one of these now there came a tiny and momentary red flare, that the distance reduced to the likeness of a match that had been lighted and then almost instantly extinguished again.

"Well, I'm damned!" gritted Bob Kingsley through suddenly clenched teeth—and clapped his iron-linked hands to his shoulder.

"What is it?" Tifu cried out anxiously. "Are you hit, Tuan?"

"A chance shot!" Bob Kingsley laughed shortly. "As you said, Tifu, the range is great, so a half-spent bullet can hardly do much harm! But row a little faster if you can."

"May the curses of the Evil One be upon them!" Tifu roared savagely—and, grasping a pair of oars himself, shouted to Nissan to row with all his strength.

There might have been more shots from the cliff. Bob Kingsley did not know. It was rather queer—only a flesh wound probably. It did not bleed very much, or hurt very much—but he felt slightly nauseated, slightly giddy. And then the nausea passed, but the giddiness remained. He did not know how long it took to reach the schooner's side; but he stood steadily enough upon his feet when they had hoisted him to the deck, and his voice was cool and in control as he spoke to Nanu at the rail.

"Get under way at once, Nanu," he said. "When that's done, you can get a cold chisel and a hammer, and spend the rest of the night getting these irons off me! Meanwhile, where's Miss Lyle?"

"In the cabin, O Master," Nanu answered. "But the Tuan's wound—"

"Nothing to it!" said Bob Kingsley shortly. "Carry on as I've told you. Kafan, give me a hand down into the cabin."

He crossed the deck to the cabin entrance, and Kafan helped him down the steps of the companionway—but abruptly at the foot of these he halted.

Under the swinging lamp, Verna stood facing him across the table. The color seemed to have fled even from her lips, but her eyes were hot with outrage.

The giddiness was returning. He tried to smile. He did not know that he made only a grimace.

"So you have managed to escape from Mr. Richardson, have you?" she cried out hysterically. "I have been praying that he would succeed in recapturing you! Your men said it was not Richardson with whom you were fighting, but I did not and I do not believe them. The only thing they have told me that I believe, because it is obviously true now, is that this is your schooner. The rest I can see for myself. You have had it waiting here to pick you up on the arrival of the Monotah at Aoru, at which time, I suppose, you had it all arranged it your own mind that your ugly work would be accomplished, and you would be ready to take to your cowardly heels! You brigand! The tales that have been told of you paint you a saint compared with what you really are!"

His lips were dry. He circled them with his tongue. The giddiness was growing worse, his head was spinning like a top. There was whisky there in the stand on the locker. His leg-irons clanked as he shuffled across the cabin. He poured out a half tumblerful of the raw spirit and drank it down at a single gulp; and then he turned again to find Verna still watching him—but there was a sudden terror in her face and eyes now.

"Oh, my God!" she moaned—and, sinking down over the table, buried her face in her outflung arms.

The stimulant did not seem to have done any good. He reached out his manacled hands across the table as though to touch in diffident assurance the bowed head before him—and drew them back and pressed them fiercely to his temples. He reeled then, and, as Kafan caught him, he motioned toward the deck.

"Air! Get me out into the air!" he said thickly; then, in a sort of self-amazed mumble as, with Kafan's help, he stumbled up the companionway: "Can—can you beat it! I—I think—I'm going to faint!"

Bustle Effect

The changing fashions, having run a cycle, have brought back the old-fashioned bustle, thus reviving the quaint style of the frocks of 1880. Developed of chiffon and lace, the chiffon is draped into a bustle effect at the back, the lace skirt dipping nearly to the floor in back and rising to the knee in front.

Madge Promises to Bring About a Meeting Between Noel and Mary

"ISN'T there some way?" Noel Veritzen asked for the second time, "that I can meet Mary without her knowing that I'm around until I speak to her? Then I could make her listen to me."

"I don't see how, Noel," I said, for the remembrance of Mary's set face when she refused to come downstairs to see the young violinist was strong. Then, as another recollection flashed upon me, I took a step toward him and clapped him smartly on the shoulder.

"Of course there is," I said excitedly. "You know, of course, about the beach picnic on Saturday at which your father is to be host."

"Yes," he said doubtfully, "but there'll be at least a dozen people in our party——"

"Fourteen, if you count Katie and Jim," I amended, smiling, "and you'd better count them, if you want something to eat."

"And it's a public beach," he went on, patently seeing no opportunity for speech with Mary at our prospective merrymaking.

"I don't think you realize just what a Graham beach picnic is," I returned with a reassuring little laugh. "In the first place, while it is a public beach, we choose a spot where almost never does anyone else come. Besides, there is an unwritten rule in this section that no beach picknickers shall come within hearing distance of any others if it can possibly be avoided. Then, too, we always stay down after supper. We never come home until late. We wrap Junior in a blanket when he goes to sleep and later carry him to the car. So, you see, he really goes to sleep at almost his regular hour, and the rest of us have a clear conscience about staying as long as we wish. There's a moon next Saturday night, but there'll be almost an hour of friendly dusk before it rises, and if you and Mrs. Underwood and I cannot contrive an opportunity for you to see Mary for a few minutes in that interval we're worse strategists than I think we are."

His face cleared magically, and, seizing my hands, he kissed them gratefully.

"That is all I ask, a chance to talk to her," he said. "I must find out——"

He broke off abruptly, glanced as if involuntarily toward the hall. I wondered if he feared that Eleanor Lincoln might have come out of the library and overheard him.

"But I am keeping you an unconscionable time from your work," he said ruefully. "I didn't realize——"

"Don't think of it again," I urged. "It has been but a few minutes. And I'm not going to stand on ceremony with you. I shall turn you over to Mrs. Underwood and go back to Miss Lincoln. Oh, Lillian!"

I raised my voice only a note or two, but Lillian evidently was waiting for the call, for she almost at once came out upon the veranda, and, with a hasty "good-by," I hurried back to the library.

Eleanor Lincoln was seated just as I had left her, still apparently absorbed in studying. But before I had left the room I had noticed a page engraving opposite to the one which she was reading. A quick glance showed me the same picture. She had not turned a page since I left.

The discovery did not surprise me, for I knew that the girl's vanity, if no deeper feeling, had been sorely wounded by Noel Veritzen's appearance at the farmhouse and his urgent wish to see Mary Harrison. But that she still intended to play the role of amused sympathetic friend to Noel I realized when she looked up at my entrance with a clever simulation of mirthful interest.

"Was the young man successful?" she asked. "Would she see him?"

"Joy of Living"

"Boys will be boys"—happy boys—only when they're healthy boys. And who wouldn't be both happy and healthy after breakfasts of Heinz Rice Flakes—the crispy, crunchy, new cereal food with a flavor like toasty nutmeats?

Those are breakfasts that start folks off right... And that keep them "right".

For, by a special Heinz process, Heinz Rice Flakes are naturally "laxatized" by the use of the natural roughage of the rice itself. This process was developed by Heinz. It is owned exclusively by Heinz. In no other cereal food can you get the precise laxative qualities of Heinz Rice Flakes. So gentle. So natural!

Grown-ups as well as youngsters like Heinz Rice Flakes for they add to the "Joy of Living" and the fun of good health.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Brides Fail to Monopolize June as Garden Parties, Golf and Other Functions Fill Calendar

THESE are busy days, aren't they? June is always a full month from the social standpoint, but as the mother of one bride remarked just the other day, there seems to be an unusually large number of weddings crowded into these few weeks. Important weddings, too.

But even so, brides aren't monopolizing the spotlight. Just this week, for instance, there is a debut party in Sewickley, the Civic Club garden party, the women's invitation golf tournament at the Allegheny Country Club and innumerable parties—all in addition to quite a few large weddings.

One or two of the girls, however, who might be expected to have elaborate weddings with large bridal parties and formal settings have dispensed with all this and are being married very quietly with no one present excepting the two families. Elizabeth Mellon has decided on this sort of ceremony, due, of course, to the fact that her mother has been so ill. She is not having any attendants, nor will her fiance, John B. Sellers, son of Mrs. Harry D. Sellers, of Westminster place.

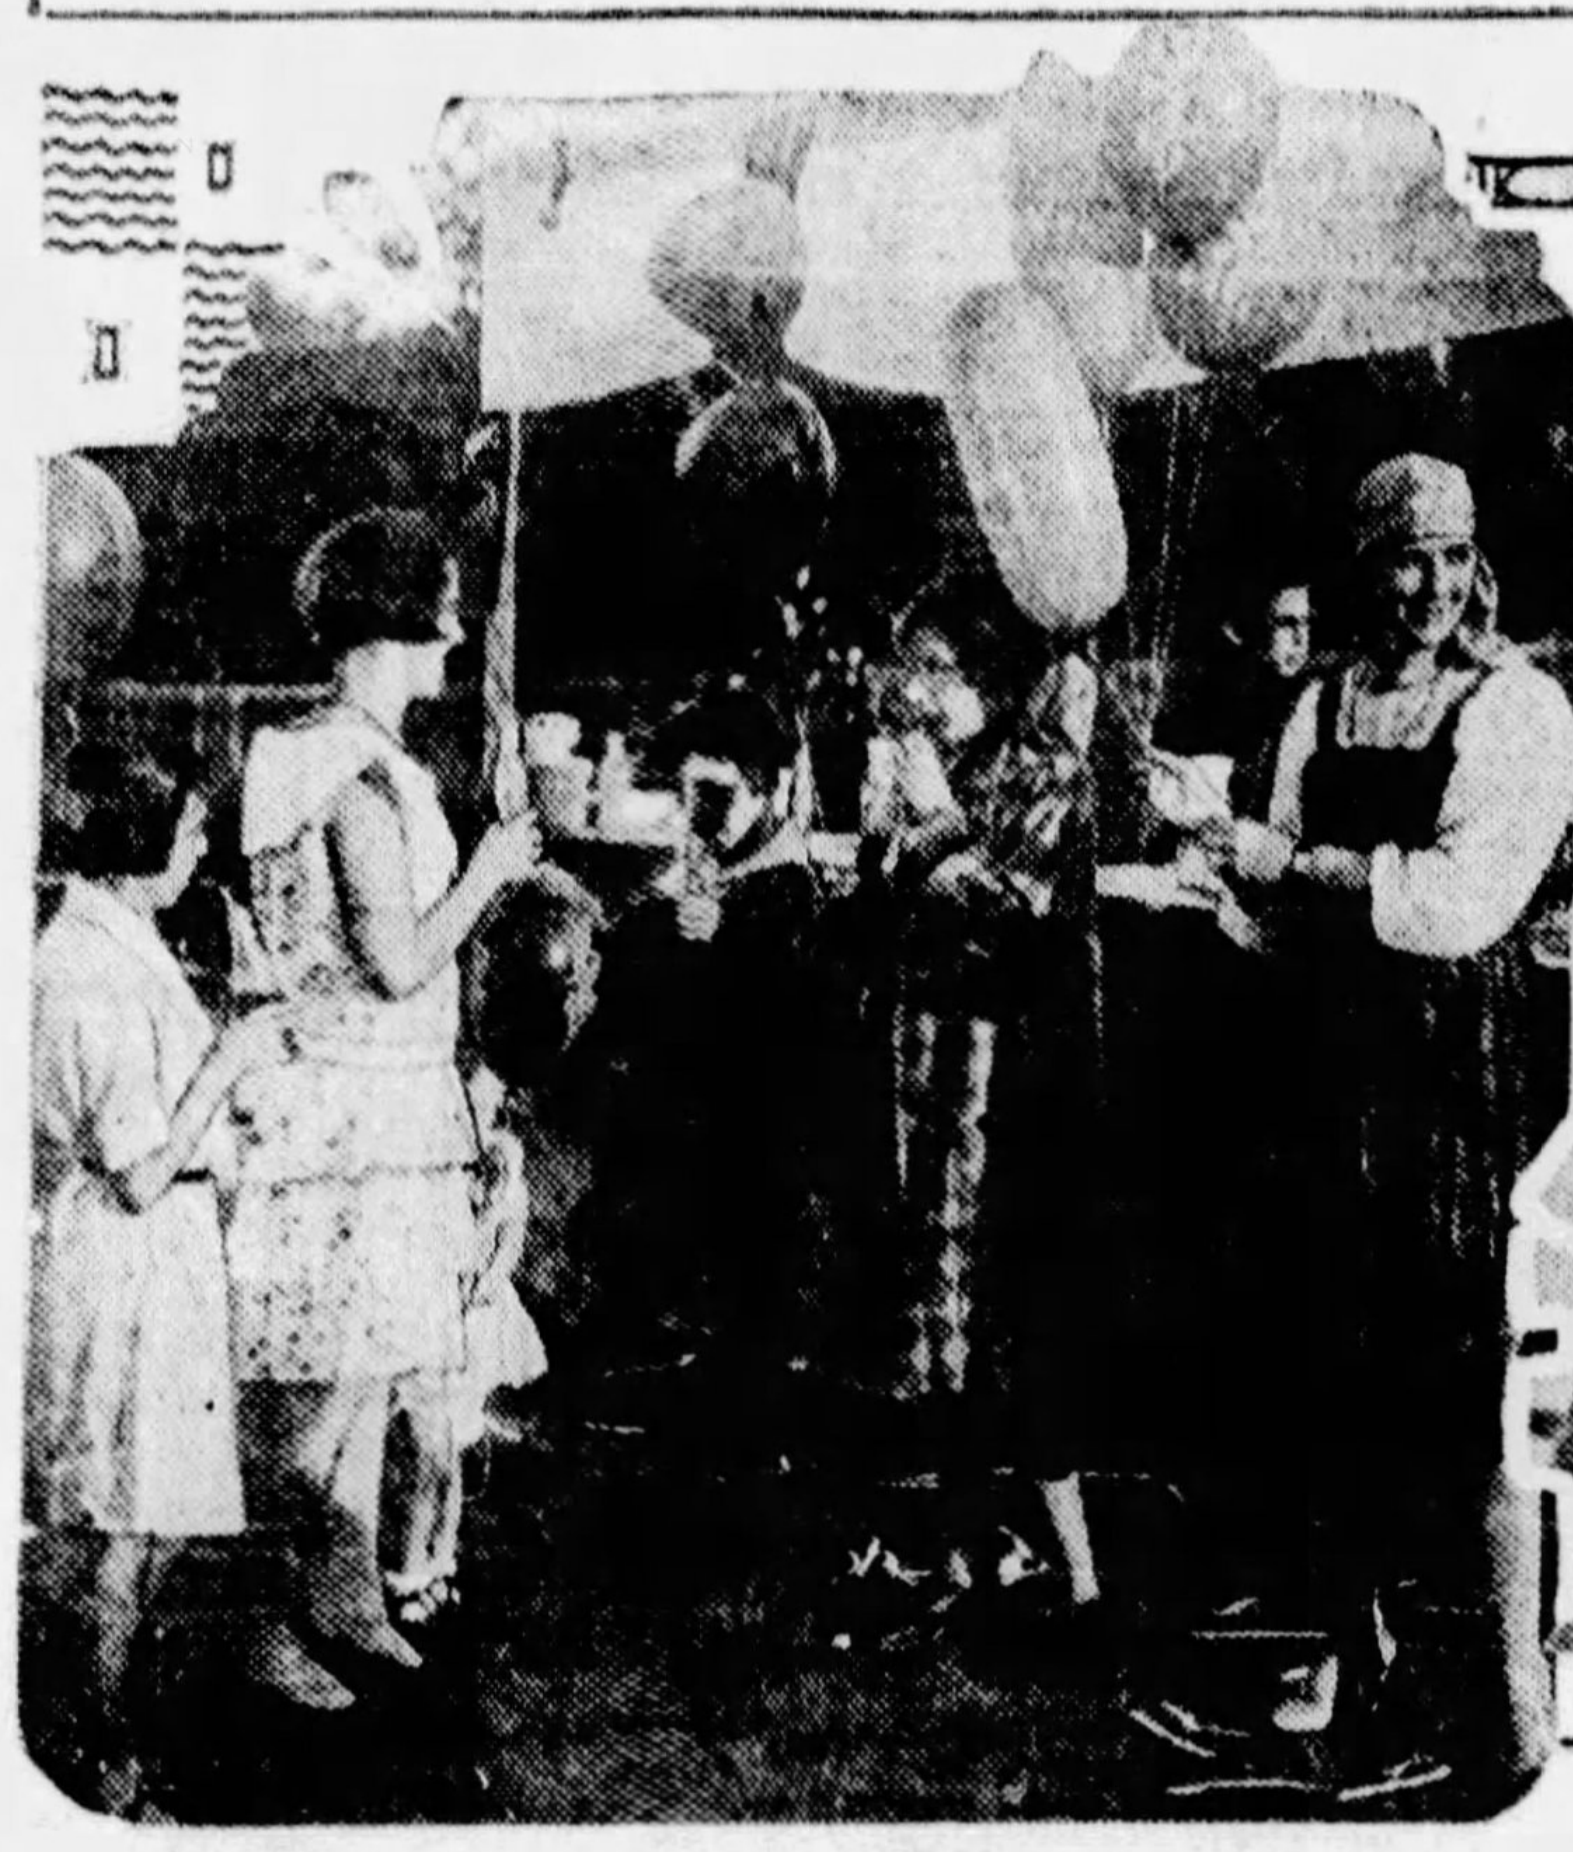
Elizabeth will be married next Monday, you know, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander Mellon, in North Negley avenue. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church. I understand that no parties are being arranged for Elizabeth, because of the extreme simplicity of the wedding and, naturally, Mrs. Mellon's illness. But next fall when the new Mr. and Mrs. Sellers are settled, there will probably be quite a few parties given for the popular Elizabeth.

THE college and finishing schools are closing their doors for the summer, and our girls are coming back home again. Some, of course, will go straight to the summer homes of their families, and their Pittsburgh friends will probably not see them until they come to the city early in the fall to get ready for another year at school. A few have not made any definite plans for the next couple of months, but the families are waiting until all the young folks are home from school so that they may plan the summer together.

Lucy Ward got home this morning from Smith College, I hear, and is with her father and mother, the T. Coleman Wards, of Walnut street. The Wards haven't made their plans for the summer, I understand. Lucy, who is completing her junior year at Smith, was a debutante last winter, you will remember, coming out during her Christmas holidays.

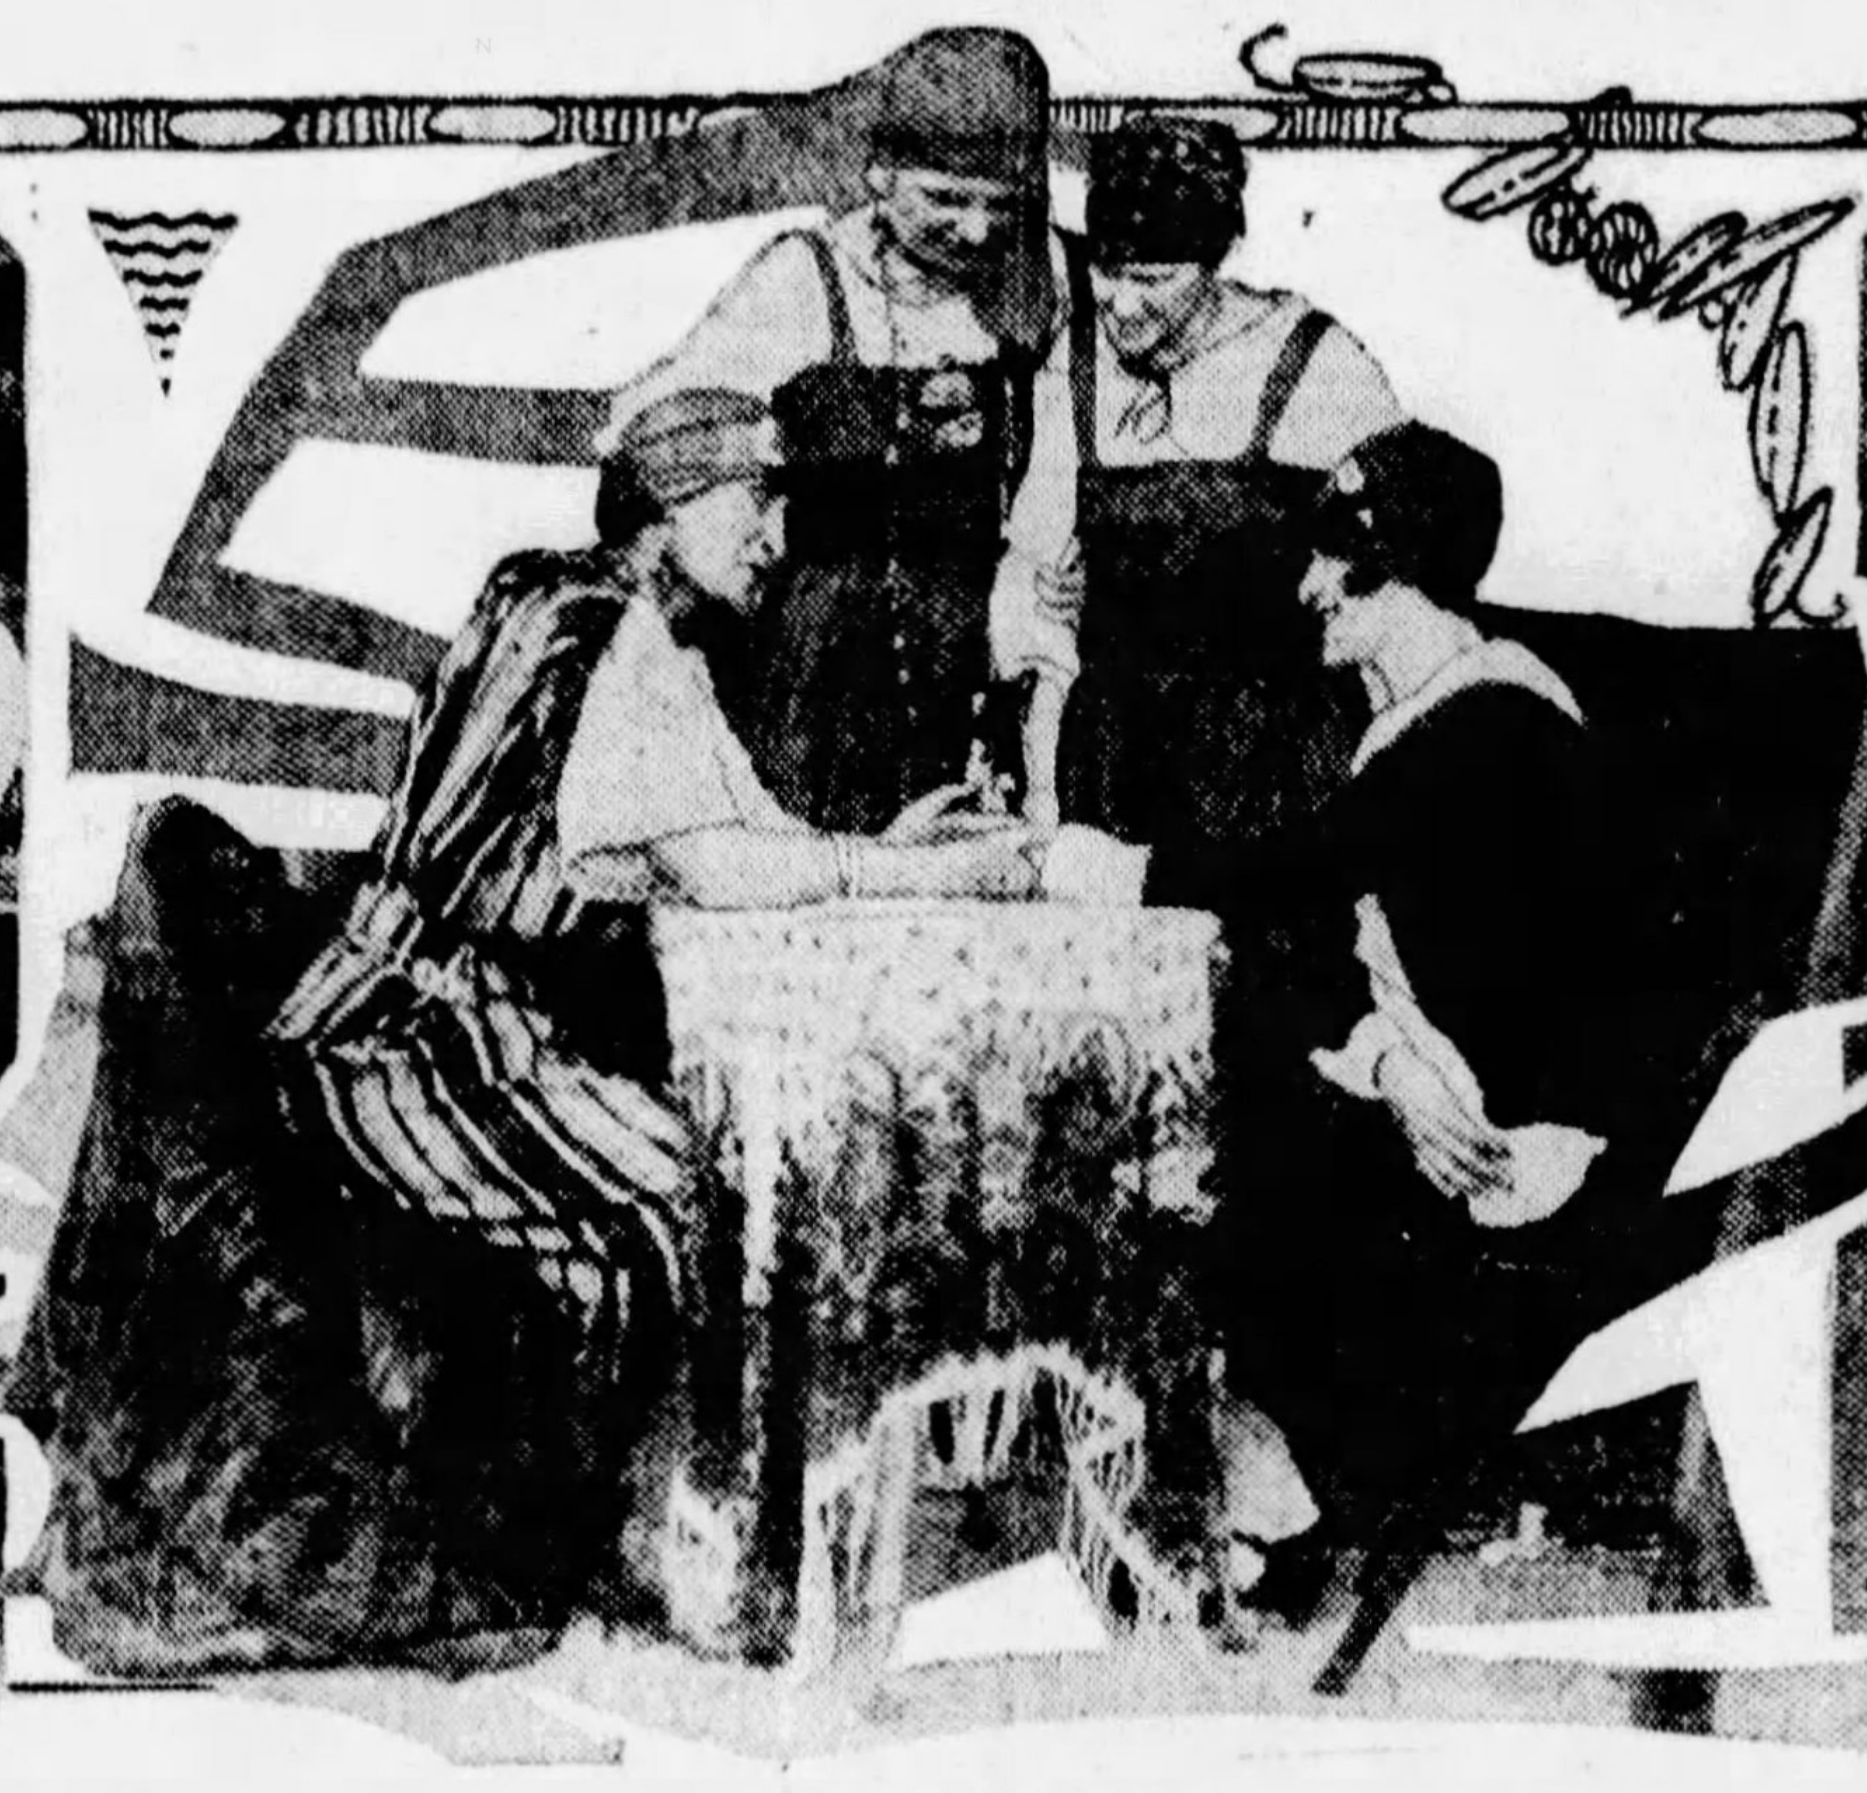
Another Smith girl returning home is Nancy Hamilton, daughter of the Charles Lee Hamiltons, of Beaver avenue, Sewickley.

MT. LEBANON -:- WOMAN'S CLUB STREET FAIR -:- VENETIAN COLOR



BALLOONS

'Most everybody bought balloons from Mrs. J. S. Ervin (right) at the Italian street fair which the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club held last week.



FORTUNES

Mrs. C. W. Scheck, as Madama Zoudella, told only good fortunes as Mrs. Clifton Taylor, Mrs. Raymond Kramer and Mrs. L. L. Greer looked on and listened.

THEY HELP

And here are some of the "tray girls"—Mrs. J. S. Huey, Mrs. W. C. Allen, Mrs. J. Lee Austin and Mrs. W. S. Speir—who helped increase the proceeds.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Miss Carol Betty Nieubaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry John Grant Niebaum, of Evaline street, to Paul George Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin G. Beyer, of this city.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Rosemary C. Pershing, daughter of Mrs. Mary K. Pershing, of Portland street, East End, and Robert G. Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brandt, of Dalzell place, which was solemnized Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Brandt are motoring in the East and after July 15 will be at home in Wilkinsburg.

MRS. MILTON B. CREASY entertained Saturday afternoon in her home in Brilliant avenue, Aspinwall, with a bridge luncheon and shower in honor of Miss Gladys Meyers, whose marriage to C. Maxwell Creasy will be solemnized this summer. There were 32 guests.

* * *

THE wedding of Miss Margaret Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Riley, of Aspinwall, and Paul G. Potter, son of Mrs. Lettie Potter, of Coudersport, Pa., took place Saturday at 4:30 o'clock in the Aspinwall Presbyterian Church with the Rev. H. A. Gearhart officiating. The bride wore white crepe satin with hat to match and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Catherine Cunningham, of Vineland, N. J., as maid of honor, appeared in yellow georgette with hat to match, and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Marion Hedden, in peach georgette; Miss Charlotte Marks, in orchid; Miss Helen Trimble, in pink, and Miss Caroline Riley, sister of the bride, in blue. They wore hats to match and carried Columbia roses. William R. White, of Coudersport, was best man and the ushers included Henry Reismeyer, Earl Schuetz, of Pittsburgh; Jack Sheppard, of Philadelphia, and Milton Potter, brother of the bridegroom. After an Eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Potter will live in New York.

INVITATIONS for the Dilworth Hall garden party planned for tomorrow at the home of Mrs. George M. Swan have been recalled owing to illness in Mrs. Swan's family.

* * *

MRS. JOHN LOGAN BOYD, Jr., of Seattle, Wash., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Catharine Boyd, to George Villiers Calhoun, of Seattle. Miss Boyd's father was the late John L. Boyd, Jr., of Pittsburgh and Seattle, and she is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Goehring, of Juniata place. She is a graduate of Wellesley College, and Mr. Calhoun was graduated from the University of Washington. A late June wedding is planned.

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Flossie S. Wenzel, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude K. Wenzel, of Harmarville, and James J. Howard, of Lonaconing, Md., was solemnized this morning at 11:30 o'clock in the Wenzel home by the Rev. Dr. J. T. Adams, pastor of the Harmarville United Presbyterian Church. A breakfast followed the ceremony, with covers laid for 12 at the bridal table. Mr. and Mrs. Howard will take an eastern motor trip, and after July 1 will be at home in Harmarville.

WOMEN VOTERS SPONSOR PACIFIST CONFERENCE

A GREAT deal of interest attaches to the proposed plans, which are still very much in embryo, for a one-day Western Pennsylvania conference of the Committee on the Cause and Cure of War. November 15 has been set as the tentative date, and a notable speaker will be procured for the evening session. Lady Astor has been invited to be the speaker, but is unable to accept. The meeting will be sponsored by the state League of Women Voters, the national organization of which is one of the nine bodies comprising the national Committee on the Cause and Cure of War.

"THE ROMANCE OF CITIES" and "Famous Highways and Byways" are the two euphonious subjects chosen by the Epoch Club for next year's study. The year will begin with president's day on October 18 in the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Charles Orchard, of Hobart street. The program committee has assigned, among the numerous papers, such subjects as "Polperro," "The Road to Canterbury," "Chester-Roman Roads," "The Ancient Capitals of Scandinavia," "The Cities on the Danube," "The Singular History of Florence," "Hill Towns of Italy," "Appian Way," "The Most Picturesque Place in the World—Toulouse to Albi," "Cities of the Moors," "Spanish Towns in America," "Highways of the Pacific Coast," "Shore Drives of New England," "Shenandoah Valley Trail" and "Pennsylvania Highways and Beauty Spots," which give some idea of the scope and interest of the work as outlined. The club has increased its number of afternoon meetings and will include two guest days, December 6 and January 31, and on the afternoon of March 29 will have a meeting at which Miss Alice T. McGirr will give a book talk. The annual meeting on May 23 will take the form of a picnic.

MEMBERS of the President's Association, Ladies of the G. A. R. of Western Pennsylvania, will hold a basket picnic in Westinghouse Park on Thursday.

A LUNCHEON will be given Saturday at 12:30 o'clock in the Fort Pitt Hotel honoring Mrs. Adaline W. Barnes, past grand matron, Order of the Eastern Star of Pennsylvania, who has just been reelected to serve her sixteenth year as grand secretary of the order. All members of the organization in Western Pennsylvania have been invited to attend the luncheon, reservations for which are being taken by Miss Elizabeth Irwin, of Kentucky avenue.

A GARDEN party will be given tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Church of the Redeemer, Squirrel Hill, by the diocesan Girls' Friendly Society. Tea will be served in the afternoon in charge of the officers and honorary associates; the Ascension and St. James' branches will have charge of supper; Epiphany branch, of lemonade; Trinity, of ice cream; Jeannette and Turtle Creek, of the grab bag, and the Senior Club, of candy. In case of rain the affair will be conducted in the parish house. Mrs. James S. Douthitt is president of the diocesan G. F. S.

MRS. LIDA SCHAFER, Mrs. E. Reich, Mrs. Beatrice Fasnacht and Mrs. Bertha Brown are to be judges for the races which will feature the St. Clair Community Center's annual picnic July 24 in McKinley Park. Mrs. Estella Hurley is chairman of the picnic committee. Parents' night is to be celebrated by the center tonight in the Spring Lane School, with Miss Mae McCarthy as hostess, and on July 26 a banquet will be held in the school.

* * *

MRS. VAL E. SCHOTT, newly-elected president of the Crafton Woman's Club, entertained with an informal luncheon in the Congress of Clubs yesterday. The club editors of the daily newspapers were invited to meet the Crafton club's new press chairman, Mrs. C. E. Stevenson.

Sun-Tele Jubilee Coupon

JUBILEE MANAGER, SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

I would like to attend The Sun-Telegraph Boys' and Girls' Jubilee July 3.

My folks are regular readers of The Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh's greatest newspaper.

Please mail a ticket with the 14 coupons—good for admission to 12 amusement attractions and for the "Cream of the Valley" French Vanilla Ice Cream Bar, also the balloon.

NAME ....

STREET NUMBER ....

POSTOFFICE ....

FORM CLUBS FOR JUBILEE OUTING

Oh, boy, if you could see the Sun-Tele Jubilee Manager's morning mail!

Can you imagine a big mail sack filled with letters from boys and girls, and what a pile it makes when the sack is dumped on a desk?" There are letters coming from the Jubilee Manager's young friends from all parts of Pittsburgh and all the surrounding towns telling that they will attend the big Sun-Tele Jubilee at National Amusement Park, above Aspinwall, Tuesday, July 3.

The mail contains thousands of coupons which the boys and girls of the Sun-Tele family are using in their applications for free tickets to the park and its host of attractions. The Jubilee Manager and his assistants are checking these up in the order of their receipt and within a few days will commence mailing out the tickets.

Remember that one ticket only can be sent for each coupon. A mother wrote that she wanted three tickets for her children, George, John and Mary, but she put all three names on one coupon clipped from the Sun-Tele. Only one ticket can be sent because only one coupon was filled out. Two more coupons should be sent in, one for John and one for Mary.

So please bear in mind that where there are several children in a family or group, fill out a coupon with the name and address of each child. As many coupons as you like may be mailed to the Jubilee Manager in one envelope, but in the outgoing mail the tickets are sent individually.

No duplicate tickets will be mailed. No boy or girl would ask for more than one ticket because they know that this would be unfair to other boys and girls. Names are carefully recorded and not more than one ticket will be sent to each person.

Several boys' and girls' clubs have already lined up for the big outing. Each boy and girl in the club filled out a coupon and these were mailed to the jubilee manager by the chaperon, who will look after their welfare at the park. Boy Scouts are adopting the same scheme in their applications and the Jubilee Manager thinks it won't be long until the Girl Scouts make the same arrangements.

Several applicants will be disappointed because the Jubilee Manager could not read their writing or decipher the address. Again he must caution his young friends to write very, very plainly.

So much for the ticket business; now let's mention for a moment the good times everybody will have. In the first place every boy and girl will get free ice cream, "the cream of the valley," which comes in a French Vanilla bar and is the best ever. The airplane swings, the Ferris wheel, the merry-go-round and all the other attractions listed on the ticket will be free and everybody is guaranteed a good time—a regular circus in which all the guests of the Sun-Tele will join.

Send in your coupon early!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THE MODERN LOVERS

IN THE old days, a man talked sentiment in the hope that it would lead to a kiss; in these days, the girl gives him a kiss in the hope that it will lead to sentiment.

* * *

A man may go right on loving a woman after she has broken his heart, but never after she has fractured his vanity or smashed one of his illusions about himself.

* * *

Romance is just the sparkle on the jewel of love—but then, the sparkle is about all there IS to a jewel, when you come to think of it.

HELEN ROWLAND

It is no longer possible to get undenatured alcohol, but at least we can insist on having our love full strength and 99 per cent pure. This one-half-of-one-per-cent emotion is so lacking in kick!

* * *

Every man is a believer in "companionate marriage" until he meets an old-fashioned girl who decides that she wants him for life.

* * *

The average husband has an idea that economy should begin at home—and end at the corner speakeasy.

* * *

Most men are "last-minute men," these days, who call a girl up and offer to brighten her evening, at the eleventh hour, when they are convinced that nothing more interesting is going to materialize.

* * *

To the average girl, it would be a brand new thrill to meet a man who did not consider a 60-cent taxi-ride full payment for mussing up her dollar marcel.

* * *

Two people who are congenial never run out of conversation; and by that same token they can be silent in each other's company for hours without feeling bored or lonely.

Soda Is Bad For Indigestion

The very fact that soda will stop the pain of indigestion indicates that dangerous excess stomach acid is causing the trouble. And too much acid means a raw, sore stomach lining which is never corrected—and sometimes even aggravated by the use of soda.

If you have an acid stomach you need the special treatment obtainable only with Bi-nesia. This not only removes the acid which has caused the trouble, thus quickly stopping the pain—but it is the one remedy which heals and protects the stomach lining and gives full protection against chronic acidity and ulcers. For acid indigestion of any kind there's nothing safer—nothing which gives quicker relief. Get a handy pocket flask of 100 Bi-nesia tablets or a large bottle of powder of any druggist today and treat your indigestion the safe way. The cost is only 50 cents and satisfaction or your money back is guaranteed.

"SWEET DREAMS"

Every Man Dreams of the Girl and the Little Child to Be Drawn by Nell Brinkley

EVERY man, humble and high, comely and plain, talented and humdrum, moneyed and poor, plans that his life, if fortune is willing, shall hold love. Love, first, of a lovely and wonderful and good girl, and her love in turn, for him. Love then of her, the place that shall be home, and the little child that shall be in it. All loving one another. All precious to one another. The rest of the world shut out, save when those three want to see some-what of it, or when those three want to do something for it.

There are certain essential wishes, dreams, determinations, that are as part of every man's being as his heart is part of his body. If he has given up expecting them, he once did. And if he has not begun to expect them, he some time will. And the most positive of them is the dream of a girl who will later be woman, and a child—to be! At least GOOD men want this. And some bad ones. But it's the first group that a girl should be most interested in being the dream-girl for; though it isn't always true that she is.

Girl-faces in his sleep! The rosy face with soft eyes and curls, dove's-breast chin, slender throat, strawberry lips, of a young girl. The rosy face, with innocent eyes, carnation mouth, and peachy cheeks, little round neck, and wind-blown hair like down, of a little child. Both his! The best of sweet dreams!

NELL BRINKLEY.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, June 20

THE planetary configurations for this day indicate a change of a sudden and unforseen nature which may prove to have far-reaching or radical results. If this abrupt move be undertaken in connection with employment or in effort to reach a place of public recognition or support, the prospect is for decisive success. But the financial auguries are not so fortuitous and delays or obstructions may be encountered. In personal affiliations there is pleasurable activity.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to make a change of radical importance during the year, which may advance them in the public recognition or bring honors in employment. The finances are not so beneficially fortified, but personal contacts may bring pleasure.

A child born on this day may be inventive, original and well equipped for conspicuous position, but its financial status may not be commensurate, unless it be schooled in thrift and economy.

Rejoice that man is hurled from change to change unceasingly, his soul's wings never furled.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator From New York

"Shingles" Warning Against Overwork

THERE are endless forms of painful diseases. Just think how seldom it is that you are absolutely unconscious of your body. Your scalp itches, or your toe hurts, pinched by a too tight shoe, or there is a tickling in the throat with an inclination to cough. As you read this and stop to think of your own feelings at the moment, you will find a little ache somewhere.

DR. COPELAND

Of course, these trifling things are of no consequence. As compared with real pain, certainly, they do not count. But there are all too many human ailments where pain is the chief symptom. Some of them are unimportant so far as life is concerned, but while they last they are excruciatingly painful.

Such a disease is herpes zoster. The common name for herpes is "shingles." The common seat of the trouble is a wavy running line from the backbone around one side of the body to the middle line in front. The skin is red and here and there are patches of blisters.

This disease of the skin is always one sided. It may show itself almost anywhere on the body, from head to foot. It attacks just the area supplied by a single nerve.

The reason why there is a limited area such as I have described, is because the disease is caused by a disturbance in the root of the nerve. As a result there is failure of proper action in the nerve endings. The nutrition of the skin supplied by the nerve is interfered with and inflammation results.

I have spoken of herpes as a painful disease. It is not always so. Sometimes it comes on so quietly that its trouble is discovered only by accident. The first noticeable sign is the eruption.

More commonly, however, the area is very sore and, in some cases, exceedingly painful. Following the healing of the eruption there may be severe neuralgic pain for many days. Burning sensations and sensitiveness to cold may persist for weeks.

The blisters of vesicles are very small, perhaps the size of a pin's head. There may be a few of these, or several may run together to make a patch or eruption. At first the blisters are filled with clear fluid, but this soon turns milky and then absorbs. The scab falls off in a few days. The whole process ends in a couple of weeks.

Sometimes the nerve supplying the eyelids and forehead is the one affected. This is a more serious form of herpes, because the eye itself may become involved. This type is called by a long name—"Herpes zoster ophthalmicus."

It is my experience that herpes is a tired man's disease. To be constantly worried, or overworked, or run down from any cause—any one of these things invites trouble of this sort. Nature is very kind, but, if you mistreat her, she must protest in some way to remind you of your shortcomings. You may consider yourself fortunate if nothing worse is sent to punish you.

Makes Her Own Skin Bleach

Known for having one of the most beautiful skins in New York, Miss Mildred Ball, favorite artists' and photographers' model, recently made the statement that most of the New York models use a skin bleach of their own making.

According to Miss Ball, "we get three ounces of Orchard White from the druggist and add to it the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a perfectly harmless yet marvelously effective bleach. Applied to face, neck and arms, it bleaches any dark or discolored skin a beautiful rosy white. It also makes any rough or coarse skin soft and smooth. Many of the girls use it, too, for a tan and freckle bleach. Nothing like this wonderful mixture can be bought ready to use because it acts best when freshly prepared. The cost for several weeks' supply is only a few cents."

No aching, burning feet for him now

Local bell-hop tells how Coolene gave him "new feet for old"

Coolene is securing these remarkable results not only in this city but everywhere. Joseph A. Weiks of New York City, pictured above, another popular bell-hop, also says: "Coolene brought me relief from foot tortures."

A BELL-HOP with crippled feet is about as useful as an iceman at the North Pole.

At least that's what Mr. H. L. McCarty, popular bell-hop at the Hotel Fort Pitt, right here in Pittsburgh, discovered when his feet started to ache and grow calloused.

It got so bad he could hardly walk upstairs. He knew he just had to get rid of that awful burning and tired sensation; so he went about it in a sensible way. Here, in his own words, he tells just what happened:

"The best tip I ever got as a bell-hop was 'try Coolene!' That's what my druggist told me when I complained about my feet being sore and tired. How they used to burn! I thought they'd start to smoke! But Coolene ended all that for good. I put some on in the evening and it stopped that awful burning that used to torture me so. I use it in the mornings now, too—and my feet feel just great. Never a corn or a callous these days. It's like walking on balloon tires, all right!"

Coolene soothes and heals sore, aching feet—instantly! It contains rare, penetrating oils—and two world-old, soothing unguents—frankincense and myrrh, used by the ancients for centuries.

Gee Coolene today. This wonderful healing cream takes all the burning and soreness out of corns, callouses, bunions and blisters. Coolene is ivory-white, greaseless, stainless. Easy to use. Vanishes instantly.

Relief guaranteed from burning, aching, tired feet—or its small cost refunded. Sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere, such as May Drug Stores.

Please, John
Lose 20 lbs. as I Did

Why should not men as well as women keep their figures, their health, their vitality? Excess fat blights both alike. And normal conditions are as easy for one sex as the other.

About 30 years ago science discovered a great cause of excess fat. It lies in a gland deficiency which science can supply. Physicians the world over now treat obesity in this modern way.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Note the results in every circle. Ask your friends about them. Slender figures are many times as common as they were.

Abnormal exercise or diet is neither required nor advised, but moderation helps. Correct the cause. Simply take four Marmola tablets daily until weight comes down to normal.

A pamphlet in every package gives the formula complete. Also the reasons for the many good results. This is done to ward off any fear of harm.

Consider that Marmola has, for 20 years, been winning what you want. In an easy, pleasant way. Don't you think it time to learn how much this scientific method means to you and yours? The cost is a trifle. You would gladly give many times as much for what a normal figure means. Then learn how easily people get it.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. Any druggist who is out will order from his jobber.

Blindfold test of leading cigarettes convinces Miss Mary Brown Warburton that OLD GOLD is best

"I was rather skeptical of this blindfold test, both because I always smoke with a holder, and because I ordinarily detest smoking in the dark. So I took plenty of time for each cigarette . . . but none of them quite satisfied my taste until I came to OLD GOLD. Its smoothness and its freedom from throat irritation appealed to me at once."

MISS MARY BROWN WARBURTON .... granddaughter of John Wanamaker

How this test was made

THE test was conducted by the representative of a leading Eastern University and a disinterested witness selected by them. Miss Warburton was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands while blindfolded, clearing her taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

Why you can pick them . . .

Made from the heart leaves of the tobacco plant

THREE types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in OLD GOLDS.

A FAMILY AFFAIR— That's what the Loefflers make of golf. Here we have four of them swinging at the same time in rhythm with another and the most famous one of the group, Emil (Dutch) Loeffler, greenkeeper of the Oakmont Country Club and famous golf course architect. Archie, Ben and Fred are brothers, and cousins of Emil and Walter and another brother of the latter pair, Ernest, who does not appear in the picture. Still another Loeffler, Bob, a nephew of the Emil, Walter and Ernest side of the family, is caddiemaster at Oakmont. Archie is a pro at San Antonio, Tex., and is back home for a visit. He formerly was the professional at the Hill Crest Club at New Kensington. Ben is a local pro not connected with a club just now; Fred is the pro at Ellwood City and formerly was at Brackenridge Heights, and Walter is the pro at the South Hills Country Club. Ernest is greenkeeper at Wildwood.

Maranville Attributes His Great Comeback For Cardinals to Obeying Training Rules. District Swimmers to Try for Places on Olympic Team.

RABBIT MARANVILLE, former Pirate, who is justly being given a hodful of credit for the sensational pennant dash of Bill McKechnie's Cardinals, says his great come-back is due entirely to his success in his seat on the water wagon.

Rabbit Maranville

Walter climbed up there often before, he admits, but adds that he always slid down again when he found that baseball was interfering with his social affairs. Not until he was almost 35 years old did Maranville learn that baseball is a serious business, but he realizes it now, he says, and is going to play out his string along straight lines.

IT isn't a sore spot, one that Maranville declines to discuss. On the contrary he jokes about and gets a kick out of talking about it. He figures that his reformation came 10 years too late.

Before that, he told Tommy Holmes if he had quit drinking he could have made a pile of money out of giving testimonials for the various types of liquor cures.

But liquor cures are no longer advertised and all that Maranville gets out of his turning over a new leaf is a return to the baseball limit and an extended career on the diamond. Those two things are a sufficient reward, he reasons.

"IT was this way," Maranville explained with a touch of his old humor. "This Prohibition business fooled me. I thought the country was going dry within a year or two. I made a mistake. There wasn't any need for haste. There'll be plenty left when my baseball days are over if I want it then. It has been more than a year now since I had a drink and I have too much at stake to touch the stuff while I'm playing baseball, if ever. Me for the old straight and narrow, kid. And look where I am today—with a club that's going to win the pennant."

THE Cards were finally halted, temporarily at least, in their winning rush, when the Reds nosed them out in 14 innings yesterday. McKechnie's flag chasers had won eight games in a row, and yesterday's defeat was only their fourth in their last 19 games.

Three of the last four games played by St. Louis were extra inning affairs, two of them going 14 rounds and one lasting 11 frames. As a sort of off-set, their Sunday game in Redland was cut to five innings by rain.

Cincinnati's victory yesterday was only the fifth scored by the Reds in the last 13 games.

WHETHER or not the Pittsburgh district is to have a representative on Uncle Sam's men's swimming team will be determined in the big final tryouts opening at the Detroit

33 JUNIOR GOLFERS GET IN FOLD

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

ENTRIES are arriving in greater volume every day for the first annual Sun-Telegraph West Penn amateur junior golf tournament for the William Randolph Hearst trophy which is to be played next month until now the field has reached a grand total of 33. No less than 20 entries, eight of which are Junior Class and 12 Sub-Junior, were received by the Golf Tournament Editor yesterday. From present indications the two groups should make up a field of almost 300 youthful links-

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

IT is not readily recalled, but Donie Bush, manager of the Pirates, holds the American League record for putouts at shortstop with 425 to his credit in a season. He established the mark in 1914, when he did not miss a single game of the regular schedule of 157 played by the Detroit Tigers No other American League shortstop ever passed the 400 total in putouts in a season. Rhedy Wallace has the second best record, 398, set in 1904. Incidentally, Bush also holds the record for the fewest putouts at shortstop in a season to lead the American League, 290, in 1919.

GLENN (POP) WARNER, former football coach of the University of Pittsburgh and now at Leland Stanford University in California, does not believe in idling away the off-months. His summer schedule this year calls for football coaching camps of one week at Kansas Teachers' College, one week at Utah Agricultural College, two weeks at Wittenburg (O.) College, and two weeks at Bucknell (Pa.) College and then a trip as a member of Knute Rockne's tour to the Olympic games at Amsterdam. He is due to return to New York just in time to get to Palo Alto, Cal., to take up his fall coaching at Stanford, September 15.

WARNER'S Stanford Cardinals face a tough schedule of 10 games this fall, as follows:

September 29—Olympic Club at Stanford.
October 6—Oregon at Stanford.
October 13—University of California of Los Angeles at Stanford.
October 19—Idaho at Stanford.
October 27—Fresno State at Stanford.
November 3—University of Southern California at Los Angeles.
November 10—Santa Clara at Stanford.
November 17—Washington at Stanford.
November 24—California at Berkeley.
December 1—Army at New York.

THE athletes at the University of Michigan compiled a remarkable record against Western Conference rivals during the year just closed, scoring 44 victories against 19 defeats. The swimming, golf and cross-country teams were undefeated and the baseball nine won 11 games before it dropped its final contest to Ohio State. As fine as was this showing, it fell short of last year's record, which was 53 victories against only 18 defeats.

BUCS BATTLE REDS HERE TOMORROW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

OUR Pirates today are seeing more of Pennsylvania than they ever saw before. By nightfall the Freebooters, including those rabid Californians, may be ready to admit that the grand old Keystone State is just as pretty as the famous native son commonwealth in the Far West.

Donie Bush and his athletes are slated to play the Harrisburg club of the New York-Pennsylvania League at Harrisburg this afternoon. The Buccos spent yesterday in Olean, N. Y., they having two off days on their championship schedule. Rain forced the scheduled game with the Boston Red Sox to be called off.

Forbes Field patrons will have the opportunity of seeing the Buccos for the remainder of the week, beginning tomorrow afternoon. Four battles with the ambitious Reds are on the books, after which the Pirates will head for Chicago and St. Louis.

Jack Hendricks' troupers have been causing a lot of commotion for the past month. The Rhinelanders, picked by more than one critic for a second-division berth, have struck back at their detractors in no uncertain way. Jack and his hustlers showed the way to the other seven contenders over a long stretch, the fast-going Cardinals finally overtaking them.

REDS ARE HUSTLING

The Reds are a fine example of what hustle and good pitching will do when the morale element is attached to the clever slab work. On paper the Rhinelanders are not impressive to the fan who studies his baseball books. Weak or uncertain spots in the first and second defense are supposed to bounce up and hit you in the nose when you scan the array presided over by Attorney Hendricks, but the baseball-barrister surely has his players hustling, and the clubs' sharpshooters are running off good games.

The Reds sustained a terrific slam in losing two games in one day and three battles in two days to the lowly Phils. Such a jolt amounts to a real test for the spirit of the Queen City performers; if they can shake off the effect of the two-barreled lacing in one afternoon in the Baker Bowl they are "game guys," no mistake.

Bt that as it may, the Reds are not leading the league at the pres-

Lew Tendler Ends Career; Kayos Nate Goldman

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—(AP.)—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia southpaw, at one time a leading contender for the lightweight title then held by Benny Leonard, has fought his last fight. He stopped Nate Goldman, also of Philadelphia, in the fifth round of a 10-rounder last night. After Goldman was knocked down four times in the fifth round, the referee halted the bout. Tendler weighed 151; Goldman 144½.

BEARS MAY BE EIGHT TO BEAT CHAMPS

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 19.—(AP.)—Cool and cloudy weather greeted the thousands of visitors here for the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's annual championship regatta today.

After a night of heavy rain, the skies had cleared up somewhat this morning, but there was more than a hint of showers to come later in the day. There was a slight breeze—enough to ripple the surface of the Hudson—but racing conditions appeared favorable.

Seven varsity crews will clash in the four-mile event that will climax the day's program in the graying shadows of eventide, with expert calculation in the greatest of doubt as to the outcome of the grind.

Those who know their thole pins, rigging and other technical details of oarsmanship remain unshaken in the conviction that the big race will see California's Golden Bears making the main effort to overthrow the powerful and confident Columbia champions. They expect to witness an East-West struggle between these two that will compare with any of the historic Navy-Washington duels, which had become almost an annual event until the New Yorkers broke up the parade last year.

The consensus in spite of hard buffeting from the experts shows a slight majority in favor of Columbia on the last available ballot, despite the fact that the delegates displayed a tendency to vote it out all night before the race, if necessary. But the most striking development last night was a sharp rise in the stock of Washington's huskies, hitherto well below par.

PENN'S STOCK RISES

Sharing interest with the forward thrust of the husky hopes was the growing idea that Pennsylvania likewise is equipped to stage a surprise. Perhaps this latter opinion is derived more from an enthusiasm for the coaching genius of Rusty Callow than from any conviction of more than threatening Quaker strength, but it exists nevertheless.

CASEYS GET MULLEN

KANSAS CITY, June 19.—(AP.)—Billy Mullen, third baseman, has been purchased by the Kansas City American Association club from the St. Louis Americans, and will report to the Blues from the Dallas Texas League teams soon as he comes to terms with the Kansas City management, it has been announced here.

HOPE TO START NET TOURNEY TODAY

SCHEDULED OPENING SPOILED BY RAIN

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

INTERMITTENT rains that fell heavily to deluge the splendidly-groomed Pittsburgh Golf Club courts caused postponement of the opening of the fortieth annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championships here yesterday.

According to announcement of tournament secretary John M. Stewart, the contest will get under way at 1 o'clock this afternoon. This, however, is contingent upon the absence of further showers, for so thorough was the soaking absorbed by the turf yesterday that wind and sunshine in copious quantities will be required today to render the clay fit for rolling and marking.

It is possible that, in view of the general jam-up occasioned by the enforced setback to the initial day's jousting, overflow matches in the first, the second, and perhaps the third round of men's singles will be apportioned over the P. A. A. and the Stanton Heights rectangles until the field shall have caught up with the schedule. Thus 10 courts will be available to accommodate the almost five-score entries, and progress will be accelerated so that men's doubles and women's singles can begin tomorrow.

Arrangements are being completed by Mr. Moses, skilled and popular racquet professional at the golf club, to handle sizable galleries of spectators as the tourney advances and the going tightens. Removal of the net competition to the picturesque Northumberland avenue layout has heightened local interest to a pitch not attained since the halcyon days when Tilden and company made Pittsburgh their regular mid-June stopping-off place.

The excellent trim of the Pittsburgh Golf Club tennis enclosure is a revelation. The four perfectly appointed playing-surfaces have been whipped into top flight shape under the expert supervision of Mr. Moses. A finer battery of clay courts it would be difficult to discover anywhere. If the best of collateral conditions count for anything—and they do—the 1928 editions of the ancient and honorable Western Pennsylvania championships should compare most favorably with the most successful of its predecessors.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Philadelphia—Pete Nebo defeated Benny Bass, 10 rounds; Lew Tendler knocked out Nate Goldman, 5 rounds; Johnny Jadich defeated Honey Boy Finnegan, 10 rounds; Bobby Brown defeated Homer Robertson, 10 rounds.

At Buffalo—Jimmy Slattery defeated Tony Marullo, 10 rounds.

At Boston—Larry Gaines defeated Jack Gagon, 10 rounds.

At Charlotte, N. C.—Alex Hart knocked out Bobby Cox, 5 rounds.

At Catlettesburg, Ky.—Dick McDonie defeated Cecil Payne, 10 rounds; Kid Monk knocked out Bob Luntzel, 2 rounds.

At New York—Jimmy McNamara defeated Johnny Filucci, 10 rounds; Willie Siegel defeated Angelo Gentile, 6 rounds.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

by TOM BIRKS

JUST one week ago this evening the Bellevue club of the Allegheny County League announced to the world that it had ceased playing Santa Claus in the sandlot racket and that if a ball club was going to operate in the North Boros it would be along self-supporting lines. In accordance with this idea the "split" plan for the players was launched. All the players on the club's roster with the exception of Lefty Hughes, went along, willing to take a chance on the money in the treasury at the season's end, for their earnings on the sandlots this year.

SINCE that news flashed to the world all kinds of money saving devices have been sprung by wideawake managers in order to cut down top heavy payrolls. Homewood-Brushton, holding no doubt, the heaviest payroll on the local sandlots pulled the real one on the fans when Ed Barney was released and Hughes signed for "economy purposes." Today the fans all over the circuit are getting a real kick out of the "economy" stuff, especially with Hughes concerned.

WHEN Hughes signed on the dotted line plenty of well posted fans were willing to bet it was far more money than Ed Barney was getting. Ed Barney can do everything that Hughes can do, and many sandlotters feel, a little better. Granted the old Federal man is a veteran, he can think faster in the fielding and base running line than most of the outfielders in the County loop today. But now the economy wave has been sprung the fans can expect anything from managers who desire to let a man go.

ent writing, although they are within a hop, skip and jump of the Redbirds.

The Pirates, on the other hand, are still holding forth in a sequestered spot of the second division, more's the pity. Yet, things are looking up for the Freebooters. The Oakland athletes seem to be reaching a fine point of physical form again after many trials and tribulations. Manager Bush has several pitchers who seem to be able to deliver and George Grantham, who has been out of the game for three weeks, is all ready to go back to his post.

A little spurt on the part of the Pittsburghers would put them right on the heels of the leaders. The fans have long awaited the expected spurt. But they are not discouraged. The immediate arrangement of the schedule, however, is anything but soft, the Pirates being carded to meet the Reds, the Cubs and Cardinals in the order named during the remainder of June. So it would seem that the Buccos have their work cut out for them.

Bush has three righthand pitchers all ready for the slab assignment in the opener with the Reds. He is not definitely sure as to the selection but he leans toward Hill or Kremer with Miljus also considered. All three of the pitchers named are likely to get a crack at the Rhinelanders in the four-game set.

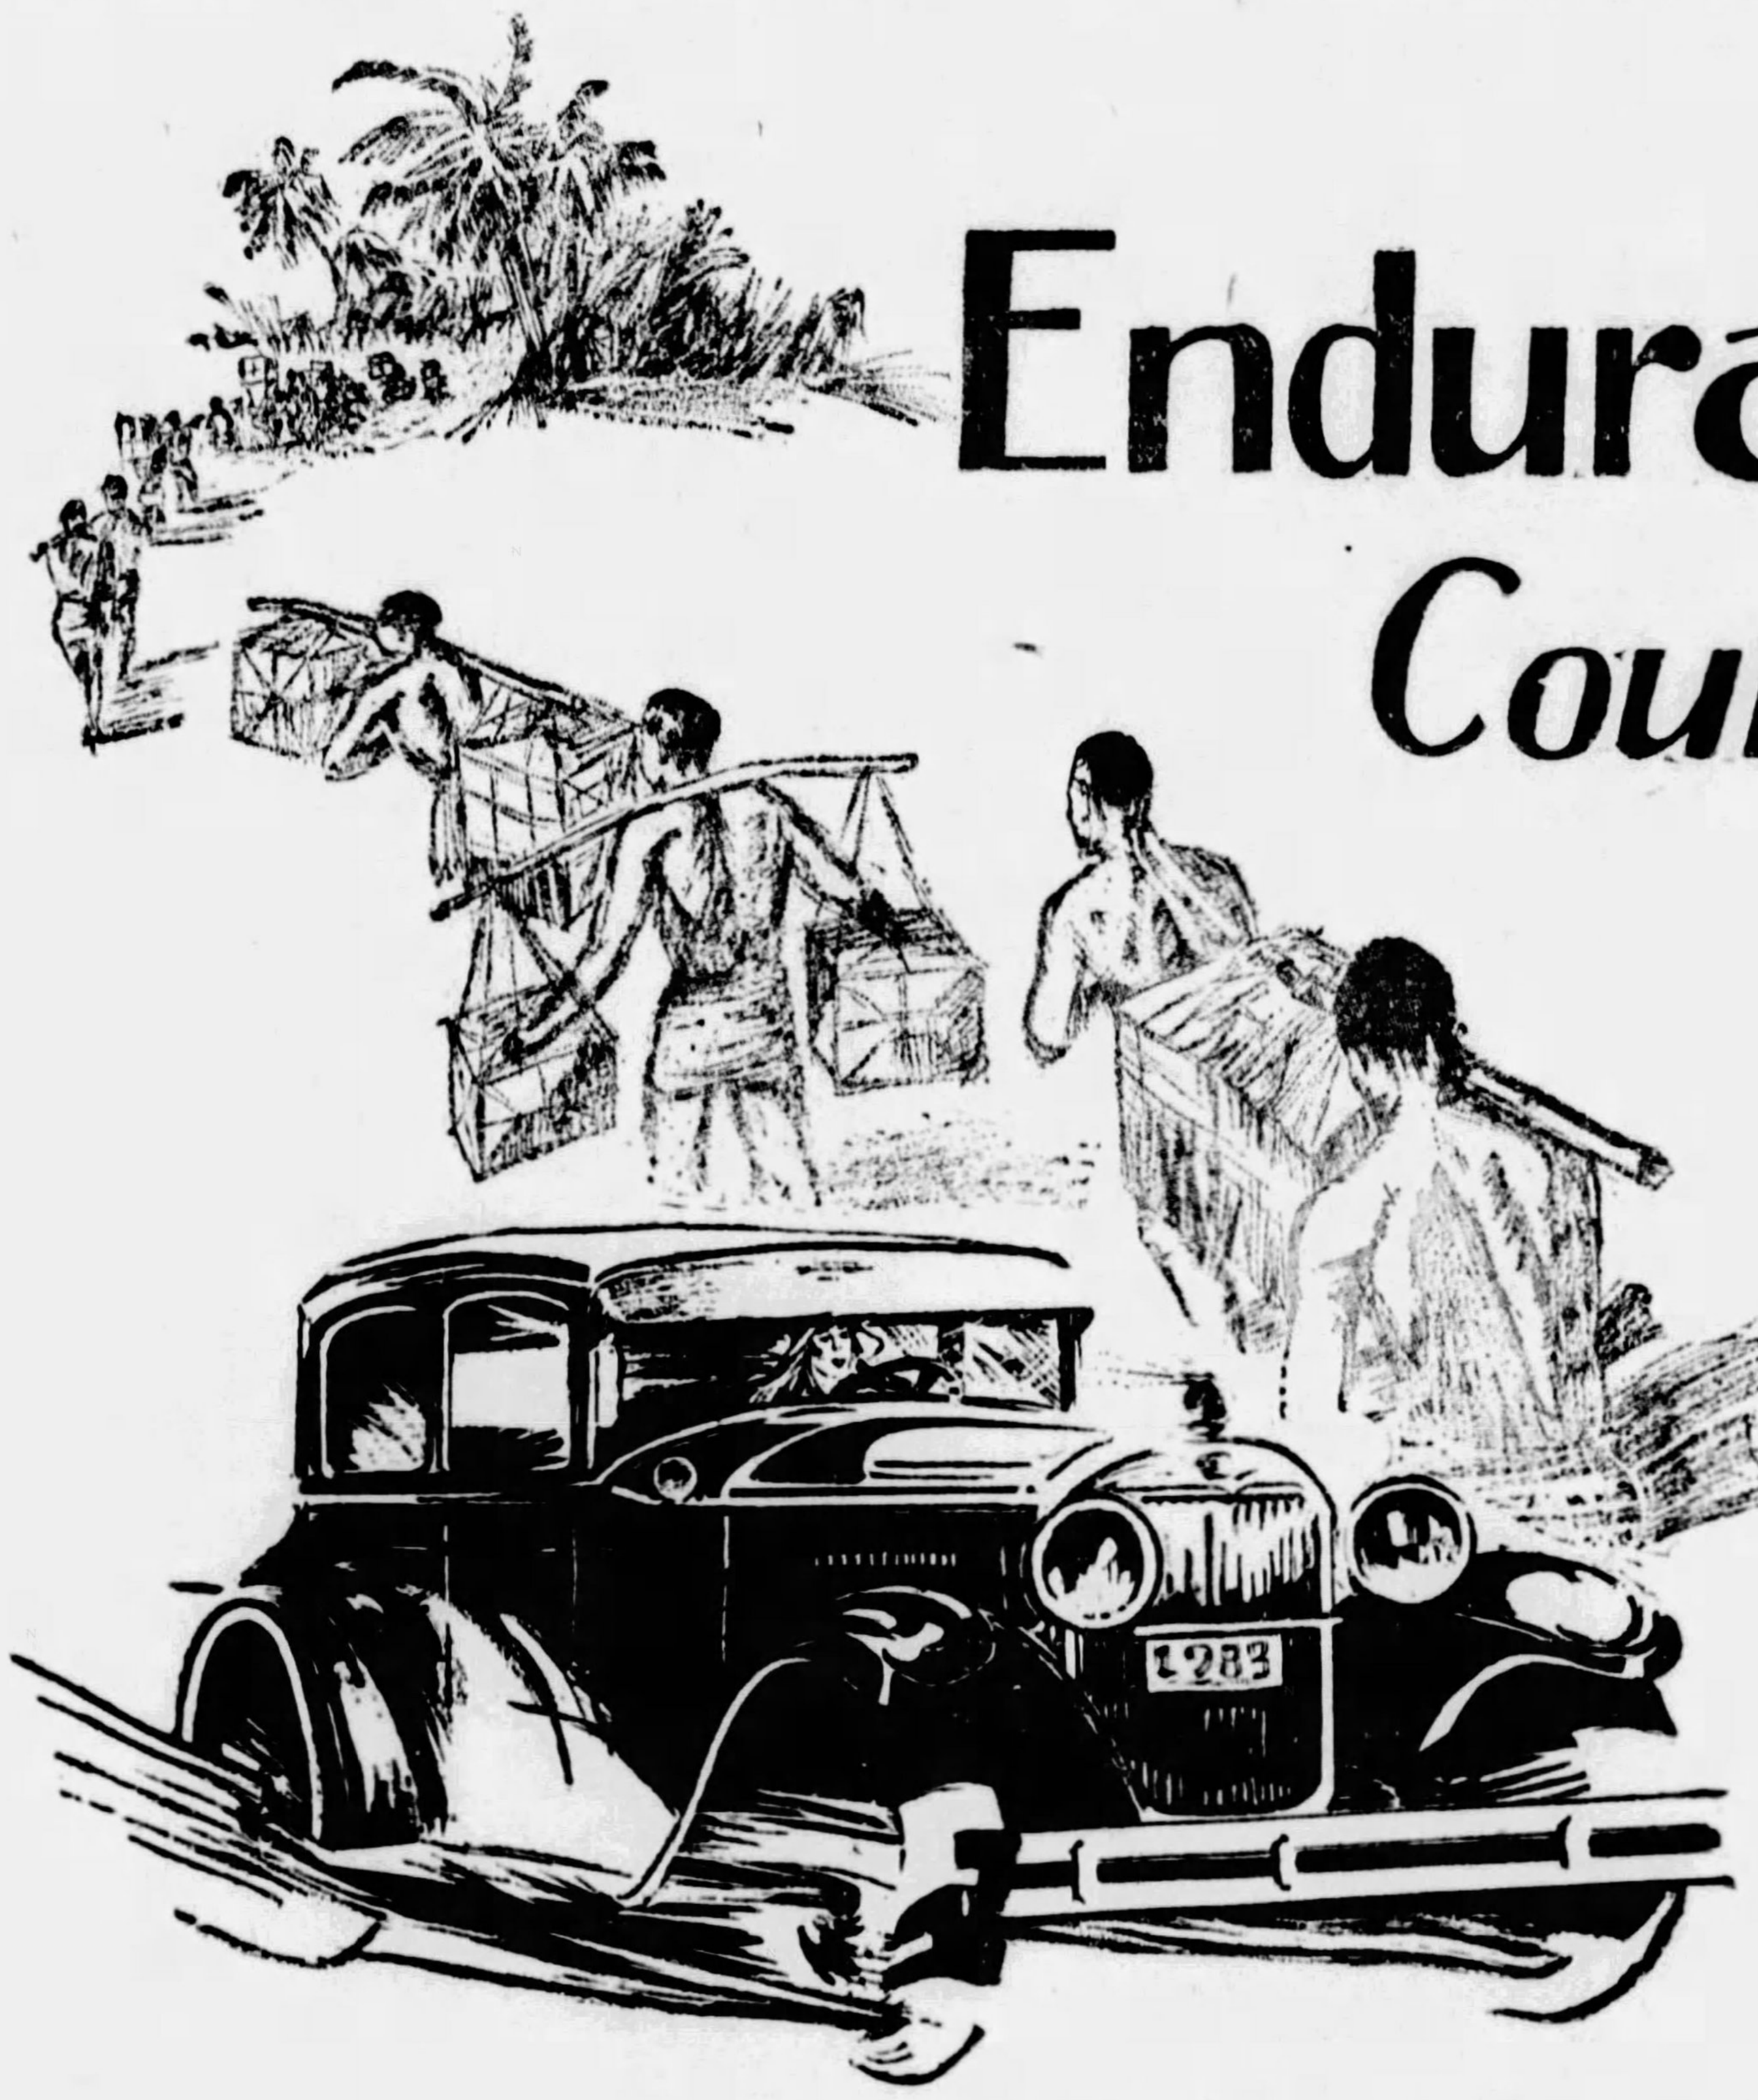
Endurance Counts



MODERN automobiles are not becoming short-lived, it's the oil that is falling down. Cars get better every day but higher compression and greater speed demand better lubrication. Your new model is a wonderful example of motor efficiency but it requires an equally efficient oil to protect its life.

Your car will last as long as there is a film of oil between frictioning surfaces. If you use Waverly—that is a long, long time. Waverly handles its job easily. The wonderful ENDURANCE of Waverly gives it an endless capacity for absorbing wear.

You will never know the full efficiency of your new car until you use Waverly exclusively. Try a crank-case full today. That's all we ask—that's all Waverly requires.

ACE SHOWS PUNCH IN TORRID DRILL

CHICAGO, June 19.—(AP.)—With their middleweight championship match only two days off, Mickey Walker and his challenger, Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, have strengthened predictions the bout will end in a knockout.

It was Hudkins who excelled in viciousness yesterday. He warmed up with two rounds of hard sparring with Billy Atkinson, of Kansas City, and then played with Dixie Kid, the Chicago Negro light heavyweight, until he knocked him out with a crashing right to the jaw near the end of the first round. The Chicago Negro fouled the challenger Saturday and Hudkins seemingly was out for him yesterday.

Walker sparred six fast rounds with Tuffy Griffiths of Sioux City, Jimmy Mollette and Roy Williams of Chicago. He caught several hard punches, but dazed his mates with a ferocious body attack, which he is drilling for Hudkins.

GODFREY HEAVY

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP.)—Johnny Risko's chances of eliminating George Godfrey, the newest "black menace," from the front ranks of the heavyweights, have grown as the Cleveland Baker Boy and the Negro giant completed training for their 10-round bout tomorrow night at Ebbets Field.

Godfrey, working strenuously at Lieperville, Pa., is still mountainous in proportions despite strenuous work for the past three weeks. Big George hopes to scale a mere 240 pounds for the tussle.

HOW TO TREAT ECZEMA AND ITCHING SKIN

What every sufferer wants is quick relief from the terrible itching that almost drives them mad.

Nothing acts more quickly than Peterson's ointment when rubbed thoroughly into the skin. Many times all itching disappears overnight.

As a remedy to banish eczema and to rid the skin of pimples, blotches, and eruptions, Peterson's ointment has been in great demand for many years—its mighty healing power is marvelous.

A South Dakota woman writes: "I have found nothing so good for itching skin and insect bites as Peterson's Ointment."

An Iowa woman writes: "It is the only Ointment that helps control my Eczema," and from the State of Washington another woman writes: "It is the only Ointment I can find that will cure eczema."

Boat Club, Belle Island, Detroit, next Friday.

Paul Wyatt

Pittsburgh's hopes are centered on two men. One is Paul Wyatt of Uniontown Y. M. C. A., in the backstroke events, and the other is Harry Glancy, former Pittsburgher, now representing the Penn Athletic Club, of Philadelphia. Glancy will take part in the middle-distance numbers.

Both Glancy and Wyatt were on the American Olympic team in the Paris games four years ago, Wyatt placing second in the backstroke competition. Another Allegheny Mountain Association member to make the trip four years ago was Adams Smith, of Erie.

THE greatest aggregation of swimmers gathered in the United States in four years will compete in Detroit, starting Friday. Included will be Victor Crabbe, of Honolulu, the latest swimming find, who may be counted upon as a certain member of the team, Johnny Weismueller, George Kojak and scores of others.

John T. Taylor, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the Olympic Committee, will officiate as referee and starter.

Immediately after the tryouts, the Olympic Committee, which will attend the meet, will announce the selections for the American team that will compete at Amsterdam.

EVEN if Wyatt and Glancy fail, though there are strong hopes for Wyatt, at least, there will still remain a chance or two for this district to get into the Olympic games. The final meet for girl swimmers will be held June 30, July 1 and 2 at Rockaway Beach, New York state, and two young women of the Homestead Library and Athletic Club have been making such a great showing lately that either may be said to have a chance to make the team. They ar Misses Margaret McKim and Susan Laird. The Homestead Club may have another girl representative on the team, as Miss Virginia Reese has shown such remarkable speed as a sprinter that she will be sent to the final tryouts for the women's Olympic team to be held in Newark, N. J., on July 4. Miss Reese is said to have done the hundred in 12 seconds.

men when the entry lists finally close.

It is surprising to note the number of out-of-town Juniors and Sub-Juniors who have signified their intention of wishing to compete by filing an entry blank. Kittanning, Indiana, Lawrence, East Pittsburgh, Duquesne, Munhall, Donora and Duquesne all will have at least one representative.

And there was the entry of William Nicklin of 632 North Aiken avenue, who is 13 years old, and a junior member at the Stanton Heights Golf Club. The Tournament Editor remembers him particularly well, along with a number other younger boys who have caddied for him at various times. William it was who tendered Lambie Flynn, the professional at Stanton Heights, a rabbit's hind foot just before he started in the first professional's tournament played on that links a month or so ago. Lambie didn't get all the luck he needed, but we are certain the boy's intentions were well meant.

NEW ENTRANTS

The names of the boys added to the list previously announced with their age, address and class, follow:

William Mercer, 16, 949 Jackman Ave., Avalon. (Junior.)

William Nicklin, 13, 632 N. Aiken Ave., Pgh. (Sub-Junior.)

James Testa, 12, 332 Merrimac St., Mt. Washington. (Sub-Junior.)

Adolph Matthews, 14, Castle Shannon. (Sub-Junior.)

Anthony Lekse, 14, Box 1, Lawrence, Pa. (Sub-Junior.)

William Lekse, 13, Box 1, Lawrence, Pa. (Sub-Junior.)

Alex Walewski, Jr., 13, 125 Rossomer St., East Pgh. (Sub-Junior.)

Walter Walewski, 15, 125 Rossmore St., East Pgh. (Junior.)

Howard Shafer, 13, 318 Franklin Ave., Kittanning, Pa. (Sub-Junior.)

Joseph Malik, 15, Box 40, Bentleyville, Pa. (Junior.)

Donald H. Slater, 16, R. F. D. No. 6, Box 95, Mt. Oliver, Pa. (Junior.)

John Reark, 15, 301 Faller Bldg., Donora, Pa. (Junior.)

Robert Saakbach, 14, 4319 Murray Ave., Pgh. (Sub-Junior.)

Harold Edwards, 13, 242 Washington St., Indiana, Pa. (Sub-Junior.)

John Schir, 16, 1007 Savey Ave., Duquesne, Pa. (Junior.)

William Carson, 14, 1713 Franklin St., Pgh. (Sub-Junior.)

NO ENTRY FEE

Now, fellows, let's get in on this thing if you have not already filled in an entry blank. It doesn't cost you a penny to enter. The only rules are that you are strictly an amateur as defined by the United States Golf Association, 18 years old or under, and not attending an institution of education above high school grades; caddies who have accepted money after their sixteenth birthday have professionalized themselves and cannot participate, but the boys who are caddying now and have not reached their sixteenth birthday are welcome in the Sun-Tele's tournament.

This is an open amateur junior event—any boy in the tri-state district can enter providing he adheres to the eligibility rules. There are two divisions, the Junior class, for boys 15 to 18, and the Sub-Junior for boys 14 and under.

WEBER WINS GOLF EVENT

E. A. Weber captured the bi-monthly tournament of the Hotel, Club and Restaurant Golf Association held on the links of the Chartiers Heights Country Club yesterday. He had a net 70 to cop the honors in the first division.

Manager Mink of the Chartiers Heights Club won the top prize in the second flight when he tallied a net 64 with a gross of 94.

The day was anything but right for golf, intermittent showers rather spoiling the afternoon's play.

NOTES OF THE BOXERS

JULES BECK reports considerable early interest in his first open-air boxing show of the season, which he will stage at the Duquesne Steel Park Thursday night of next week. The fans are asking where tickets may be obtained, and that's always a good sign. Young Saylor and Phil Scello will box the main bout and Johnny Carey and Jack Katkish the semi-final of this show.

Pierre Charles and Jack Dorval, heavyweights box at the Queensboro Stadium, New York, tonight. The show was postponed from two weeks ago because of Dorval's illness.

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, goes to the post against Georgie Balduc in the main bout at Newark, N. J., tonight. He takes the place of Bobby Garcia, his stablemate. Johnny Shupack meets Joey Harrison on the same card.

Joe Trippe and Freddie Fitzgerald box the main bout of a show at Youngstown tonight.

Joey LaGrey and the veteran Pete Hartley meet in a 10-round bout in New York tonight.

A telegram awaits James (Red) Mason at this office.

RACES AT OVAL

The Schenley Matinee Club has arranged a splendid card of six events for its second regular matinee to be held at Schenley Oval tomorrow afternoon. The races are free to the public.

Hoover More of Business Man Than Any U. S. President.

By B. C. FORBES

HERBERT HOOVER comes nearer being a strictly business man than any of the long line of American presidents.

It will be good news to workers to learn that he believes "we cannot only maintain American standards of living—we can raise them."

WHY are so many financial and business leaders lukewarm towards Hoover as a presidential candidate?

The glib explanation has been made that they feared he would not be pliable enough, that he would not do their bidding, that he would follow his own course. Corrupting a President of the United States is hardly regarded as feasible these days even by the most dominating and dictatorial of financial or business giants.

So far as I have been able to find out, neither finance nor business was bitterly opposed to Hoover. It would be more correct to say that they simply did not warm up to him.

THE truth is that men of affairs have tremendous respect for Hoover's ability, character, industry and record. But he has failed to capture their hearts, their affections. His personality is not magnetic. Educated and trained as an engineer, he has the typical engineer's matter-of-factness. He is solid, but not showy. He is earnest, not effusive. He is very seriously-minded and rarely unbends.

THAT Hoover will be supported by practically all influential Republicans can be accepted as certain. Should Gov. Smith be nominated, he will receive at least a few, if not quite a number of votes of New York financial and business men who ordinarily vote Republican, but who know "Al" and like him tremendously. Smith's personality is totally different from Hoover's. He knows how to be a good fellow. He radiates cheerfulness. As a campaigner he is capable of regaling and captivating audience with sallies of wit.

SHOULD Hoover be elected, he would bring to the White House an understanding of business not possessed by any predecessor. For the last seven years he has been in a better position than any other individual in America to analyze the functionings of industry, commerce, trade. His administration of the Department of Commerce has been incalculably valuable to American business and to American workers. Hoover has been the arch-enemy of waste and the arch-protagonist of efficiency. He has done more than any other person to fit the United States to compete succesfully in world markets. He has more use for the tape-measure than for red-tape.

IN HIS annual rtport issued at the end of 1924, Hoover made these statements:

"We have the highest ingenuity and efficiency in the operation of our industry and commerce of any nation in the world. Yet wastes are legion. There are wastes which arise from widespread unemployment during depressions, and from speculation and over-production in booms; wastes attributable to labor turnover and the stress of labor conflicts; wastes due to intermittent and seasonable production, as in the coal and construction industries; vast wastes from stricture in commerce due to inadequate transportation, such as the lack of sufficient terminals; wastes caused by excessive variations in products, wastes in materials, arising from lack of efficient processes; wastes by fire, and wastes in human life."

SINCE then he has waged unrelenting warfare against the things calculated to impair our business efficiency. Through his efforts to bring about standardization much unnecessary and costly waste has been abolished. For example, varieties of paving brick were reduced from 66 to 5, range boilers from 130 to 13, sizes of bed blankets from 78 to 12, and files and rasps from 1,351 to 408 varieties.

This sentence from the same report reveals his attitude towards the farm problem, especially the excessive cost of distributing foodstuffs:

"IT HAS been the department's view that the best remedy for these evils lies in the extension of co-operative marketing and in the better organization of the distributors at the terminal markets."

IT WAS fashionable, especially in Wall Street, to pretend that it was imperative that Coolidge should run again to insure Republican victory. It will be interesting to watch how Wall street fluctuates from confidence to nervousness during the campaign with Hoover, not Coolidge, as the Republican stadard-bearer. As I see it, the probability is that sentiment will wobble enough to cause quite irregular movements in stock prices.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, June 19.—Wheat developed rallying power today after early declines. Continued adverse weather in the Southwest and reports of severe damage there attracted more notice, offsetting weakness of the Liverpool market and also counterbalancing favorable crop conditions Northwest. Opening ⅛c to 1c down, Chicago wheat afterward scored slight general gains. Corn was weak, starting ⅝c to 1⅛c off, and subsequently showing a decided further setback. Oats were easy. Provisions went upgrade.

At noon wheat was ⅛c to ⅝c net higher, and corn 1⅝c to 2⅝c off.

News of persistent unwelcome moisture in Kansas and in other sections where winter wheat is about ready to harvest was coupled today with the Kansas official summary confirming serious damage to crops in that state. The summary said dry weather is needed now until after the harvest. Meanwhile, advices were at hand that cutting of wheat in Central Kansas had begun and that there was also some cutting in Missouri.

For the first time in a number of weeks July delivery of corn sold today at below $1 a bushel. Simultaneously, September and December deliveries fell to the lowest prices yet this season. Auspicious weather for the new corn crop led to general selling that included much brought about by standing orders to stop losses on the part of speculative holders.

RISE IN MONEY RATE SKIDS STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP.)—The downward readjustment of stock prices was stimulated today by the marking up of the call money rate from 5½ to 6 per cent. Prices sagged 1 to 6 points in the early trading, rallied around midday, when a bullish demonstration was started in the copper shares, and then turned heavy again in the afternoon. Trading was on a substantially larger scale than yesterday, which was the smallest full session since last March.

The increase in call money reflects the return of federal income tax checks to the banks for payment, and preparations for the mid-year settlements. Further heavy withdrawals of gold for shipment to France, which is due to announce its stabilization program on Saturday, are expected this week. In view of the drastic liquidation of stocks in the last fortnight, and the decrease in new security offerings, a substantial reduction in brokers' loans is anticipated Thursday.

Establishment of another new low record by United States Steel common today had a bearish effect on speculative sentiment. National Lead, Johns Manville, Christie Brown, Crex Carpet, Crucible Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, the Liggett & Myers issues, Warren Bros. and about a dozen others also sank into new ground for the year.

Brooklyn Edison, Radio, Case Threshing Machine and General Motors all recorded extreme losses of 4½ to 6½ points.

Rails yielded with the industrials. New York Central and Delaware and Hudson each sold down about 2 points and Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, Norfolk and Western and several others lost a point or so.

The True Worth of a Bank

MORE and more, alert business men are realizing the inestimable value of a good banking connection. They have come to appreciate that the true worth of a bank should be measured not only by its soundness and responsibility, but also by its ability to render financial advice and economic counsel.

The Mellon National Bank, for fifty-nine years has been a vital factor in the development of industrial and financial Pittsburgh, and has ever been in touch with all phases of business, cooperating with merchants and manufacturers by advising them regarding financial matters and offering helpful suggestions for the more profitable conduct of their business.

LOCAL STOCKS STEADY IN FACE OF N. Y. SELLING

PRICE CHANGES ARE NARROW

Stocks made a fairly good showing in the early session of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, but there was no inclination to take the buying side, mainly because of the deliberate manner in which leading issues on the New York exchange were offered down.

Slight recessions were noted in some of the more speculative securities. Carnegie Metals dipped under $20 a share as small offerings failed to find takers in the initial dealings, but enough demand appeared under 20 to maintain the price near that level. Arkansas Gas common slipped back a small fraction on a few hundred shares, but was not under noticeable pressure. An early price of 7¼ on the preferred was established at the start of trading, two odd lots changing hands at that price, unchanged from the previous final.

Miscellaneous industrials were steady and only slightly changed. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt appeared at 52, wh. Union Steel Castings was at 36, both unchanged from yesterday's prices.

Westinghouse Air Brake came into the market about noon at 43½, off ½ from the previous close here, but slightly above the level prevailing in New York at that time. Directors of Air Brake meet for dividend action tomorrow afternoon. It is assumed in most quarters that the regular quarterly payment of 50 cents will be ordered, although it is expected the company's earnings for the first half will fall a little short of covering the dividend requirement.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

SALES of the A. M. Byers Company have been in greater volume during the past three months than in any preceding quarter of the present fiscal year which began on October 1. Net profit in the three months ending June 30 will be greater than in the quarter ended March 31, when $335,249 was earned, which was equivalent to $1.14 a share on the common stock after deducting preferred dividends for the period.

IN the first half of this fiscal year sales and earnings were less than in the corresponding period of a year ago, but recent business is expected to make net profit for the nine months ended June 30, nearly as great as in the same portion of the previous year when net profit was $673,472.

THE cost of experimental work in connection with development of the Aston proces is being charged off from each quarter's earnings this year while this charge was not deducted until the close of the last fiscal year. Thus recent quarterly earnings have not fully reflected the volume of sales.

WITH such a highly specialized product as wrought iron pipe, A. M. Byers has not felt the recent depression in the pipe business to so great an extent as producers of steel pipe. Prices have been fairly firm, so that the margin of profit has remained satisfactory. Volume of business has also been helped through the addition to new distributors in the past two years. The largest of these was the Oil Well Supply Company, which operates over 90 stores.

THE motion picture industry is passing through a transition period. New developments have left the producers at sea as to the trend of future development. Several systems for producing talking pictures have been perfected. The mechanical difficulties appear to have been successfully overcome, but opinion is widely divided on the public reception of such innovations, and on the exact extent to which they should be used.

IT is now possible to make a full length talking picture. Such an accomplishment would have been difficult under the system which has been in general use for the past two years. But the movie industry is undecided whether the public will want the "talkies" confined to short vaudeville acts as has been done by Vitaphone or whether they will want the system used in the full length pictures. If feature pictures are to be "talkies" should the system be used throughout the whole picture or only to increase the dramatic effect at certain points?

THE producers are afraid to ignore the foundling at their door because competitors may adopt the orphan and score a tremendous public success. On the other hand, they are going slowly with the "talkies" for fear of sinking a large portion of their capital in a failure. They are also hesitant about making investments in expensive silent feature pictures which might be rendered worthless by the changing conditions.

THE value of stars may be greatly changed. Actors whose following has been built up through great publicity and advertising effort may not meet public approval if their speaking voices are unsatisfactory. Visitors from the studios say that the elocution teacher has come into his own.

SOME producers are undertaking cautious experiments. A few pictures featuring actors and actresses with experience on the legitimate stage are being made with one or two scenes using voices. Each experiment is using more footage of "talkie" film in an effort to gauge public approval. An interesting feature of the development is that the sounds are recorded on the film beside the pictures. This allows the producers to cut and piece the new films in exactly the same manner as the old silent pictures and there is no danger of sound and action getting out of step.

THE proposed split-up of Harbison-Walker Refractories Company common stock on a four for one basis is expected to permit greater public ownership of the stock. The last sale of the old stock was at 202½. The stock is on a $6 annual dividend basis and has been earning over $10.60 a share in recent years. The expansion and modernization program of this company was mentioned in this column on Sunday. Growth of this organization made possible stock dividends of 50 per cent in July, 1920, and of 33 1-3 per cent in May, 1925.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Anaconda Flurry Stopped.

A sharp rally in Anaconda Copper gave the list a rather buoyant appearance around mid-day and caused some hurried covering scattered sections of the list where shorts had pressed their advantage in the early dealings. Anaconda jumped from 61¼ to 65, and there were numerous recoveries of two to four points in the higher priced and more volatile issues. This flurry, however, was dampened when call money was raised from the 5½ per cent opening rate to 6 per cent just as the rally was reaching proportions sufficient to attract an outside following. Later it went to 6½. In the early market new lows were established on most of the key stocks, including Steel, General Motors, Radio and others, but the recession was not accompanied by any sign of disorder. After Steel had sold under 134, and General Motors had reached a price near 170, the selling stopped suddenly and the entire list balanced nicely, after which the run-up in Anaconda took place. Apparently the same forces able to check the selling an hour or so earlier were equally well prepared to scotch any bullish enthusiasm as prices eased back after the 6 per cent money rate was posted, and there was no further attempt to skyrocket any of several stocks regarded as having been oversold in the reaction.

Bancitaly Pool Lets Go.

The latest break in Bancitaly, which carried the stock down to 102½ on the New York Curb as compared with a price of 223 a few weeks ago was attributed to forced selling by a Pacific Coast pool unable to meet margin demands arising out of the 60-point slump a few days ago. Officers of the corporation and of the Bank of Italy, a subsidiary, had nothing to add to their statements of a week ago that the intrinsic worth of the stock was unchanged. They again called attention to earlier statements of A. P. Giannini, founder of the corporation, to the effect that the stock was selling too high and that speculators should beware. L. V. Belden, vice president, who returned yesterday from Rome, where he said he had been in conference with Mr. Giannini, declared that the corporation was not at all concerned about fluctuations in the price of the stock and was interested only in managing the corporation's business and property. He ascribed the decline to the general weakness of the market. Giannini was said to be suffering with a severe case of lumbago, which confined him to his rooms. He is expected to return in September and Mr. Belden declared that so far as he knew no change in Mr. Giannini's plans was contemplated.

Crucible Pares Dividend

Steady selling of Crucible Steel over the past two or three weeks finds explanation in the company's action in cutting dividends on the common from $6 to $5 annual basis. The directors ordered a quarterly payment of $1.25 yesterday as compared with the previous disbursements of $1.50. H. S. Wilkinson, chairman, issued a statement on behalf of the directors explaining that with the steady decline in steel prices the company was unable to earn a 6 per cent dividend, and that the directors had considered it unwise at this time to pay dividends out of surplus. The steel industry as a whole, he said, is earning less than 5 per cent on its actual capital invested. The Crucible earnings during the first six months of this year, he said, would be $546,000 less than the corresponding period last year. Indications were, he added, that with wise leadership and discontinuance of price cutting, the earning capacity of the industry would improve. Crucible Steel Company estimated consolidated net income of $2,427,937 for the six months ending June 30, after charges, is equal after preferred dividends to $2.82 a share on 550,000 common shares, against net of $2,974,536, or $3.81 a share in the corresponding 1927 period.

Figures for May sales of sheet steel, compiled by National Association of Sheet and Tin Plate Manufacturers, totaling 250,316 tons, show a decrease of 33,754 tons from April and 42,649 tons from May, 1927. Production of 349,367 tons indicated an increase of 21,359 tons over April, and 33,26_ tons over May, 1927. Shipments of 326,324 tons indicated a decrease of 1,350 tons from April, but an increase of 36,187 tons over May, 1927. Unfilled tonnage June 1 totaled 527,477 tons, against 571,761 tons May 1, and 491,290 tons June 1, 1927.

Studying Support Points

J. S. Bache & Co. wired A. E. Masten & Co. today as follows: "Following precedent, the market will indicate by its own action the reaching of definite support levels. Until such evidence appears, a buying policy seems inadvisable. The fact that in the absence of liquidation of a strong character on Saturday and again yesterday morning, the market turned extremely dull, would seem to demonstrate that constructive confidence has been badly shattered and is unlikely to be easily regained. The consensus of opinion seems to be that until a reduction in brokers' loans of between 10 and 15 per cent from the recent highs has been effected, the ground work for a renewed advance of substantial proportions is unlikely to be evident."

Wholesale Prices Up In May

Continued upward movement of wholesale prices is shown for May by information collected in the representative markets by the Bureau of Labor Statictics of the Department of Labor. The bureau's weighed index number, computed on prices in 1926 as the base and including 550 commodities, stands at 98.6 for May compared with 97.4 for April, an increase of 5¼ per cent when compared with May, 1927. Farm products as a group advanced 2 per cent, due mainly to price increases for grain, hogs, cotton and several other farm products. Foods increased 1¼ per cent and building materials 1 per cent over the level for April.

Bond Market Dull.

The bond market was extremely dull today, and while an irregular tone prevailed, the changes were generally of small fractional nature. Pressure was absent except in the convertible copper group, which is reflecting the uncertainty in the stock market. Many of the bonds recently put out were on a lower basis of interest than now prevailing. As a result bond dealers and syndicate managers are said to have their shelves well stocked with securities which are not being distributed under existing market conditions. As loans against these bonds are included in brokerage loans, it is difficult to realize the extent of the liquidation which has already occurred in the stock market.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, June 19.—AP.)—The bond market was dull today and prices showed little change. Most industrials were inclined to heaviness, and what little demand made itself apparent was for second-grade rails.

Coppers were soft, with Andes Copper 7s leading the decline. International Match 5s and U. S. Rubber 5s gained fractionally.

The 6-point gain advance of Ulster and Delaware convertible 5s was a feature of the rail group.

The foreign list was steady, with Latin-American issues seeking slightly higher levels.

There was little demand for U. S. government bonds and prices resumed the downward trend.

Public offering will be made shortly of $5,000,000 debenture bonds of Diversified Investments, Inc., an American subsidiary of the International Telephone group headed by Theodore Gary & Co., of Kansas City.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 19.—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 2 to 6 points under selling influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and talk of an easier technical position after yesterday's advance.

Prospects for showers in the South probably restricted selling to some extent, but weather advices otherwise were favorable. Considerable realizing or liquidation was fairly well absorbed around initial prices by trade buying and covering, and the market held fairly steady at the end of the first hour.

Private cables said Bombay buying in Liverpool had been supplied by local and continental liquidation and that spinners of American cotton in Lancashire would vote on the proposal to curtail production by 50 per cent.

After holding fairly steady during earlier trading, cotton eased off under further liquidation and commission house selling promoted by a more favorable than expected eastern belt forecast and reports of weakness in the stock market. October eased off to 20.66c, or 16 points net lower. The market showed net declines of 11 to 16 points at midday.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The raw sugar market was firm and unchanged early today with buyers at 4.30 for duty frees, but holders asking generally higher. No sales were reported.

The raw sugar futures market opened unchanged to 1 point higher and showed additional advances of 1 point following the call on covering and buying by houses with trade and Cuban connections. The buying was evidently prompted by the firmer showing in London and the continued steadiness of the spot market. Renewed liquidation and European hedge selling set in on the upturn and reactions left prices at midday net unchanged to 1 point higher. Private advices from Cuba said that the export commission would receive bids on part of the 300,000 tons recently segregated for export to countries outside of the United States.

The refined market was unchanged at 6.05 to 6.10 for fine granulated. Withdrawals were again liberal, but new business was light and supplies through second hands at slight concessions.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

PAUL WHITEMAN and his orchestra will be on the air at 10 o'clock tonight. The broadcast will be over the NBC System, including WCAE, and is under the auspices of the Columbia Phonograph Company.

The feature of the Haller broadcast through KDKA at 7:30 o'clock will be Haller Jim, appearing in the role of "Leader of the Little German Band," which will be heard as the second selection on the program. Solo and quartet selections will include "Hi-le Hi-lo," "Ach du Leiber Augustin," "O Night of Love," "Big Bass Viol" and the "Indian Love Call."

A program of Russian folk music will be presented during the Musical Miniatures broadcast over the NBC System at 8:30 o'clock. WCAE will be in the hook-up. The program will open with a composition by Michail Ivanovitch Glinka, who was a noble by birth, a great pianist and propagandist for national Russian music. His songs and operas are purely representative of old Russia. Another name well known in Russian music is that of Peter Iljitsch Tschaikowsky, whose little known work "Tcherevitchky" (The Little Slippers) will be represented by one aria, together with several folk songs of absorbing interest, descriptive of snow-covered Russia and the native Troika.

"My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Saint-Saens' opera, "Samson and Delilah," will be played by Del Staigers, cornetist, during the program by the Goldman Band to be broadcast through the NBC system, including KDKA, at 8:30 o'clock. The band, directed by Edwin Franko Goldman, will present a program of arias from the best known operas. Among these will be the processional march from Gounod's "Queen of Sheba;" Wagner's "Rienzi" overture, based upon a novel by Bulwer; excerpts from "Le Coq d'Or," by Rimsky-Korsakoff, and the finale to Act III of Ponchielli's "La Gioconda."

All the gaiety of the big world, county and country fairs will be brought to the radio audience in the broadcast of come-to-the-fair through 17 associated Columbia stations, including WJAS at 10 o'clock. A group of vocal and instrumental soloists, mixed and male quartets and a large orchestra contribute to the program. Opening with Soderman's "Country Dance," played by the orchestra, the program will include "Linda Mia," a Pyrenees melody to be sung by the tenor; Katie Moss' "The Floral Dance," to be rendered as a soprano solo; Lang's "Irish Love Song," by the contralto, and a male quartet rendition of the Negro Spiritual, "I Got Shoes."

POME FOR YOUR ASHCAN.

It's very well to try to be Beyond sent-a-mentality,
(Alagonquin.)
And say that children are, at best,
A care, a burden and a pest.
(Of course they are.)
And yet when you just have a few
(And if you haven't, do! Please do.)
(You will? Very well.)
As we were just about to say,
If you have kids, and go away
(For a fortnight.)
You'll ache (yes ache) inside your vest,
(Dear, dear! This sounds like Eddie Guest.)
(For your offspring.)
You hurry home, by train or plane,
At last you're there with them again!
(And then they start.)
In twenty minutes—yes, in less,
They drive you nutty. That's our guess.
(Now why is that?)

Adam Scofflaw's Journal

This daye finde an rat hath gotten itself into an prettie fix, for which Heaven be praised! For, on tip-toeing to the scullery, finde the rat is imprisoned in the magick basket catch-trap, and cannot 'scape. So I did cry out to my dame and little Adam, and bid them fetch chairs, while I make an sermon 'gainst gluttony, shewing how it hath led the nidderling rat into a sorry plight.

Citizens Would Foster Airplane Industry Here

The Pittsburgh men who will make a trip to eastern airplane manufacturing plants with the laudable purpose of eventually making this city a center of airplane manufacture deserve hearty commendation. Sponsors of the journey believe Pittsburgh is especially suited to the industry and think that much good can be accomplished by the trip.

That is a correct impression even if nothing more results than having a numerous body of solid citizens become aviation-minded. The spirit they absorb will be worth much to the city even if they obtain nothing else. However, when men of the character and standing of those who will travel East have a fixed purpose in view they generally get results. So we have every reason to hope for progress.

Pittsburgh should be an airplane center. It is an old story that Langley here conceived and here first worked on the problem of flight of a heavier-than-air machine. It is now conceded that but for a mischance of fate he would have been the first to demonstrate the practical success of his theory.

The vision of Langley and the accomplishment of Perry Rodgers should be an inspiration to Pittsburgh. Away back in 1911, Rodgers, native of Pittsburgh, made the first airplane flight across the United States. Hanging in the Carnegie Museum in Forbes street is the light, flimsy contrivance in which he made the trip, for which he was decorated with a medal by President Taft at a public demonstration in his behalf in New York. Perry Rodgers was the Lindy of his day and gave his life to aviation, being killed in flight soon after his notable achievement.

The spirit of Langley and Rodgers speaks to us out of the past to remind us that the torch they held aloft has been awaiting other Pittsburgh hands for many years.

All Honor to Intrepid Miss Earhart, a Pioneer

What men have done in marking the course of human progress women can do. It was inevitable that some member of the "weaker" sex eventually would cross the Atlantic in airplane flight, and the actual accomplishment of that feat by Miss Amelia Earhart, of Boston, thrills the world.

All honor to Miss Earhart, Wilmer Stultz, pilot of the now historic airplane Friendship, and Lou Gordon, his mechanic.

The honor that Ruth Elder just missed and that has cost the lives of other intrepid woman comes to Miss Earhart, whose flight is a distinct service to aviation. She takes her proper place among the pioneers who have ever looked forward to penetrate hidden fields and eventually make them accessible to all.

A German Lesson For Telephone Girls

This Picture Will Interest Mr. Gifford, of the A. T. & T.

GERMAN TELEPHONE LADIES EXERCISING.

This picture will interest Mr. Gifford, boss of the big telephone company.

In Germany, where these young ladies live, and work, there is at present intense devotion to physical exercise. Young people calling themselves "The Wandervogel," or Wandering Birds, go for long tramps in the country, ON FOOT, not by automobile. They climb mountains and really see the world.

And in the life of business, as this picture shows, exercise that keeps the brain and body in condition is never neglected.

Here, in an interval of business—heaven only knows where the busy telephone ladies find any such intervals—the young women of the telephones go through calisthenic exercises with windows wide open and lungs filled with fresh air.

One lady of experience and character, perhaps the chief operator or manager of the bureau, leads, and the small army of telephone operators follow, expanding their chests, developing their leg muscles with wide forward steps.

A few minutes of this deep breathing, purifying their blood with oxygen, helps the girls to endure long hours of an impatient public.

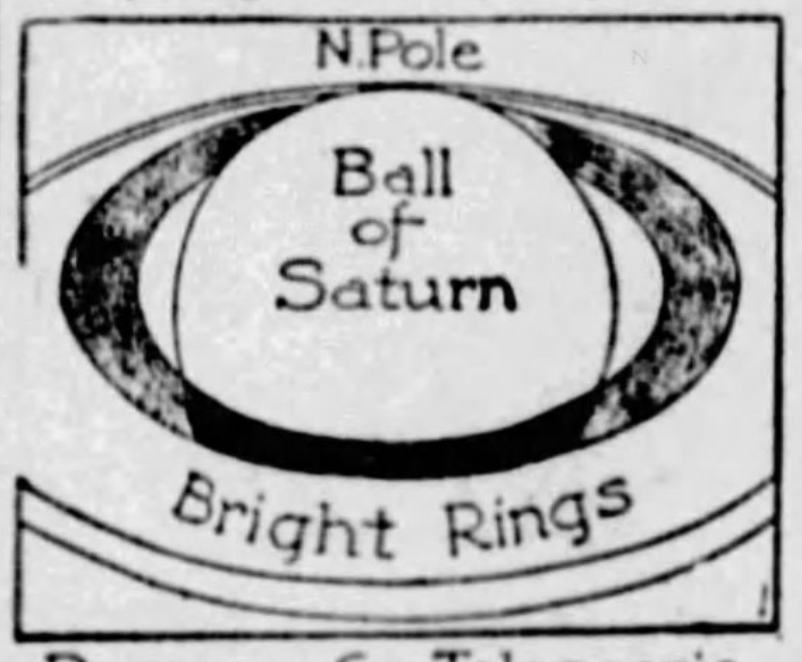
Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Is Saturn Losing Its Rings?

SATURN, the prize beauty of the telescopic world, is now in opposition to the sun and visible all night, crossing the meridian about midnight, serenely shining in the northern part of the constellation Scorpio. The question has again been raised whether Saturn is in a way to lose its wonderful rings, which constitute its principal distinction. No other planet has similar attendants, or appendages, and utilitarians might ask, "Of what possible use can they be?" Saturn has a number of satellites outside the limits of the rings, and there are mechanical reasons for believing that the rings are either ground-up satellites or swarms of particles which were never able to aggregate into satellites because of their too great nearness to the globe of the planet. At any rate, it is certain that the rings consist of vast multitudes of small bodies, or particles, surging around Saturn in circular streams which are of enormous breadth but of relatively slight depth or thickness.

There are three principal rings, two bright and one dusky or gauze-like, suspended edgewise directly over the planet's equator. The outermost or most distant of these rings has an exterior diameter of 171,000 miles, while its width is 10,000 miles, and its thickness probably not more than 10 miles. Between this ring and the next interior to it there is an empty gap about 3,000 miles across. Then comes the broadest and brightest of the rings, whose exterior diameter is 145,000 miles and its breadth about 16,000 miles. Its thickness may somewhat exceed that of the outer ring, and some observations have seemed to show that in places it is thicker than common, and that changes may occur in this respect.



Reverse for Telescopic Presentation

Beginning near the inner border of this bright central ring is the dusky, or gauze ring, which is usually visible only as a shade crossing the globe of the planet inside the border of the bright ring (see drawing). Both the existence of this shady ring and apparent changes in its density are taken as possible indications of a gradual descent upon the planet of the matter composing the rings. The width of the gauze ring is about 11,500 miles, and between its lower edge and the planet's equator is a remaining space of about 7,000 miles.

Photographs taken lately show the gauze ring somewhat denser than before and this effect could be caused by an increasing descent of particles from the ring system. This might be produced by collisions among the crowded members of the circling swarms. But so little is really known concerning what is going on in these strange assemblages that no certain opinion can be given. At one time, many years ago, it was regarded as very probable that the rings were slowly descending, but of late astronomical opinion has rather inclined to the view that the rings are permanent. In any event their destruction must be a very long process. And when they are gone, if ever, the celestial spectacle will have lost its greatest novelty.

Reduce the Waste

WHAT Charles M. Schwab suggests for the steel industry is also worth considering in other industrial lines—namely, a study of the wastes in transportation.

Secretary Hoover reminded the country not long ago that it would soon outgrow its existing transportation plant and, unless foresighted, would run into a jam.

The effort to reorganize our railroads into better coordinated systems is a recognition of that truth. But this work moves slowly. The next upward swing in business is liable to come before it is much more than begun.

What we need quite as much as regional re-grouping of rail facilities is to do away with unnecessary haulage.

In the closer competition of the future our success will lie in more intelligent economics perhaps as much as in new machines and processes.

Once Overs

Don't Expect Too Much

ARE you fully grateful for favors shown you—or do you take them as a matter of course?

You may accept the good offices of a friend as something that you have a right to expect.

While this may be true it is good to be appreciated and your friend thinks so, too, when he has done you a good turn.

It is easy to expect too much from friends.

Friends judge you more gently than others, perhaps, but there is a limit of leniency in even the strongest friendships.

A real friend is as ready to give as to accept.

True friends are glad to show the pleasure they derive from little attentions.

True friends give freely in the spirit of "what is mine is thine," but an arrogant spirit of acceptance can kill the friendliest feelings.

With friends it is not intrinsic value that is most treasured.

The spirit and the ability to give are a wonderful combination.

But it is the spirit that gives the greatest comfort.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

When Wars Are Done

WHEN wars are done and Peace, the white-winged, broods
And smiles upon Earth's happy multitudes,
When rusted armaments where ivy grows
Serve but to point the depths from which man rose,
When wars are done and all their madness passed,
Then man shall rise to manhood's heights at last,
Where roar of guns and shriek of shells has ceased
And glory lies in being man, not beast.

When brotherhood means not one name, one race,
But girds all countries in its wide embrace,
And every thread of life, or gold or gray
Is seen, a part of God's great tapestry,
Then, with war past, will come full heritage
For man; no more will history's changing page
Be red with life-blood or be wet with tears;
No more shall women's sobs ring down the years!

Welcome by Proxy

THE Queen of Holland will not be present to open the Olympic games in Amsterdam nor will the burgomaster. The hand of welcome will be extended by the Prince Consort.

Queen and burgomaster are puritanic in view; they dislike sport and fear the contaminating influence of festivity.

It is a curious attitude for the twentieth century, but as it is sincere it will be respected.

Tales that are Told

Cleveland's Swan Was Tough

GROVER CLEVELAND'S own humor and the humor he liked frequently took the characteristic American form of solemn exaggeration. Before the law protecting swan was passed, Cleveland returned to the White House one day after a shooting trip and sent the only swan he had shot to his secretary, Mr. Thurber. Some days passed and he heard nothing about the swan. So finally he asked someone in the office:

"Has Thurber said anything to you about that swan I gave him?"

"No, not a word."

"Well, I'm going to ask him whether it was good."

Not long after Thurber came in and the President said:

"By the way, Thurber, how was that swan I sent you? Did you find it good?"

"Yes, it was a good swan all right. But I don't think we quite knew exactly how to cook it."

There was a profound silence, then Cleveland asked:

"How did you cook it?"

"Well, you see, we boiled it only 12 hours and I think it would have been just a little bit better if we had boiled it 24."

Impenetrable Disguise

MISS SHIRLEY MOORE, the first woman graduate of the Yale Law School, was criticizing the modern girl.

"Two modern girls," she said, "ornamented the terrace of a country club the other afternoon. They wore boots and riding breeches and bowler hats—a groom had just led off their horses—and as they waited for their cocktails to be served they smoked cigarets in long amber tubes and swaggered up and down in mannish fashion.

"'Oh, by the way,' said the first one, 'what about the masquerade ball next week?'

"The other tapped her leg with her crop stick. 'Well, what about it?'

"'What shall we go as?'

"'Let me think. There! I've got an idea.'

"'Spill it.'

"'We'll go as girls!'"

Safety in It

"WHEN I'm unlucky enough to be invited out to a swell feed," remarked the man whose name seldom appeared in the society columns of the local paper, "I'm always glad to see the coffee come on."

"Like it, eh?" politely inquired his listener.

"Yes, but 'tain't that," he replied; "you see, I take it straight, and, thank goodness, there's been no improvements in the way it has to be drunk, so I don't have to hang back and see which spoon to grab, or whether it's got so now a fellow also's expected to stow that away with a fork," he explained.

Twins and Tones

THE twins were very much alike. But their father, a piano tuner, had his own way of identifying them. He explained to the friend who was admiring them that he told the difference by pinching them.

"Good heavens! You must not do that. You'll make them cry."

"Precisely," replied the father; "That's the whole secret. Listen. This one"—nip—"is evidently William. He cries on the high C. The other, James"—nip—"is half a tone lower."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 19.—Broadway's change from a pleasant pastel to a garish lithograph is almost complete. Only a few old time aspects of the famous thoroughfare remain. It has doubtless more snap and that quality called "color" than ever before, but the Broadway of other days is no more.

What has been called the Boweryization of Broadway began when trade began its northward march on Fifth avenue. That was about 15 years ago. The metamorphosis was slow but certain. Old landmarks began to vanish and the present Midway Plaisance jangle took root.

Chop suey caravansaries supplanted such stately cafes as Churchill's, Rector's and Shanley's. Magic and souvenir shops, quick photo parlors bloomed where saloons once held forth. In every crevice lodged an orange juice counter or theatrical ticket agency.

The facades of big buildings and hotels were sliced up for cubicle shops of florists, haberdasheries and such. Walk-up tailors, dancing academies and beauty parlors took almost complete possession of the first and second floors. Dignity chrystalized into commercial cacophony.

The ballyhoos of auctioneers for fake jewelry sales are yelping in every block. Husky voiced barkers for yap wagons harangue the multitudes at prominent corners. Even pitch men may be found on the curbs hawking fanciful gee-gaws. The Broadway sport is a complacent mixture of the lower East Side and Times Square.

The flaccid material ease of Broadway has seeped into side streets running off either hip. Here are the theaters, chop houses frequented by theatrical folk, the casting agencies, tap dancing and acrobatic schools and sundry institutions that gave Broadway its savour.

The opulence of Broadway is now maintained largely by the ornate cinema temples. Nearly all the famous Broadway legitimate theaters have become movieized. The Winter Garden alone maintains the girl and leg show tradition. The old order changeth.

In the old days that strip of Broadway known as the Rialto and stretching from Harold Square to Forty-second street offered a picturesque promenade in the afternoon. All the famous players in town could be seen there at one time or other. A leisurely small town friendliness existed. Shin kicking and elbow jabbing had not become a part of the Broadway fun. Open carriages cruised the curbs to carry you up to Central Park. Gold digging was in its infancy and the winking, over-dressed ladies were generally just "percentage girls," satisfied if you permitted them to pilot you into concert halls to buy a drink.

A punch drunk fighter at the Garden was feebly striking out at his opponent and missing.

"Toss in the sponge!" shouted a galleryite. "He's only hitting from memory."

* * *

There is a theory that only men with saving dare take business risks that may result in their financial salvation. Having anchors to the windward is of course pleasant but not always necessary. At a luncheon the other day were 10 highly successful men who were broke and in debt when they took the plunge into fields in which they thought they were better suited. And all made the grade.

* * *

One of these gentlemen in early days of affluence brought his father to New York from a night watch job in the MiddleWest. As he prospered he tried to give his parent more luxury, but found the old gentleman could not accustom himself to such spending and was eating meals in a cheap cafe. The son took him to one of the best restaurants in town, had a full meal and told him the price was 50 cents. He then made a deal with the head-waiter, and now when his father goes there, no matter what he orders, he is given a check for 50 cents, and he gravely leaves a 10-cent tip.

Many of us would like to be escorted—if I seem to be resisting, don't mind, I walk that way—to the Colony restaurant and have a prankish relative play the same joke on us. I respect the Colony. That's where I paid $21 for a round of imported bird shot known as caviar, without crying out loud until I reached the sidewalk.

The Sale Tax

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

The reports published in California about the amount of money received from the tax on the consumption of gasoline throw light upon the whole question of taxation.

This tax has been paid, as a rule, without protest, and has yielded enormous returns without weighing especially heavy upon any one class of people.

The income tax is often a burden and always a nuisance. Many business concerns must keep a special man employed all the time on their books to prepare returns for the income tax and those returns are apt to be overturned three years after they are sent in and necessitate doing the work all over.

And the amount paid for income tax often seriously injures the prosperity of the business.

A sales tax would be widely spread over the entire population and all classes of people would take part in its payment. This amount would be large simply because it is contributed by many and would not be large because of great sums that were given by a few concerns.

The ideal tax is one which rests upon the whole population and one which is not felt.

The sales tax meets this requirement. It would be collected with uniformly less labor than any other kind of tax, it would rest equally upon everybody, and would work injury to no one in particular.

It is a legitimate method of collecting money and one that has been often used. It is democratic and practical.

It has been endorsed by many of the most gifted minds of the nation and by almost every one who studies the subject without being obsessed by pre-disposing judgements.

A man or a concern should be allowed to make all the money that can be made.

Under modern conditions the only way to achieve success in business is to benefit the whole population. In amassing its fortune the Ford company and the General Motors Company and other companies have spread prosperity to others in increasing their own returns.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

PAUL F. COBB, of Los Angeles, made his wife, Tessie, get out of their car and walk home from a country drive. When she protested he assisted her with a push that landed her smack in the middle of the road.

Then he rode slowly behind her and with the headlights he illuminated her way.

It's the little attentions that make all the difference!

In Belgrade a man is arrested for murder, who for 50 years has been selling insidious poisons to married women who wished to be rid of their husbands.

In this country men sell insidious poisons to men who wish to be rid of their troubles.

The men get rid of their troubles in either instance, but our way is so much nicer, don't you think?

Nelson R. Webb, of Whitesburg, Ky., is celebrating the arrival of his third set of twins. They came on his seventy-sixth birthday. He is the father of 24 children. Funny they thought to mention it was his birthday when almost every day is a birthday in that family. Twenty-three of them a year would make a birthday every 11 days. The family could almost live on its birthday cakes.

A New York woman boasted a string of real pearls worth a small fortune. When she married, the rich donor of the jewels wanted them back. Fearing her husband might know where she got them she gave them back and got some fake pearls to substitute.

A year later, being financially embarrassed, the husband asked that he be allowed to pawn the pearls till he could get a new start.

Next to a wife, none can "dumb up" a situation like a pawnbroker!

"Larceny of Power"

"LARCENY of power" is a new phase coined by President Coolidge in his Memorial Day address. He used it in rebuking Congress for passing laws that are unconstitutional.

It is a striking and effective expression, but it does not carry the meaning usually attributed by the public to congressional passage of bad laws. In many instances such enactments of legislation seem to be no more than "passing the buck."
